Each student in the Engineering Physics, Ph.D. (p. 1187) is assigned an advisory committee who will determine the specific requirements within the guidelines set by the Graduate College and Gallogly College of Engineering.

Courses

EPHY 3440 Mentored Research Experience 3 Credit Hours
0 to 3 hours. Prerequisites: ENGL 1113 or equivalent, and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. For the inquisitive student to apply the scholarly processes of the discipline to a research or creative project under the mentorship of a faculty member. Student and instructor should complete an Undergraduate Research & Creative Projects (URCP) Mentoring Agreement and file it with the URCP office. Not for honors credit. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 3960 Honors Reading 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Consists of topics designated by the instructor in keeping with the student's major program. Cover materials not usually presented in the regular courses. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 3970 Honors Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Projects covered will vary. Deal with concepts not usually presented in regular coursework. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 3980 Honors Research 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Provides an opportunity for the gifted Honors candidate to work on a special project in the student's field. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 3990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and junior standing. May be repeated once with change of content. Independent study may be arranged to study a subject not available through regular course offerings. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY G4232 Laboratory Glassblowing 2 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with CHEM 4232) Prerequisite: permission. Discussion of materials and techniques with demonstrations of procedures. Exercises will be performed in the laboratory with special emphasis upon the different types of seals required in the construction of glass apparatus. One hour of lecture and three hours of laboratory will be scheduled each week. Laboratory (F, Sp)

EPHY 4281 Engineering Co-Op Program 1 Credit Hour
(Crosslisted with AME, CH E, CEES, C S, ECE, ISE and BME 4281) Prerequisite: Departmental permission and junior standing. May be repeated; maximum credit 6 hours. The Co-Op program provides students an opportunity to enhance their education via career exploration in related professional work experiences. Course assignments help students articulate their experiences by completing journals; mid-term paper; final paper and/or final presentation. Faculty receive an evaluation from the student's Co-Op supervisor who monitors performance. Faculty collaborate with the Co-Op supervisor to ensure student success. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 4960 Directed Readings 1-4 Credit Hours
1 to 4 hours. Prerequisite: good standing in University; permission of instructor and dean. May be repeated; maximum credit four hours. Designed for upper-division students who need opportunity to study a specific problem in greater depth than formal course content permits. (Irreg.)

EPHY 4970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Senior standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics or seminar course for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. May include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

EPHY 4990 Special Studies 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Physics 2424 or 2524, integral calculus, permission. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit six hours. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 5960 Directed Readings 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of department. May be repeated; maximum credit twelve hours. Directed readings and/or literature reviews under the direction of a faculty member. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 5970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics or seminar course for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. May include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

EPHY 5980 Research for Master's Thesis 2-9 Credit Hours
Variable enrollment, two to nine hours; maximum credit applicable toward degree, four hours. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 5990 Special Problems 1-10 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: permission. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit four hours for the master's degree, or 10 hours for the doctoral degree. (F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 6960 Directed Readings 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Directed readings and/or literature review under the direction of a faculty member. (Irreg.)

EPHY 6970 Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit four hours for the master's degree, or 10 hours for the doctoral degree. Seminar in Engineering Physics. (F, Sp)

EPHY 6980 Research for Doctoral Dissertation 2-16 Credit Hours
(F, Sp, Su)

EPHY 6990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Graduate standing and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Contracted independent study for a topic not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. Independent study may include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

In order to progress in your curriculum in the Gallogly College of Engineering, and as a specific graduation requirement, a grade of C or better is required in each course in the curriculum, including all prerequisite courses.

Two college-level courses in a single foreign language are required; this may be satisfied by successful completion of 2 years in a single foreign language in high school. Students who must take foreign language at the University will have an additional 6-10 hours of coursework.

[1] MATH 1823, MATH 2423, MATH 2433, and MATH 2443 sequence can be substituted for MATH 1914, MATH 2924, and MATH 2934.

[2] With approval of advisor, PHYS 2514, PHYS 2524, and PHYS 1311 and PHYS 1321 may substitute for PHYS 1205, PHYS 1215.

[3] Engineering transfer students may take ENGR 3511 in place of ENGR 1411.

[4] CHEM 1315 can be substituted with CHEM 1335 (Fall only).

[5] To be chosen from the University-Wide General Education Approved Course List. Three of these 12 hours must be upper-division (3000-4000). See list in the Class Schedule.

[6] The 15 hours of engineering electives in an engineering discipline must emphasize engineering design. Electives must be approved by advisor.

[7] A course numbered 3000 or above from engineering, physics or mathematics. Co-op students may substitute 3 hours of Engineering Co-op Program, on approval of advisor. A 2000- level engineering course may be used if prerequisite for engineering design sequence. Must be approved by advisor.

[8] A course numbered 3000 or above from engineering or physics. A 2000-level engineering course may be used if it is a prerequisite of a design sequence and the technical elective is not a 2000-level course. Electives must be approved by Advisor.

Courses designated as Core I, II, III, IV or Capstone are part of the General Education curriculum. Students must complete a minimum of 40 hours of General Education courses, chosen from the approved list.

General Requirements for all Master's Degrees

The master's degree requires the equivalent of at least two semesters of satisfactory graduate work and additional work as may be prescribed for the degree.

All coursework applied to the master's degree must carry graduate credit.

Master's degree programs which require a thesis consist of at least 30 credit hours. All non-thesis master's degree programs require at least 32 credit hours.

Credit transferred from other institutions must meet specific criteria and is subject to certain limitations.

Courses completed through correspondence study may not be applied to the master's degree.

To qualify for a graduate degree, students must achieve an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the degree program coursework and in all resident graduate coursework attempted. A student must also have at least a 3.0 in all coursework (including undergraduate coursework if any).

Additional information for master's degree students may be found in the Graduate College Bulletin.

[1] May be in related fields at G4000 level or above if approved by the advisory committee and graduate liaison.

Note:

The General Examination can only be taken after passing the internal departmental qualifying exams on Quantum Mechanics, Electrodynamics, and Classical & Statistical Mechanics.

General Requirements for Doctoral Degrees

A student should expect to spend at least the equivalent of three full academic years beyond the bachelor's degree to obtain the doctoral degree. During this period the student will take appropriate graduate coursework, successfully complete the general examination, and successfully defend and submit the final dissertation.

All coursework applied to the doctoral degree must carry graduate credit.

The doctoral degree requires at least 90 post-baccalaureate hours, including both formal coursework and hours of research.

The minimum hour requirement for a specific doctoral degree program cannot be waived.

No more than one-half of the credit hours, both OU and overall, excluding Research for Doctoral Dissertation (6980), may be S/U-graded coursework.

The student must be in residence at OU for at least two consecutive 16-week semesters during the pursuit of the doctoral degree while enrolled and engaged in coursework or research activities as prescribed by the major academic unit.

For more detailed regulations and requirements for Doctoral degrees, please consult the Graduate College Bulletin: http://www.ou.edu/gradcollege/forms/bulletin

General Information

Industrial and Systems engineering is vital to providing solutions to complex problems in wide-ranging fields including manufacturing, transportation, technology, healthcare, aerospace, and supply chain management; and our talented faculty and students lead the way in research efforts in these areas and many others. Industrial and Systems engineers improve, integrate, inform and innovate. While most engineers work with products or processes, ISEs work on a broad range of problems involving both people and technology. Companies seek ISEs for their expertise in understanding, evaluating and improving the performance of entire technical and business systems. ISE graduates find employment in more industry sectors than any other type of engineer. Our graduates can be found working in a wide range of jobs and locations, from Wall Street financial firms to Silicon Valley start-ups and fields that include aerospace, manufacturing, energy, healthcare, entertainment, risk management, logistics, defense, and retail/wholesale distribution.

Mission Statement

The mission of the School of Industrial and Systems Engineering is to produce graduates with the capability to make systems productive through optimization and integration of processes, resources, and information.

Programs & Facilities

Research Centers

There are a number of research opportunities for faculty and students at several research centers operated by the school, the college, and the University.

Laboratories

Many of the laboratory facilities used by ISE students are used in association with elective coursework selected by students. Most labs are available by permission 24-hours a day.

Student Organizations

ISE students have the opportunity to participate in a number of student organizations.

Undergraduate

Accreditation

The Bachelor of Science in Industrial & Systems Engineering is accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of ABET. This means that our program meets the quality standards set for the programs in the engineering discipline.

Industrial and Systems Engineering Program Educational Objectives (PEO)

Our Industrial and Systems Engineering undergraduate program is preparing our recent graduates to meet the following objectives:

1. Our alumni will have successful careers strengthened by knowledge of industrial and systems engineering methods and principles.
2. Our alumni will be emerging or established leaders among their peers.
3. Our alumni will be engaged in activities of life-long learning and professional development through willingness to take on challenges and learning opportunities.

Industrial & Systems Engineering Student Learning Outcomes

Through our Industrial and Systems Engineering undergraduate curriculum students will attain the following learning outcomes:

1. An ability to apply knowledge of mathematics, science, and engineering
   - Statistical distributions, data analysis (math)
   - Material selection (physics, chemistry)
   - Behavior of human-machine systems (anatomy, physics, psychology)
2. An ability to design and conduct experiments, as well as to analyze and interpret data
   - formulate hypotheses, make statistical decisions/inferences
   - design appropriate experiment/model/principles
3. An ability to design a system, component, or process to meet desired needs within realistic constraints such as economic, environmental, social, political. ethical, health and safety, manufacturability, and sustainability
   - system modeling (define system inputs/outputs, constraints, boundaries)
   - successful completion of project (Capstone)
4. An ability to function on multidisciplinary teams
   - value other view points, take responsibility, make contribution to team
   - communication with other disciplines
   - broad knowledge of engineering disciplines; have foundation in broad disciplines of engineering
5. An ability to identify, formulate, and solve engineering problems
   - collect and classify appropriate data
   - interpret data to formulate IE problems
   - develop and evaluate solutions given constraints
6. An understanding of professional and ethical responsibility
   - understand the engineering code of ethics, understand academic integrity
   - evaluate problems from ethical perspective
   - understand protection of human research participants
7. An ability to communicate effectively
   - use data to support ideas/solutions
   - prepare effective written and oral technical communication using modern technology
   - prepare for and participate in career fair
8. The broad education necessary to understand the impact of engineering solutions in a global, economic, environmental, and societal context
   - evaluate the economic merit of project
   - understand industrial engineering practice in a modern global workplace
9. A recognition of the need for, and an ability to engage in life-long learning
   - complete literature review
   - engage in research
10. A knowledge of contemporary issues
    - demonstrate awareness of relevant current events
    - understand multiple topics for capstone projects (peer assessment)
    - participate in extra-curricular learning activities (IIE)
11. An ability to use the techniques, skills, and modern engineering tools necessary for engineering practice
    - Successful completion of course project

Bachelor of Science

The Bachelor of Science in Industrial and Systems Engineering undergraduate curriculum is designed to provide students with an outstanding professional educational experience that is practical, modern, and progressive. The undergraduate program has been accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission ABET www.abet.org since 1966. A number of undergraduate options allow students to focus on a number of elective paths.

- Industrial and Systems Engineering (p. 1193)
- Analytics (p. 1194)
- Pre-Medicine (p. 1195)

Accelerated Programs

Programs leading to Master of Science degrees in Industrial and Systems Engineering or Master of Business Administration degrees also are available to outstanding undergraduate students. The Bachelor of Science portion of the program is accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of ABET.

- Industrial and Systems Engineering, B.S./M.S. (p. 1196)
- Industrial and Systems Engineering: Analytics, B.S./M.S. (p. 1197)
- Industrial and Systems Engineering: Analytics, B.S./Data Science and Analytics, M.S. (p. 1199)
- Industrial and Systems Engineering, B.S./Master of Business Administration (p. 1201)

Graduate

Graduate programs offer students a number of paths to pursue in their graduate program, focusing on theory, methodology, and application in the classroom as well as in their research.

- Industrial and Systems Engineering, Master of Science (p. 1203)
- Industrial and Systems Engineering, Ph.D. (p. 1204)

Courses

ISE 2303 Design and Manufacturing Process 3 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with AME 2303) Prerequisite: AME 2113 or CEES 2113 or ENGR 2113. Mechanical and physical properties of engineering materials. Introduction to design concepts, manufacturing processes and equipment used in engineering. (Sp)

ISE 2311 Computer Aided Design and Graphics Laboratory for Industrial Engineers 1 Credit Hour
Corequisite: 2303. Provides students with a basic understanding of technical graphics communication and computer-aided design for industrial engineering applications. By using computer-aided design/drafting software, SolidWorks/autoCAD, students will learn basic principles of engineering graphics and geometric modeling to assist in design problem visualization and planning. (Sp)

ISE 2823 Enterprise Engineering 3 Credit Hours
Introduction to the industrial engineering role as enterprise system integrator. Systems concepts, modeling and analysis; integrated product/service and operational process design; productivity and quality improvement; computer technology insertion; project, operations, and global supply chain management. (F)

ISE 2960 Directed Reading 1-3 Credit Hours
Directed Reading. 1 To 3 Hours. Prerequisite: Engineering 1112; Permission Of The Department; Special Permission Card Required. May Be Repeated; Maximum Credit Three Hours. Individual Project Studies For University College Students In Industrial Engineering. (F)

ISE 3293 Applied Engineering Statistics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: MATH 2433 or MATH 2924. Introduction to probability, one and higher dimensional random variates, function of random variables, expectation, discrete and continuous distributions, sampling and descriptive statistics, parameter estimation, use of statistical packages. (F, Sp)

ISE 3304 Design and Manufacturing II 4 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2303, 2311, Civil Engineering and Environmental Science 2153 (or concurrent enrollment) Or Aerospace and Mechanical Engineering 3143 (or concurrent enrollment). Dimensioning and tolerancing; tolerances-type, design and specification; assembly and fit design; tolerance standards, process planning-precedence representation in machining, operation and machine sequencing; jigs and fixtures-design and analysis; time and cost estimation for machining; automation; process/system integration. Laboratory (F)

ISE 3440 Mentored Research Experience 3 Credit Hours
0 to 3 hours. Prerequisites: ENGL 1113 or equivalent, and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. For the inquisitive student to apply the scholarly processes of the discipline to a research or creative project under the mentorship of a faculty member. Student and instructor should complete an Undergraduate Research & Creative Projects (URCP) Mentoring Agreement and file it with the URCP office. Not for honors credit. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE 3960 Honors Reading (HONORS) 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 Hours. Prerequisite: Admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Consists of topics designated by the instructor in keeping with the Student's major program. Covers materials not usually presented in the regular courses. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE 3970 Honors Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Projects covered will vary. Deals with concepts not usually presented in regular coursework. (Irreg.)

ISE 3980 Honors Research (HONORS) 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Will provide an opportunity for the gifted Honors candidate to work at a special project in the student's field. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE 3990 Special Topics 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Directed study for undergraduates. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE 4113 Spreadsheet Dec Support Sys 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: I E/ISE 4623 or concurrent enrollment, and CS 1313 or CS 1321 or CS 1323 or CS 1324, or permission of instructor. Covers all aspects of spreadsheet-based software functionality that are relevant to decision-making. Microsoft Excel is used as the subject tool. Students will learn advanced functions of Excel that are available through the spreadsheet interface, the Visual Basic language and its integration with the spreadsheet environment, principles of decision-support systems studied in a variety of applications, including facility layout, and warehousing. (F)

ISE G4223 Fundamentals of Engineering Economy 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: MATH 2423 or 2924 or permission of the department. Development and use of time value of money interest formulas. Inflation considerations and bond problems. Bases for comparison of alternatives, present worth, annual worth, rate of return and savings-investment ratio methods. Decision-making among independent, dependent, capital-constrained and un-equal lived projects. Depreciation methods and their effect on corporate income taxes, leading to after-tax cash flow analysis. Benefit-cost and cost effectiveness analysis. (Sp)

ISE 4281 Engineering Co-Op Program 1 Credit Hour
(Crosslisted with AME, CH E, CEES, C S, EPHY, ECE and BME 4281) Prerequisite: Departmental permission and junior standing. May be repeated; maximum credit 6 hours. The Co-Op program provides students an opportunity to enhance their education via career exploration in related professional work experiences. Course assignments help students articulate their experiences by completing journals; mid-term paper; final paper and/or final presentation. Faculty receive an evaluation from the student's Co-Op supervisor who monitors performance. Faculty collaborate with the Co-Op supervisor to ensure student success. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE G4333 Production Systems/Operations 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ISE 2823 and ISE 4623, or permission of instructor. Operations-oriented topics for production systems. Supply chain process (tactical planning, operational scheduling and sequencing, management and planning, and demand promising). Customer service process; E-Business and information technology applications for production systems. (F)

ISE 4383 Systems Evaluation 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with ISE 5383) Prerequisite: ISE 4223, ISE 4563, ISE 4633, ISE 4804. Focuses on the development and evaluation of alternate system and process designs. Development of system goals, requirements, and performance measures; ranking of alternatives and decision analysis techniques. Review and development of trade studies. Applications in facility layout, maintenance, supply chain, and other contexts. No student may earn credit for both 4383 and 5383. (F)

ISE 4393 Capstone Design Project 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ISE 4333, ISE 4383, ISE 4663, and ISE 4853. Restricted to graduating industrial & systems engineering students; to be taken in the last semester. Current problems drawn from production and service organizations will be presented by personnel from these organizations. Students will solve these problems under the guidance of their instructor, using industrial engineering methodology. (F, Sp) [V].

ISE 4553 Data-Driven Decision Making I 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with ISE 5553) Prerequisite: ISE 3293. Fundamentals of statistical models for describing engineering systems and processes. Analysis of variance, multiple regression, logistic regression, time series, clustering. Emphasis is placed on decision making. No student may earn credit for both 4553 And 5553. (F)

ISE 4563 Quality & Reliability Engineering 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with ISE 5563) Prerequisite: ISE 3293 and ISE 4553. The use of statistical methods for quality control and improvement in product and process environments, as well as introductory applied probability for component and system reliability. Topics include philosophies of quality management, control chart theory and application, process capability, and performance metrics of reliability. Focus is given to decision making in engineering systems. No student may earn credit for both 4563 and 5563. (Sp)

ISE 4623 Deterministic Systems Models 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: I E/ISE 2823. Problem solving using analytical models: theory, methodology, and application. Topics include linear programming, simplex algorithm and sensitivity analysis, integer programming, and dynamic programming. Practical applications in transportation networks, project management and scheduling, deterministic inventory models, decision making, and systems integration. Solution methods using computer software. (F)

ISE 4633 Probabilistic Systems Models 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: I E 3293 or ISE 3293 AND I E 4623 or ISE 4623. Problem solving using stochastic models: theory, methodology, and application. Topics include probability distributions, Poisson processes, Markov chains and Markov decision processes, queuing theory, and Monte Carlo simulation. Practical applications in probabilistic inventory models, maintenance activities, decision making, and systems integration. Solution methods using computer software. (Sp)

ISE 4663 Systems Analysis Using Simulation 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with ISE 5663) Prerequisite: ISE 3293 or ISE 5013 or DSA 5013. Implements the science of systems analysis through the use of simulation modeling and statistical analysis; inclusive of time study analysis for performing input modeling tasks. Laboratory. No student may earn credit for both 4663 and 5663. (F)

ISE G4804 Ergonomics in Systems Design 4 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: junior standing or permission of instructor. Human-systems integration, considering the impacts of the physical structure, the information flow, and the environmental conditions on human performance. Students learn how to design, evaluate and improve systems from the perspective of the human(s) working in and impacted by the system. (Sp)

ISE 4853 Data-Driven Decision Making II 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with 5853) Prerequisite: 4553 and 4804. Experimental methodology for empirical decision making. Includes the development of empirical hypotheses, designs, performance criteria, and analyses. Techniques for empirical reporting. The measurement of human performance is typically the vehicle used for students in this course. No student may earn credit for both 4853 and 5853. (F)

ISE 4960 Directed Readings 1-4 Credit Hours
1 to 4 hours. Prerequisite: good standing in University; permission of instructor and dean. May be repeated; maximum credit four hours. Designed for upper-division students who need opportunity to study a specific problem in greater depth than formal course content permits. (Irreg.)

ISE 4970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit twelve hours. Special topics in the various fields of industrial engineering -- data analysis, engineering financial analysis, human factors, manufacturing, operations research, production, simulation, sustainability, systems. (Irreg.)

ISE 4990 Special Studies 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: senior standing. May be repeated once; maximum credit six hours. Directed study for undergraduates. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE 5013 Fundamentals of Engineering Statistical Analysis 3 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with DSA 5013) Prerequisite: graduate standing. Introduction to probability, expectation, discrete and continuous distributions, sampling and descriptive statistics, parameter estimation, and statistical tests to aid decision making. The student will learn analysis techniques for verification of systems parameters. (F, Sp)

ISE 5023 Systems Optimization 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing. Introduction to basic systems models and their solution with modern computer packages. Emphasis on modeling, computer solution, and sensitivity analysis with limited reference to model theory and development of algorithmic methods. (F)

ISE 5033 Systems Engineering 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing. The complexities of systems, design, sustainment, and modernization in the context of systems engineering. (Irreg.)

ISE 5103 Intelligent Data Analytics 3 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with DSA 5103) Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor; ISE 3293 or ISE 5013; CS 1313 or CS 1323. In our society, data is rapidly increasing in volume, velocity, and variety. At the same time computing power and the sophistication of data analysis techniques are increasing. However, even with the expanding capabilities, businesses and organizations often find themselves "data rich, but information poor." Intelligent Data Analysis is a holistic approach to addressing real-world data intensive problems that integrates human intuition with data analysis tools to best draw out meaningful insights. To this end, the course has four underlying themes: defining the Problem, understanding and coping with Data, selecting and using appropriate Analytical Tools, and discovering and communicating the Insight. Techniques covered include data cleansing and pre-processing, exploratory analysis and visualization, dimension reduction, linear and logistic regression, decision trees, and clustering. This course will introduce students to a powerful open source statistical programming language (R) and include extensive hands-on data analysis and team projects. (F)

ISE 5113 Advanced Analytics and Metaheuristics 3 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with DSA 5113) Prerequisite: ISE 5013, graduate standing or permission of Instructor. Explores advanced techniques for addressing complex optimization problems. Focus is on formulating mathematical models and developing problem solving strategies using methods in the context of Data Science and Analytics. Topics include continuous and combinatorial optimization with an emphasis on both traditional and modern heuristic techniques. (Sp)

ISE 5123 Software Tools-Dec Support 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Computer Science 1313 or 1323, or permission of instructor. Covers an integrated set of software tools that is used in development of a wide variety of decision models and support systems. Students will learn Python programming language and several of its major libraries. Applications will be developed in data extraction and processing, and development of statistical, simulation, and optimization models. (Irreg.)

ISE 5133 Energy Analytics 3 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with DSA 5133) Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. In today's data-driven world, the ability to extract knowledge and create successful future energy projections is critical for the energy sectors. In this regard, data science body of knowledge promises a strong set of analytical tools that can be used for demand/supply forecasting and price prediction. This course aims at teaching the students the fundamentals of data analysis and interpretation. (F)

ISE 5373 Intro to Additive Manufacturing 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. Students will be exposed to Additive Manufacturing (AM, also 3D Printing, Rapid Prototyping, and Direct Digital Manufacturing) in a holistic but highly technical manner. Topics include an overview of relevant AM technologies and their importance in many branches of industry (i.e., medical, aerospace, automotive, etc.), as well as the field's origins, growth, and future directions. (Sp)

ISE 5383 Systems Evaluation 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with ISE 4383) Prerequisite: permission of department. Focuses on the development and evaluation of alternate system and process designs. Development of system goals, requirements, and performance measures; ranking of alternatives and decision analysis techniques. Review and development of trade studies. Applications in facility layout, maintenance, supply chain, and other contexts. (F) No student may earn credit for both 4383 and 5383.

ISE 5553 Data-Driven Decision Making I 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with ISE 4553) Prerequisite: ISE 3293 or ISE 5013. Fundamentals of statistical models for describing engineering systems and processes. Analysis of variance, multiple regression, logistic regression, time series, clustering. Emphasis is placed on decision making. No student may earn credit for both 4553 and 5553. (F)

ISE 5563 Quality & Reliability Engineering 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with ISE 4563) Prerequisite: ISE 3293 or ISE 5013 and ISE 4553 or ISE 5553. The use of statistical methods for quality control and improvement in product and process environments, as well as introductory applied probability for component and system reliability. Topics include philosophies of quality management, control chart theory and application, process capability, and performance metrics of reliability. Focus is given to decision making in engineering systems. No student may earn credit for both 4563 and 5563. (Sp)

ISE 5573 Stat Analysis-Simulatn Models 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 4663, and Engineering 3293; or permission. Probabilistic and statistical aspects in the design and analysis of stochastic simulations: random number generation, random variate generation, input modeling, output analysis (including time series models and spectral analysis), ranking and selection and variance reduction techniques. Laboratory (Irreg.)

ISE 5613 Multicriteria Optimization 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 4623. Survey of developments and applications of theory and methods pertinent to decision making under conflicting criteria. Goal programming and interactive methods for multicriteria mathematical programming will be emphasized with applications. (Irreg.)

ISE 5633 Supply Chain Mgt & Transport 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing or by permission. Introduces transportation and supply chain concepts along with the important issues in supply chain system design and operation. Students learn how to formulate and analyze systems models for supply chain systems using information technology skills and decision support systems. (Irreg.)

ISE 5643 Engineering Optimization 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 4623 or permission. Basic computational tools for solving nonlinear unconstrained and constrained optimization problems arising in engineering practice. Emphasis is on models and methods applicable to problems in engineering design, process operations, control, production planning, manufacturing and management. (Irreg.)

ISE 5663 Systems Analysis Using Simulation 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with ISE 4663) Prerequisite: Graduate standing, and ISE 3293 or ISE 5013 or DSA 5013. Implements the science of systems analysis through the use of simulation modeling and statistical analysis, including time study analysis for performing input modeling tasks. No student may earn credit for both 4663 and 5663. (F)

ISE 5713 Engineering Project Management 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ISE 3293 or ISE 5013 or permission of instructor. Review of the various technical and managerial aspects of project management. Introduction to extensions of CPM and PERT. Specific topics include network development and analysis, precedence constraints, resource allocation, time-cost trade-off, heuristics, criticality index, computer applications, design and analysis of engineering projects, and optimization techniques for project scheduling. (Irreg.)

ISE 5743 Mgt of Engineering Function 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2823 or graduate standing. Explores major concepts of engineering management and how to apply these concepts in managing the engineering function in an enterprise. Intensive analysis of the specialized problems of engineering organizations which include technical human power. Procedures and design for the control of engineering projects. Specific examples and cases of management problems and experiences are used. A research project is required that involves at least one of the functions of engineering management. (Irreg.)

ISE 5753 Organization Systems 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission. The organization is examined as a complex of subsystems to accomplish production or service objectives. Individuals as members of the subsystems are examined as human factor elements in contributing to the analysis of effectiveness and efficiency of systems. Organizations are viewed from a macro standpoint with emphasis on engineering organizations. Current trends and cases are reviewed with case presentations required. A research project evaluating and organization is required from an engineering management viewpoint. (Irreg.)

ISE 5813 Advanced Human Factors and Ergonomics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ISE 4804 and graduate standing. Analysis, design, and evaluation of human behaviors and decision-making processes in simple and complex systems. Integration of human factors, human computer interaction, and systems engineering. (Sp)

ISE 5823 Exercise Physiology 3 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with HES 5823) Prerequisite: 4824; Zoology 3104 or 3133; Physiology 5016 or 5019; or permission. Advanced study of physiological responses, regulatory mechanisms and adaptations of human performance and health; factors affecting performance and health; and training and evaluative techniques. (F)

ISE 5853 Data-Driven Decision Making II 3 Credit Hours
(Slashlisted with 4853) Prerequisite: 4553 and 4804. Experimental methodology for empirical investigation. Includes the development and measurement of empirical hypotheses, designs, performance criteria, and analyses. Techniques for empirical reporting. The measurement of human performance is typically the vehicle used for students in this course. No student may earn credit for both 4853 and 5853. (F)

ISE 5960 Directed Readings 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of department. May be repeated; maximum credit twelve hours. Directed readings and/or literature reviews under the direction of a faculty member. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE 5970 Seminar-Industrial Engineering 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit 12 hours. Special topics in the various fields of industrial engineering, engineering, economy, operations research, ergonomics, production, manufacturing, simulation, engineering statistics and computer systems. (Irreg.)

ISE 5980 Research for Master's Thesis 2-9 Credit Hours
Variable enrollment, two to nine hours; maximum credit applicable toward degree, six hours. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE 5990 Special Studies 1-4 Credit Hours
1 to 4 hours. Prerequisite: senior standing, permission. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. (F, Sp, Su)

ISE 6623 Nonlinear Programming 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 5623. Theory and computational aspects of nonlinear optimization problems. Topics include: applications and problem formulation, convexity, Kuhn-Tucker conditions, duality, quadratic programming, unconstrained optimization techniques, direct search method, penalty function, optimization methods, feasible direction methods, separable programming, geometric programming. (Irreg.)

ISE 6960 Directed Readings 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Directed readings and/or literature review under the direction of a faculty member. (Irreg.)

ISE 6970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. Special topics or seminar course for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. May include library and/or research and field projects. (Irreg.)

ISE 6980 Research Doctoral Dissertation 2-16 Credit Hours
(F, Sp, Su)

ISE 6990 Special Studies 1-9 Credit Hours
1 to 9 hours. Prerequisite: Graduate standing. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit 9 hours. Special problems in the various fields of industrial and systems engineering. Special studies in data analytics, systems modeling and design, computational optimization, logistics and supply chain management, human-system integration, engineering education, advanced manufacturing, or biomedical manufacturing. In addition, students may need information relating to problem-specific disciplines such as weather, energy, sustainability, and psychology. (F, Sp, Su)

[1] CHEM 1315 and CHEM 1415 can be substituted with CHEM 1335 (Fall only) and CHEM 1435 (Spring only), respectively.

[2] MATH 1823, MATH 2423, MATH 2433, and MATH 2443 sequence can be substituted for MATH 1914, MATH 2924, and MATH 2934.

[3] Engineering transfer students may take ENGR 3511 in place of ENGR 1411.

[4] To be chosen from the approved list of biology electives consisting of BIOL 3113, BIOL 3333, or BIOL 4843.

[5] To be chosen from the University-Wide General Education Approved Course List. Three of these 12 hours must be upper-division (3000-4000). See list in the Class Schedule.

Courses designated as Core I, II, III, IV, or Capstone are part of the General Education curriculum. Students must complete a minimum of 40 hours of General Education courses, chosen from the approved list.

Admission requirements vary with medical schools. Students should consult with advisors in the Pre-Medical Professions Advising Office each semester (Cate 1, Room 416, or call 405-325-2457) as well as the Williams Student Services Center to ensure completion of the necessary prerequisite courses. This may include additional coursework not required for this specific undergraduate degree program in Industrial and Systems Engineering. Note: Most medical schools require PHYS 1311 and PHYS 1321.

B.S. Portion of the Program Accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of ABET, http://www.abet.org
In order to progress in your curriculum in the Gallogly College of Engineering, and as a specific graduation requirement, a grade of C or better is required in each course in the curriculum, including all prerequisite courses.

Two college-level courses in a single foreign language are required; this may be satisfied by successful completion of 2 years in a single foreign language in high school. Students who must take foreign language at the University will have an additional 6-10 hours of coursework.

Admission to the accelerated program is by application and requires a minimum OU GPA and combined GPA of 3.25. Students may enter the accelerated program based on the undergraduate degree pattern offered in the year they first enrolled in the Oklahoma State System of Higher Education or later.

Students are eligible for graduate status upon graduation with the Bachelor of Science in Industrial Engineering.

Students must take the GMAT and apply for the MBA program during the third year; minimum OU GPA and combined GPA of 3.0 is required. Students should submit an application to the School of Industrial and Systems Engineering for the accelerated program during the fall semester of the junior year. Students may enter the accelerated program based on the undergraduate degree pattern offered in the year they first enrolled in the Oklahoma State System of Higher Education or later. Students must maintain a 3.0 GPA from the time of entering the accelerated program until graduation.

[2] MATH 1823, MATH 2423, MATH 2433, and MATH 2443 sequence can be substituted for MATH 1914, MATH 2924, and MATH 2934.

[3] Engineering transfer students may take ENGR 3511 in place of ENGR 1411.

[4] To be chosen from the University-Wide General Education Approved Course List. Three of these 12 hours must be upper-division (3000-4000). See list in the Class Schedule.

[5] These courses are dual-counted, fulfilling requirements for both the undergraduate degree and the graduate business degree.

[6] A student who actively and satisfactorily participates in all Prelude activities will receive a grade of 'S' for B AD 5010. A student who does not satisfactorily participate in 75% of Prelude Week will be required to participate in a make-up session within the first two weeks of the semester. Failure to complete a make-up session will result in a grade of 'U' for B AD 5010, resulting in cancellation of the student's enrollment in the MBA program.

[7] MBA Custom Core: two courses chosen from ACCT 5212, B AD 5182, FIN 5112, ENT 5102.

[8]To be chosen from an approved list of MBA electives available in the ISE office, CEC 116.

Two college-level courses in a single foreign language are required; this may be satisfied by successful completion of 2 years in a single foreign language in high school. Students who must take foreign language at the University will have an additional 6-10 hours of coursework.

Courses designated as Core I, II, III, IV or Capstone are part of the General Education curriculum. Students must complete a minimum of 40 hours of General Education courses, chosen from the approved list.

General Requirements for all Master's Degrees

The master's degree requires the equivalent of at least two semesters of satisfactory graduate work and additional work as may be prescribed for the degree.

All coursework applied to the master's degree must carry graduate credit.

Master's degree programs which require a thesis consist of at least 30 credit hours. All non-thesis master's degree programs require at least 32 credit hours.

Credit transferred from other institutions must meet specific criteria and is subject to certain limitations.

Courses completed through correspondence study may not be applied to the master's degree.

To qualify for a graduate degree, students must achieve an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the degree program coursework and in all resident graduate coursework attempted. A student must also have at least a 3.0 in all coursework (including undergraduate coursework if any).

Additional information for master's degree students may be found in the Graduate College Bulletin.

Notes:

At least 12 credit hours of coursework must be taken in Industrial and Systems Engineering at the 5000-level or above.

At least 3 credit hours must be 6000-level courses in Industrial and Systems Engineering. This can include ISE 6990 Special Studies when approved by the Advisory Conference Committee.

Students with an MS thesis from a recognized industrial engineering program may petition the Graduate Committee to apply up to 30 hours from the MS degree and waive the core course requirements. If a student is approved to waive core course requirements, these courses must be replaced by other courses not including independent study.

General Requirements for Doctoral Degrees

A student should expect to spend at least the equivalent of three full academic years beyond the bachelor's degree to obtain the doctoral degree. During this period the student will take appropriate graduate coursework, successfully complete the general examination, and successfully defend and submit the final dissertation.

All coursework applied to the doctoral degree must carry graduate credit.

The doctoral degree requires at least 90 post-baccalaureate hours, including both formal coursework and hours of research.

The minimum hour requirement for a specific doctoral degree program cannot be waived.

No more than one-half of the credit hours, both OU and overall, excluding Research for Doctoral Dissertation (6980), may be S/U-graded coursework.

The student must be in residence at OU for at least two consecutive 16-week semesters during the pursuit of the doctoral degree while enrolled and engaged in coursework or research activities as prescribed by the major academic unit.

General Information

The graduate program in Telecommunications Engineering at the University of Oklahoma Tulsa campus is part of the School of Electrical and Computer Engineering within OU's College of Engineering. Designed with students in mind, the goal is providing the professional and research skills necessary to successfully advance a student's engineering career. OU-TCOM has an excellent program especially for those looking out for research in the field of telecommunication. The program is structured such that it covers the core aspects of telecommunication from Wireless communications, Optical system and networks to Network Design and Management. Advanced course work like Computer and Communication Security includes recent technological advances in the field of quantum cryptography. In addition to the course work, there are four fully equipped Labs available for students for practical implementation of their knowledge.

Programs & Facilities

Telecommunications Labs

The OU-Tulsa Telecom Program has world class research labs dedicated to the areas of photonics, quantum optics, wireless networking, electromagnetic compatibility and interoperability. TCOM researchers have had extremely productive collaborations with colleagues in Norman, in the OU-Tulsa College of Medicine and at the University of Tulsa in fiber optics, medical devices and network security. Students learn and use the technique in the interoperability verification in a hands-on training envirnment. The interoperability lab encompasses five domains of telecommunication: PSTN/Legacy, wireless, optical/photonics, IP and ATM.

Graduate

Master of Science

The Telecommunications Engineering Master of Science offers an excellent experience in learning and conducting research in all aspects of telecommunications sciences. The current areas of research focus are: optical sciences including optical networking, wireless networking, information theory, and cryptography, including quantum cryptography.

- Telecommunications Engineering: Non-thesis (p. 1206)
- Telecommunications Engineering: Thesis (p. 1206)

Courses

TCOM 3440 Mentored Research Experience 3 Credit Hours
0 to 3 hours. Prerequisites: ENGL 1113 or equivalent, and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. For the inquisitive student to apply the scholarly processes of the discipline to a research or creative project under the mentorship of a faculty member. Student and instructor should complete an Undergraduate Research & Creative Projects (URCP) Mentoring Agreement and file it with the URCP office. Not for honors credit. (F, Sp, Su)

TCOM 5123 Wireless Communications (Crosslisted with ECE 5123). 3 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with ECE 5123) Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 3793 or permission. Wireless communications principles, multiple access techniques, wireless networking, and systems and standards. (F)

TCOM 5153 Emerging Topics in LTE-Advanced and 5G 3 Credit Hours
(Crosslisted with ECE 5153) Prerequisite: graduate standing. This course will train students to master the latest developments in the rapidly evolving landscape in wireless cellular networks, thereby preparing them for working on emerging as well as near future wireless technologies. Focuses on selected topics for research and development of LTE-A and 5G cellular networks. These topics include: PHY and MAC layer techniques suitable LTE-A & 5G; network densification techniques such as HetNets and C-RAN; Self Organizing Networks (SON); and Big Data Empowered SON. (Sp)

TCOM 5183 Quantum Information Theory 3 Credit Hours

TCOM 5272 Telecommunications Laboratory 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 5533. Core course designed to enhance the understanding of concepts and principles discussed in the computer networking text through a variety of networking exercises. Also emphasizes network performance, simulation, and internet protocols. Includes approximately eight lab modules, with a short report required for each module. (Su)

TCOM 5533 Telecommunications Industry Overview 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 3793. Studies the development of telecommunications technology, industry, and policy in the United States, stressing inter-relationships among industry, government bodies and policies, and users. Provides a broad view of telecommunications and of the direction of the industry. (F)

TCOM 5543 Telecom Network Design and Management 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 3793. Introduction to basic issues in the design and management of telecommunications networks; concepts will include those pertinent to Telecommunications Engineering and Electrical and Computer Engineering, such as wide area network design principles that cater to Erlangian Traffic. (Sp)

TCOM 5553 Telecommunications Technology 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 3793. The ways and means by which voice, data and video traffic are moved long distances. Topics include data networks, telephone systems, video, and optical systems. (F)

TCOM 5563 Computer and Communications Security 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 3793. Introduction to security problems in computing and communications, basic encryption and decryption techniques, secure encryption systems, cryptographic protocols and practices, security in networks and distributed systems, legal and ethical issues in computer security. (Sp)

TCOM 5583 Information Theory 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Electrical and Computer Engineering 4523 or equivalent. Introductory course in information theory. Topics include: asymptotic equipartition property, entropy, Fano's inequality, Huffman coding, lossy source coding theory, and channel coding theory. (F)

TCOM 5671 Professional Project Proposal Development 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: admission to the TCOM program. May be repeated; maximum credit two hours. Supervised individual study to develop a comprehensive project, which will conclude TCOM studies. The proposal should demonstrate the student's comprehensive grasp of his/her field of study. (F, Sp, Su)

TCOM 5682 Professional Project 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 5671. May be repeated; maximum credit four hours. A comprehensive project that is jointly selected by the project supervisor and the student. The program is to be completed during the final semester. (F, Sp, Su)

TCOM 5960 Readings in Telecommunications 1-3 Credit Hours

TCOM 5970 Topics in Telecommunications 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit nine hours. Covers material from specialized topics in the area of telecommunication and information technology. (Irreg.)

TCOM 5980 Research for Master's Thesis 2-9 Credit Hours
Variable enrollment, two to nine hours; credit required for the degree, six hours. (F, Sp, Su)

TCOM 5990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Graduate standing and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Contracted independent study for a topic not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. Independent study may include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

General Information

The College of Fine Arts includes the Schools of Dance, Music, the Peggy Dow Helmerich School of Drama, the A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre, and the OU School of Visual Arts. Each unit offers degree programs at the undergraduate level. In addition, the schools of Dance, Drama, Music and Visual Arts offer graduate degree programs.

History/Mission

The Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts, originally organized as the School of Fine Arts in 1903, was the fourth college to be founded at The University of Oklahoma. Today, the college includes the Schools of Dance, Music, the Peggy Dow Helmerich School of Drama, the A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre, and the OU School of Visual Arts, and is the largest and most comprehensive fine arts program in the state of Oklahoma. The program has an annual enrollment in excess of 1,000 fine arts majors and a full-time faculty of more than 100 nationally and internationally recognized educators, artists, performers, scholars, and technicians. More than 400 performances and exhibitions are presented within the college each year.

The Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts, an integral part of the University of Oklahoma, recognizes the universal language of the arts and its crucial role in creating and sustaining a vibrant, culturally diverse environment. The College is committed to a standard of excellence in the fine arts encompassing the University's mandate for teaching, research/creative activity, and service. The faculty, staff, and students are dedicated to the promotion of the arts within the state of Oklahoma, the nation, and the international community.

Programs Offered

Upon satisfactory completion of the prescribed studies, the candidate will be recommended for the degree of

Minors

Any student wishing to declare a minor should do so in the Fine Arts Dean's Office, 122 Fred Jones Center. Requirements for a minor must be completed prior to graduation.

Students must audition and be accepted as a Music Minor before it may be declared. Acceptance in any given studio area is on a space available basis.

Degrees With Distinction

For a student to be recommended for a degree with distinction, the student must have completed a minimum of 60 hours in residence at OU, have a combined cumulative GPA of 3.50 and a 3.50 grade average in all OU coursework.

The degree with special distinction, will be conferred on students who have completed a minimum of 60 hours in residence, and have a combined cumulative GPA of 3.50 and a 3.90 grade average in all OU coursework. The final semester will be included in the GPA that determines the distinction degree. No student will be granted a degree with distinction or with special distinction who has been subjected to disciplinary action.

Honors Degrees

All of the bachelor's degree programs offered by the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts are available to qualified students as honors degree programs. Students may be graduated with honors (cum Laude, Magna cum Laude, Summa cum Laude) if they successfully complete all requirements of the Honors College in addition to their regular degree program requirements. Please refer to the Honors College section of this catalog for specific information concerning admission and completion of honors degrees.

Concurrent/Second Degrees

Students may work toward the completion of more than one degree.

If a student has graduated and is coming back for a second degree:

- A student who has a bachelor's degree from OU or another accredited institution satisfies all general education requirements, except possibly P SC 1113 and HIST 1483 or HIST 1493. The Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education policy requires that all students graduating with a bachelor's degree from an Oklahoma state institution must complete U.S. Government (P SC 1113) and U.S. History (HIST 1483 or HIST 1493).
- The student must choose a degree different from that of the prior degree(s).
- The Student must have at least 30 credit hours in residence at OU and in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts.
- The student must meet all university and college residency requirements.
- The student must complete all of the published requirements for the second degree, including a capstone.
- They must complete a minimum of 30 hours for the second degree after graduating with the first degree. The 30 hours must be in addition to the total number of hours completed by the student for the first degree.
- At least 15 hours of the 30 must be completed at the 3000-4000 level.
- The student must complete an Application for Graduation.
- The student will receive a diploma for the second degree and have it noted on the transcript.

If a student is pursuing concurrent degrees:

- The student must complete a concurrent enrollment form to declare a dual degree.
- The student must choose a degree different from that of the prior degree(s).
- The student must complete all of the published requirements for both degrees.
- The student must complete a capstone course for each degree.
- They must have at least 30 credit hours in residence at OU and in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts.
- The student must complete at least 30 hours for the second degree that are not used for the first degree. Counselors in each college will verify what is counting toward each degree.
- At least 15 hours of the 30 must be completed at the 3000-4000 level.
- The student must complete a minimum of 150 hours – 55 hours (40+15) of upper-division course work between the two degrees (64 hours [40+24] if one of the degrees is in the College of Arts and Sciences.

- The student must be cleared for graduation for both degrees in the same semester.
- The student must file an Application for Graduation for both degrees. The student will receive two diplomas.
- Once a student has been cleared with an undergraduate degree, the rules for a second degree go into effect, even though the student never actually left the university.

Double Major Policy

In the School of Music, students may work toward the completion of more than one major. All requirements for each major must be completed including a second capstone. If there are fewer than 30 additional hours, the student will be awarded one diploma for the first major listed, but the transcript will indicate both majors. Residency requirements must also be fulfilled.

Double majors will not be granted in the OU Schools of Visual Arts, Dance, Drama and Musical Theatre.

Special Facilities

Facilities at the OU School of Visual Arts include classrooms, large well-equipped instructional studios, darkrooms, a technology-based fabrication lab, installation spaces, video and film editing rooms, digital photography labs, and the Lightwell Gallery exhibition space. Separate from the Fred Jones Jr. Art Center, a 5,000 sq. ft. ceramics facility is located on the university's south campus near the Lloyd Noble Arena and features state-of-the-art equipment and kilns to handle all types of ceramic production. A 12,000 sq. ft. graduate studio facility is located northwest of campus. Media and library resources include a slide/media library containing over 150,000 slides; University of Oklahoma Bizzell Library, is the largest research library in the state of Oklahoma containing almost 4 million volumes; and the Fine Arts Library houses books and periodicals on art, art history and design as well as on music, dance, drama and musical theatre. The Charles M. Russell Center for the Study of Art of the American West provides an extensive library on western art and a unique opportunity to study with authorities in the field.

The Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art, adjacent to the OU School of Visual Arts, is one of the finest university art museums in America. The museum sponsors speakers and numerous exhibitions, including the annual OU School of Visual Arts Students' Exhibition. The Mary and Howard Lester wing of the museum permanently houses the "Weitzenhoffer Collection of French Impressionism." The wing also includes galleries for other selections from the Museum's permanent collection, an auditorium, an orientation room and classrooms.

The Donald W. Reynolds Performing Arts Center, formerly known as Holmberg Hall, includes a 700-seat performance hall featuring a domed ceiling, modern acoustical features and a stage tower. An 18,000-square-foot facility on the west side of Holmberg Hall for the School of Dance includes state-of-the-art studios, media center, offices, a gallery/reception area, and body conditioning studio.

The Fine Arts Center provides the perfect setting for collaborative efforts in production and theatrical training. In addition to the 600-seat Elsie C. Brackett Theatre and the 250-seat Weitzenhoffer Theatre, the center contains two fully equipped dance studios and one practice studio. Classrooms, make-up room, scene and costume shops, and dressing rooms used by drama, dance, and musical theatre comprise a facility in which our students can work and learn to their fullest potential.

The School of Music is housed in three buildings: Stanley B. Catlett, Sr. Music Center, Holmberg Hall, and Carpenter Hall. The 25 million dollar Center contains administrative offices, faculty offices and studios, rehearsal suites, classrooms, MIDI labs, the Grant Fine Arts Library, a recording studio, and three performance halls, including the Paul F. Sharp Concert Hall, Morris R. Pitman Recital Hall, and Grayce B. Kerr Gothic Hall (for organ and other performances). Holmberg Hall houses faculty offices and the Auditorium, a theatrical stage used by the OU Opera Theater for its productions. Studios for the voice, piano, and musical theatre faculty members are currently located in Carpenter Hall.

Undergraduate Study

Student Responsibilities

Academic Advising Staff

Elizabeth Nunley, M.S., Coordinator of Undergraduate Programs
Alyssa Lewis, M.B.A., Academic Counselor for the School of Music
Carmen Marcom, Academic Counselor

College and faculty advisors are available to assist students in planning their programs of study; however, it is the responsibility of the individual student to make informed decisions to ensure academic success and timely graduation. Therefore, it is critical that students know and understand the following:

- Their academic standing based on the retention standards of the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts;
- The degree requirements checksheets (p. 1208) as published by the Office of Academic Publications;
- Keep apprised of their degree completion progress via Degree Navigator;
- Academic deadlines, as listed on the university academic calendar;
- All rules and regulations which govern enrollment and graduation;
- University policies and procedures;
- When and where to go for assistance and to make use of the many resources provided by the University;
- Accept their course invitation and access important information via Artifacts at canvas.ou.edu.
- Students who have questions regarding policies, procedures or resources should contact one of the advisors in Student Services of the Fine Arts Dean's office.

Admission and Retention

Freshman

The freshman year at the University of Oklahoma is spent in University College, which is not a degree-recommending college. Students must be formally accepted into a degree program before they may declare a fine arts major. Refer to audition and/or portfolio information below. Transfer to the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts from University College is automatic once the following conditions have been met:

- a declared Fine Arts major;
- 24 combined retention hours earned (excluding any remedial credit hours), and
- a combined retention GPA of 2.50; 2.75 for Bachelor of Music Education majors.

Audition and Portfolio

All dance, drama, music and musical theatre majors must audition and be officially accepted into a degree program before being allowed to enroll for classes. Drama majors who have taken previous acting classes at another institution and who wish to be placed in an acting class beyond the freshman level, must audition for placement.

Readmission Policy

A fine arts major who has not been enrolled in the college for two consecutive semesters (excluding summer) or more, must reapply to the school of his/her major for readmission. This reapplication must include an audition or portfolio/scholarly materials review and submission of support materials as applicable. The student must check with the appropriate school for additional information and requirements pertinent to the readmission process. The student must also apply for readmission to the university through OU Admissions.

Retention

Students are admissible to the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts in good standing once they have completed 24 hours (excluding any remedial credit hours), have a minimum 2.50 GPA, 2.75 for Bachelor of Music Education majors (includes both OU retention and combined retention), and have declared a fine arts major. Students must earn a grade of C or better in each course in the school of his/her major.

Academic Performance/Probation

In order to be in good academic standing in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts, students must maintain a minimum 2.50 GPA, 2.75 for Bachelor of Music Education majors (includes both OU retention and combined retention). Students who do not meet the minimum GPA criteria required by the college will be placed on probation. These students are required to complete an Academic Performance/Probation Contract with the Coordinator of Undergraduate Programs in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts Dean's Office. The Academic Performance Contract is designed to be student-specific, dependent upon each student's individual circumstances.

Students who do not fulfill the requirements of their Academic Performance Contract will be dismissed from the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts.

Enrollment Restriction Policy for Probationary Students

Probationary students will be restricted to a maximum of 12 hours per semester. Exceptions will be made only at the discretion of the Dean or Coordinator of Undergraduate Programs.

Performance Restriction Policy for Probationary Students

Probationary students may not be cast in productions or enroll in/perform Junior or Senior recitals until they have returned to good academic standing.

Dismissal

Students who have been dismissed from the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts will have an enrollment stop placed on their records by the college and are not allowed to enroll in fine arts courses designed and/or designated for majors only. Any advance enrollment will be cancelled. To continue at the University of Oklahoma, the student must make an appointment and meet with an advisor in the Academic Advising Resource Center. Students who have been dismissed from the college twice are unlikely to be readmitted to the college.

Review Process if Ineligible for Admission or Retention

The review process is: (a) written petition to the dean; (b) letters of support from the director/faculty of the school or department; and (c) dean accepts or rejects petition. There is no further appeal except to the Provost.

Transfer Students

Transfer students admitted to the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts may pick up a copy of their Transfer Credit Evaluation Document from the Dean's office. Faculty advisors will review transfer coursework in the student's major and determine how those transfer credits will apply toward a baccalaureate degree from the college. A Course Substitution Form must be completed by the student's faculty advisor for all unequated fine arts major specific transfer courses. The academic counselor in the Dean's office is responsible for informing students of transferability of unequated General Education core requirements. The University's General Education Transfer Course Evaluation Form will be completed by the academic counselor in the dean's office for unequated transfer courses as appropriate. Music majors will see the Academic Counselor for the School of Music for assistance with these items.

- In the event that a lower-division transfer course is used as a substitution for an upper-division requirement at the University, a student may be required to complete additional upper-division hours for graduation.
- A minimum of 60 semester hours must be earned at an accredited (4-year) institution for a baccalaureate degree.

For further regulations regarding transfer students, refer to the opening pages of this catalog as well as in subsequent sections for the Fine Arts College.

Enrollment and Grade Information

Academic Course Load

Students may enroll in a maximum of 19 credit hours of work in one semester. The minimum requirement for full-time status is 12 hours. To enroll in more than 19 hours, permission must be obtained from the Dean's office or School of Music Academic Counselor, depending on student's major. Students must have a minimum combined GPA of 3.0 in order to receive overload permission. The Overload Petition form is available on the college website under Resources/Student Resources/Forms.

Advisement

Art, Dance, Drama, and Musical Theatre students registered in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts must be advised by a faculty advisor in their school prior to each enrollment. An Academic Advisement Form is completed and signed by the faculty advisor during the conference. This completed form is turned in to the Dean's office that then lifts the students advising flag in the online enrollment system. The student's faculty advisor or the student's school is responsible for entering override/permissions into the online system to enable the student to enroll in courses requiring special permission. Once the advising flag has been lifted and all enrollment stops have been cleared, students may finalize their enrollment schedule in the online system or the Office of Enrollment Services in 230 Buchanan Hall. Students in the School of Music will schedule their advising appointment with Alyssa Lewis via iadvise.ou.edu.

Fine Arts Orientation

Undergraduate fine arts students are required to complete an online orientation session after they have earned 24 hours and are in their first semester in the College of Fine Arts. The session covers college policies and procedures, the advisement and enrollment process within the college and graduation issues. Instructions for completing the college online orientation are sent to students via OU email.

Math Policy

The Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts requires all declared fine arts students complete their college level math course within the first four semesters of enrollment at OU. Transfer students or newly declared fine arts majors who have not completed their college level math requirement will have two semesters in which to complete the requirement. Students who fail to meet this requirement will be restricted from upper-division fine arts courses except by permission of their Director and the Dean.

Completion of this requirement is tracked by the Fine Arts Dean's office. Students will receive a notification via OU email one semester prior to their deadline for fulfilling this requirement. Some schools within the college include this policy as part of their scholarship stipulations.

Change of Major

Students wishing to change majors must do so in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts Dean's Office by completion of the Change of Major request form. Prior to completing a change of major request in the Dean's office, the student must meet the admissions criteria as outlined in the admission and retention section.

Students wishing to change to a major in another college must meet the admission requirements and be accepted by that college before the major can be changed. The new college will complete the change of major/college request and will also request the student's records from their previous college.

Grade Information

A student must have a grade of C or higher in each course in his/her major. Each hour of A, B, C and D carries a grade point value as follows: A = 4, B = 3, C = 2, and D = 1. Grades of I, F and U as well as grades P and S carry no grade point value. They are not figured in the computation of a student's grade point average except for grades of F.

Fine Arts students are required to make a C or better in all courses taken within their respective schools. When a course has been repeated and the second grade was lower than the first, the higher grade will be used toward fulfilling graduation requirements. For additional information on the impact of repeat coursework on the student's GPA, the student should consult with the one of the academic counselors in the Dean's office.

Dean's Honor Roll

The Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts Honor Roll is compiled at the close of each fall and spring semester. It includes students who have completed at least 12 grade point hours and have earned an average GPA of 3.50 or higher for the semester.

Pass/No Pass Option

Students in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts may present, for graduation, a maximum of 16 elective hours completed under the pass/no pass option. Courses completed under the pass/no pass option may not be used to fulfill the University-Wide General Education requirements, major requirements, or major support requirements.

Advanced Standing

Students who feel they have a sufficient knowledge of the subject matter of a course offered by the University may take an advanced standing examination for undergraduate credit in the course. Please reference the Admissions section of this catalog for further information on the regulations governing advanced standing credit. Students who have received a grade other than a W in any course, may not subsequently take the same course by advanced standing.

Independent Study (Correspondence)

University of Oklahoma regulations pertaining to the acceptance of independent study (correspondence) from other institutions must be met before such work may be applied toward the degree. The candidate for a degree must meet the college residence requirement. Regulations and specific criteria pertaining to students in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts are as follows:

- Students may enroll in independent study (correspondence) courses any time by contacting the Center for Independent & Distance Learning.
- A student may enroll in a maximum of six hours of correspondence at one time.
- If students are concurrently enrolled in independent study and in residence credit, the total number of hours for one semester may not exceed the recommended maximum shown under Academic Course Load.
- A student must be in good academic standing in order to receive permission to enroll in independent study courses.
- A student must secure written permission from the academic counselor in the Dean's office on the independent study application form.
- Music Education majors may not enroll in EDSP 3053 by independent study.
- Undergraduate students within their last 30 hours are prohibited from enrolling in independent study courses to satisfy degree requirements.

Forgiveness Policy

The Forgiveness Policy instituted by the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education and the University of Oklahoma, consists of three components: the repeat policy, the reprieve policy and the academic renewal policy. Please reference the Admissions information in the front of this catalog for further information on these policies. Questions concerning this policy should be directed to one of the academic counselors in the Dean's office.

Music Education Teacher Certification

Students pursuing the Bachelor of Music Education degree in either vocal music education or instrumental music education must be admitted to the Teacher Preparation Program in the College of Education prior to enrollment in the required course sequence.

- Students should apply to the Teacher Preparation Program at the end of the sophomore year.
- Students complete and submit an Admission to the Teacher Preparation Program form to the Fine Arts Dean's office.
- To be eligible for admission, students must complete a minimum of 24 hours of general education coursework with a 2.75 GPA from the university approved list with C or better grades in the following areas: ENGL 1113 (required), ENGL 1213 or EXPO 1213 (required), Natural Science without lab; Natural Science with lab; Math; P SC 1113; ANTH 1113/PSY 1113/SOC 1113; HIST 1483 or HIST 1493; Humanities.
- Students must pass the Oklahoma General Education Test. OGET results must be turned in with their admission form.

- Students must complete Submission 1 of their portfolio and release the electronic portfolio to the faculty advisor.
- Submission 1 check list must be complete and portfolio must be cleared by the faculty advisor.
- Meet with faculty advisor to complete additional forms as required (subject to change by university and State Regents).

Students must have a minimum 2.75 OU retention and combined retention GPAs in order to be admitted to the Teacher Preparation Program coursework, to graduate and to be certified. Students with a GPA between 2.50 and 2.74 may petition the MUED faculty for an exemption to begin their Teacher Preparation coursework, but will be placed on Academic Probation by the College of Fine Arts until such time as their GPA is raised to the required 2.75 for graduation. Exemptions cannot be granted for students with less than a 2.50 GPA in their OU retention and combined retention GPAs. GPA exemptions approved by the MUED faculty does not guarantee admission to the Teacher Preparation Program in the College of Education.

Academic Appeals

For information and procedures on academic appeals, please refer to the section on Academic Appeals Boards in the Admissions section of this catalog. You may also refer to Title 14 of the Student Code. The College of Fine Arts Academic Appeals Petition form with guidelines and instructions is available on the college website under Resources/Student Resources/Forms.

Petitions

Any departure by a student from the curriculum requirements and scholastic rules must be approved by the School and College via a petition and must not conflict with existing University regulations. Petitions should be submitted in a timely manner since time restrictions can preclude their consideration.

Petition forms in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts are available in the dean's office and on the college website under Resources/Student Resources/Forms. The general petition form may be used for requesting:

- exceptions to graduation/degree requirements;
- extensions of Incomplete grades;
- waiver of the residency policy; and
- waiver of the ten-year limitation policy.

In addition, petitions are available to Add a Course after the Deadline, Drop a Course after the Deadline, and a Petition for Enrollment Overload (refer to information under Academic Course Load).

Graduation

Requirements

The responsibility for meeting all graduation requirements lies with the student.

The following requirements must be met in order to graduate with a bachelor's degree from the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts:

- Student must have an OU retention and combined retention grade point average of 2.50 or higher. Bachelor of Music Education majors must have an OU retention and combined retention grade point average of 2.75 or higher.
- Student must successfully complete the minimum semester hours required for the degree inclusive of general education, major course work, and electives.
- Student must earn a C or better in each course in their major.
- Student must complete a minimum of 40 hours of upper-division coursework (3000-4000).
- Student must complete a minimum of 40 hours of general education requirements as outlined by the college and the University.
- Student must complete a minimum of 40 hours of liberal arts coursework (80 hours for Bachelor of Arts degrees) as outlined by the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education for undergraduate degrees.
- Student must complete a minimum of 60 hours at accredited senior (4-year) institutions.

- Student must be listed as a Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts student at the time of graduation.
- Student must complete a senior graduation check with one of the academic counselors in the Fine Arts Dean's Office in their next to last semester.

General Education Requirements

Students are required to satisfy the University-wide General Education course requirements as outlined in the General Information section of this catalog. Courses used to satisfy these requirements should be chosen from the University-wide General Education Approved Courses. Always use the Search feature on the enrollment program to find current general education course options when enrolling each semester.

- The University requires a minimum of 40 hours of General Education coursework.
- In addition to the Senior Capstone Experience, students must take at least one upper-division General Education approved course outside the student's major.

Some Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts degrees require specific general education courses be completed for certain core areas. Please refer to the appropriate degree sheet.

Residence Requirements

Residency is defined as coursework taken through any University of Oklahoma campus excluding correspondence courses.

- Candidates for an undergraduate degree must complete a minimum of 30 hours in residence at the University of Oklahoma and in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts.
- At least 24 hours of upper-division major credit applied toward the degree must be earned in residence as a declared Dance, Music, Musical Theatre, Drama or BA in Art or Art History major, with the exception of —
- A minimum of 15 hours of upper-division major credit must be earned in residence if a declared Bachelor of Arts in Music major.
- A minimum of 30 hours of upper-division major credit applied toward the degree must be earned in residence as a declared BFA in Art or BFA in Visual Communication major.

- A student must be listed as a Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts student at the time of graduation.
- Capstone courses must be taken in residence.

Ten-Year Limitation Rules

The following rules must be met.

- Please refer to the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts Readmission Policy.
- A student in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts may elect to graduate under the degree plan in effect at the time of their first enrollment in the state system provided they complete the work for a degree within a maximum of 10 calendar years from the time of their first enrollment in the state system. If the work for a degree covers a period longer than 10 years, the college, in consultation with the student, will determine the degree plan to be in effect for that student's graduation.
- Students returning to college whose coursework is more than 10 years old, will follow the policy outlined below in addition to the Readmission policy:
  - Decisions will be made on a case by case basis at the discretion of the individual Schools.
  - Students will not be allowed to complete degree plans that have been deleted (refers to a deletion formally approved by the State Regents).
  - Students who wish to use coursework in the area of their specialization that is older than 10 years, must petition the School of their major for validation of those courses on a course by course basis after they have been readmitted to a degree plan.
  - Students must petition the School of their major to follow an expired degree plan (refers to a degree plan of a particular year that is more than 10 years old).
  - Students who have 20 hours or less remaining under an expired degree plan will receive consideration in being allowed to complete said plan (includes old GPA requirements).
  - Students who have more than 20 hours to complete under an expired degree plan, normally must follow the current years' degree plan and GPA requirements.

School of Dance

- Students wishing to be readmitted to the School of Dance after a 10-year period must audition and be reaccepted.
- If accepted, the audition committee will determine the degree plan the student is to follow (ballet performance or pedagogy, or modern dance performance), as well as the technical level of their courses.
- General college policy rules apply beyond this point.

Peggy Dow Helmerich School of Drama

- Students wishing to be readmitted to the School of Drama after a 10-year period must audition or present a portfolio/scholarly materials for review, as appropriate to their major area.
- At the audition or portfolio review a decision whether to accept the student will be made. Following acceptance, appropriate course placement within the curriculum will be determined as well as the emphasis/track the student is to follow.
- General college policy rules apply beyond this point.

School of Music

- Students wishing to be readmitted to the School of Music after a 10-year period must audition and be accepted.
- If accepted, the audition committee will determine the degree plan the student is to follow (BFA, BMA, BME, BM), and the level of their applied lessons.
- General college policy rules apply beyond this point.

A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre

- Students wishing to be readmitted to the School of Musical Theatre after a 10-year period must audition and be accepted.
- If accepted, appropriate course placement within the curriculum will be determined.
- General college policy rules apply beyond this point.

OU School of Visual Arts

- Students wishing to be readmitted to the OU School of Visual Arts after a 10-year period must schedule a portfolio review.
- At the portfolio review a decision whether to accept the student will be made. Following acceptance, a decision will be made as to which area of specialization the student is admitted, as well as appropriate course placement within the curriculum.
- General college policy rules apply beyond this point.

Scholarship Information

Students who are majors in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts are encouraged to apply for scholarship support. A number of scholarships and awards are available to qualified students each academic year. Applications for scholarships and awards are available through one.ou.edu to students each spring semester and are awarded for the next academic year. The individual Schools within the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts award scholarships based on specific criteria regarding a student's major, talent, merit or need. Initial scholarship considerations and offers are made following admission auditions in the spring. On occasion, the Dean's office grants minimal scholarships to students who have exhausted all other financial resources. Scholarships awarded by the dean are based on merit, special financial need, and unusual circumstances. Additional non-departmental scholarships and financial aid are available through the University of Oklahoma office of Financial Aid Services through one.ou.edu. The scholarship application deadline for incoming freshmen and transfer students begins in early December. The deadline for current students is early February. Visit scholarships.ou.edu for complete details.

Courses

AMGT 2013 Negotiations, Marketing, and Social Media 3 Credit Hours
Any entrepreneurial or organizational role in the professional arts industry calls for an understanding of negotiation (advocating for an outcome with multiple parties) and marketing (advocating for one's mission, service, or product). This course explores the basics of negotiations and marketing. There is a particular emphasis on social media and engagement. (Irreg.)

AMGT 3013 Fundraising and Development 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Junior standing. An exploration of approaches to the development of capital for projects, whether for artists to arts organizations, including techniques for the facilitation of individual donations, corporate and foundation contributions, and government grants. Students will learn important frameworks and tools for organizing a number of possible avenues of financial support, including workback and follow-up schedules. (Irreg.)

AMGT 3023 Entrepreneurial Mindset in the Arts 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: AMGT 2013 and AMGT 3013. This course is designed for students who are intent on developing artistic sustainability, entrepreneurial success, and creative/social change. A career in tomorrow's art industry benefits from a mindset that welcomes change, fast-paced decision-making, and a rock-solid foundation of values, work ethic, and reasoning. This hands-on course is delivered through exercises and mini-projects dealing with ideation, action, marketing, pitching, and strategy. (Irreg.)

College of Fine Arts Administrated Programs

The Arts Management and Entrepreneurship Graduate Certificate (p. 1217) is available to students in Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts. The curriculum is designed to enable students with industry knowledge and navigational skills in a dynamic arts environment through the strength of synthesizing ideologies and integrative thinking between both the fine arts and business. The strengths found in empathy, exploration, and interdisciplinary research are emphasized in the fine arts history courses detailing how artists and creatives drew inspiration from different ideologies, cultures, and thought. The general sequence of courses will teach students how to think critically, develop adaptive strategies, and negotiate positions in a creative environment.

The Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts also offers minors in Arts Management and Entrepreneurship:

- Arts Management and Entrepreneurship for Fine Arts Majors, Minor (p. 1216)
- Arts Management and Entrepreneurship for Non-Fine Arts Majors, Minor (p. 1216)

Arts Management and Entrepreneurship for Fine Arts Majors, Minor

General Information

Since its inception over 40 years ago, the School of Dance has established a national reputation for its excellence in training in ballet and modern dance techniques, for its production values and for the quality of its graduates. Firmly rooted in a performance-oriented philosophy, the school is composed of 10 faculty members, two ballroom dance instructors, three Pilates body conditioning instructors, six accompanists, two full-time musicians, six graduate teaching assistants and approximately 80 majors. Students develop their technical and expressive gifts guided by a faculty representing an unusually fine blend of professional and academic excellence. Students work in a pre-professional environment dedicated to their development as performers, artists and educated individuals. During completion of the University's general education requirements, dance students learn about related arts from theoretical, historical and theatrical perspectives, while simultaneously perfecting their skills as emerging dance artists. Oklahoma Festival Ballet and Contemporary Dance Oklahoma provide performance opportunities on campus and throughout the state and region through fully produced performances, laboratory performances and lecture demonstrations. In addition, a production choreographed by students is presented on an annual basis. International tours are another important aspect of our students' experience.

The School of Dance is housed in the Donald W. Reynolds Performing Arts Center. This beautiful, state of the art facility includes two large dance studios, a Pilates body conditioning studio, media center, faculty and staff offices, archive room, a gallery/reception area and the exquisitely renovated performance hall (formerly historic Holmberg Hall). Additional studios are housed in the adjacent Fine Arts Center as are the production facilities for Elsie C. Brackett Theatre and the School of Drama. This combination of facilities ensures that our students have the best possible environment in which to develop their technical, expressive and intellectual gifts and move toward professional careers.

Programs for Excellence

Oklahoma Festival Ballet and Contemporary Dance Oklahoma, resident performing companies of the School of Dance, provide numerous, diverse performing opportunities for dance majors in both disciplines. Each company gives an annual series of performances on campus in our home theatres. Company members also present the annual Young Choreographers' Showcase each January. Additional performance opportunities exist through musicals and operas, in addition to lecture demonstrations in public schools, informal studio concerts and state, regional and international tours. Our companies have been honored with 14 invitational performance tours to Taiwan, Japan, France, Paraguay, Ecuador, Austria, China and Mexico.

Company members are selected by audition at the beginning of each semester. Majors in ballet performance emphasis are required to perform eight semesters; modern dance majors are required to perform seven semesters; and ballet pedagogy majors perform a minimum of four semesters. The MFA program also includes performance requirements.

Our companies have been chosen for the National American College Dance Festival Gala Performance at The Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts as well as receiving awards at the regional ACDF conferences (South Central). In addition, the companies have been featured in Dance Magazine, Pointe Magazine, the New York Times and the foreign press. The companies perform original works as well as others by Balanchine, Joffrey, Stevenson, de Mille, Petipa, Pilobolus, Sonia Dawkins, Gerald Arpino, Donald McKayle, Mark Dendy and Trey McIntyre. Guest performers, choreographers, scholars and teachers visit the School of Dance each semester enriching students' experience and aiding in their preparation for the profession. Participation by dancers of diverse cultural and ethnic backgrounds is encouraged.

Scholarship Information

A number of merit based scholarships are available through the School. These include Barnett Foundation Scholarships, tuition waivers, the Mark Allen Everett Scholarship, the Indian Ballerina Scholarships, Dance Partners Scholarships and others. For specific scholarships and deadlines, contact the School of Dance at (405) 325-4051 or visit scholarships.ou.edu.

Undergraduate Study

The School of Dance offers undergraduate degree programs in classical ballet (with performance or pedagogy as an emphasis) and modern dance.

- Ballet Pedagogy, B.F.A. (p. 1222)
- Ballet Performance, B.F.A. (p. 1224)
- Modern Dance Performance, B.F.A. (p. 1227)

Admission

The School of Dance follows the admission requirements of the University of Oklahoma and the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts. However, admission to a dance degree program also requires attendance at an audition on campus. The entrance audition also serves as a placement class. All class assignments are based on proficiency. For specific audition dates and information, please contact the School of Dance administrative office (405) 325-4051.

Degree Requirements

Dance majors are advised concerning course enrollment and advancement in the degree program by an assigned faculty member each semester. All regulations and degree requirements are available in the School of Dance Office, 1000 Reynolds Performing Arts Center and online.

Dance History Minor

The School of Dance offers a Minor in Dance History (p. 1229) that is open to all undergraduates in the university. For additional information, please contact the School of Dance office or the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts Dean's office.

Graduate Study

The Master of Fine Arts in Dance (p. 1229) emphasizes either performance, choreography or pedagogy. Admission to the graduate program follows the requirements of the Graduate College and includes submission of a videotape prior to an invitation to an interview and audition by the graduate faculty of the School of Dance. Completion of college and school application forms is also required. Students are expected to have completed an undergraduate degree in dance.

General Requirements for all Master's Degrees

The master's degree requires the equivalent of at least two semesters of satisfactory graduate work and additional work as may be prescribed for the degree.

All coursework applied to the master's degree must carry graduate credit.

Master's degree programs which require a thesis consist of at least 30 credit hours. All non-thesis master's degree programs require at least 32 credit hours.

Credit transferred from other institutions must meet specific criteria and is subject to certain limitations.

Courses completed through correspondence study may not be applied to the master's degree.

To qualify for a graduate degree, students must achieve an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the degree program coursework and in all resident graduate coursework attempted. A student must also have at least a 3.0 in all coursework (including undergraduate coursework if any).

Additional information for master's degree students may be found in the Graduate College Bulletin.

General Information

The Peggy Dow Helmerich School of Drama strives to prepare students for professional careers in theatre and the greater entertainment industry. As a vital artistic training unit within a major university, the school believes the student's experience should include all aspects of theatre production along with a strong academic component of theatre history and general education. The school seeks to train and educate theatrical artists, craftspeople, and educators of the future.

Our 11:1 student/faculty ratio in the School of Drama assures the student extensive individual attention and guidance during each step of the program. Visiting artists supplement our resident faculty and staff in providing a wide range of experience for students as part of their growth and training as artists.

Mission Statement

The mission of the University of Oklahoma Peggy Dow Helmerich School of Drama is to educate theatre artists, scholars and teachers, preparing them to enter their professions with a knowledge of evolving industry standards; to perpetuate theatrical art by encouraging and nurturing the development of new artistic endeavors; and to provide a variety of theatrical productions and programs of excellence to Oklahoma audiences.

Programs for Excellence

OU's Helmerich School of Drama is the second oldest dramatic training institution in the nation, and has a long, distinctive history and a reputation for excellence. This performance-based degree is supported by diverse production options performed in our five spaces and the Helmerich Camera Action Studio. On the main-stages, an average of three plays, two musicals, three dance productions and two operas comprise the University Theatre season (nine-month academic year). In the Lab Theatre in Beatrice Carr Wallace Old Science Hall and the Gilson Studio Theatre another four to five plays are mounted, including two senior directed productions. Throughout the year, students hone their skills in a professional and challenging production season.

The Helmerich School of Drama has been the birthplace of several world and regional premieres. The school's commitment to new works adds to the exciting atmosphere that permeates the student's academic career. The Faith Broome Playwright in Residence Program and the Faith Broome Student Playwriting Festival are pivotal in our effort to expose our community to new works. Students are encouraged to attend a number of professional auditions each year and our local patrons group, the Theatre Guild, provides significant travel grants to assist in this endeavor. The School of Drama is active in the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival and the United States Institute for Theatre Technology.

Performance majors must audition each semester for upcoming productions. Auditions are held twice a year, in August for the fall semester, and November for the spring semester. Additional auditions are held as needed for added productions which may include children's theatre shows, directing scenes, student productions and film projects. Design and stage management assignments are made at the beginning of each semester. In addition, students have opportunities to work as dramaturgs, assistant stage managers, audience development assistants, and technicians in scenery, costume, lighting, properties, and sound.

Special Facilities and Programs

The Helmerich School of Drama administrative offices are located at 121 Wallace Old Science Hall, on the North Oval. The University Theatre building - the Fine Arts Center - is at 563 Elm on the northwest corner of the Norman campus. Completed in 1965, the Fine Arts Center contains faculty offices, classrooms, dance studios, construction shops and storage spaces for scenery, costumes, lights, and properties, a computer-aided design lab, the highly flexible 600-seat Elsie C. Brackett Theatre, and the more intimate, 250-seat Weitzenhoffer Theatre. The close proximity to the other schools in the OU Arts District gives students easy access to the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art, the Fine Arts Library and the Reynolds Performing Arts Center. In addition to the facilities in the Fine Arts Center, Wallace Old Science Hall houses the 75-seat Lab Theatre, the 65-seat Gilson Studio Theatre, faculty and administrative offices, a design lab, and the Drama Library.

The season auditions are open to all students in the University. Classes in many aspects of theatre are offered to non-majors for elective credit.

Scholarship Information

A number of scholarships and awards are available to qualified students. Students should go to scholarships.ou.edu to apply for scholarships. Financial Aid is also available through OU Financial Aid Services. The following drama scholarships are available to qualified students:

- Ben Barnett Scholarships
- Theatre Guild Scholarships
- A. Max Weitzenhoffer Scholarship in Scene Design
- Mary Clarke Miley Scholarships
- Tuition Waiver Scholarships
- Non-Resident Tuition Waiver Scholarships
- The E. Franklin Gilson Professional Development Grant
- The Nicole Poole Scholarship
- Lindsay Stewart Stage Management Scholarship
- Amy Elizabeth Boe Character Acting Scholarship
- Through a very generous endowment from Walter and Peggy Helmerich, the School of Drama is now able to offer an additional scholarship to our students. The Peggy Dow Helmerich Drama Scholarships are awarded based on financial need and demonstrated talent.

At the close of each academic year the School of Drama recognizes individual achievement in an awards ceremony. Many of the awards carry cash prizes. These awards are:

- The Van Heflin Award
- The Weitzenhoffer Award
- The Buffalo Mask Awards
- Rupel J. Jones Directing Award
- Ida Z. Kirk Acting Awards
- Charles C. Suggs Stage Management Award
- A. L. Mortensen Award for Technical Excellence
- Helen F. Lauterer Costuming Award
- Raymond D. Larson Scene Design Award
- Oscar G. Brockett Dramaturgy Award
- Amy Elizabeth Boe Character Acting Awards

Undergraduate Study

Bachelor of Fine ARts

The Helmerich School of Drama offers the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree. The degree is designed to provide the student with a solid foundation in each basic area of the theatre, with an opportunity to begin specialization in the sophomore year. The concenrations are in the following areas:

- Acting (p. 1237)—for undergraduate students interested in pursuing a career as a performer in professional theatre, television or film;
- Design (p. 1239)—for undergraduate students interested in pursuing a career in scenic, costume, lighting or sound design;
- Dramaturgy (p. 1242)—for undergraduate students interested in pursuing careers and/or graduate study in dramaturgy, theatre history, directing or playwriting;
- Stage Management (p. 1245)—for undergraduate students interested in pursuing a career in stage management;

Coursework at the undergraduate level includes acting, directing, voice and speech, stage movement and combat, graphics, stagecraft, costume construction and design, basic lighting fundamentals and design, scene design, sound techniques and design, theatre history, costume history, play structure and analysis, and theatre and stage management. Students are also encouraged to take advantage of coursework offered by the School of Dance and the A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre.

Theatre Minor

The School offers a Minor in Theatre (p. 1247) that is open to all undergraduates in the university. For additional information, please contact the School of Drama office or the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts Dean's office.

Admission

The Helmerich School of Drama follows the basic admission requirements of the University of Oklahoma and the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts. Please refer to those sections in this catalog for specific details. In addition, admission to the OU School of Drama is by audition and/or interview only and requires an on-campus audition (for acting emphasis) or portfolio review (for design emphasis), and/or interview (for dramaturgy or stage management emphasis). Students must be officially accepted into the School of Drama by audition and/or interview before being allowed to enroll for classes.

Degree Requirements

Students are advised each semester by the school faculty concerning enrollments, admission, advancement toward degree, and career options.

Students considering a major in drama should contact the School of Drama Office 121 Wallace Old Science Hall for curriculum plans outlining the above program and information covering auditions, admission policies and guidelines, awards and scholarships, and additional regulations, policies and practices.

Graduate Study

Prerequisites for Full Graduate Standing

In addition to meeting the general requirements of the Graduate College, the student should have completed the following undergraduate coursework or its professional equivalent: six hours in acting, six hours in directing, three hours in stagecraft, three hours in costume construction, three hours in costume history, three hours each in scene, costume and lighting design, three hours in dramatic structure and analysis, and six hours in theatre history.

Students with deficiencies in any of these areas may be required to take coursework judged necessary to correct the deficiencies, without receiving graduate credit for the coursework. Once full graduate standing is achieved, the student must maintain a 3.00 grade point average and make satisfactory progress toward the degree to maintain full graduate standing.

Master of Arts

The Master of Arts (p. 1247) is a scholarly degree with emphasis on theatre history, dramatic literature and criticism, and dramaturgy. The program is structured with the student's particular needs and interests in mind. Contact the School of Drama Office for further details.

Admission

The Helmerich School of Drama follows the basic admission requirements of the University of Oklahoma and the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts. Please refer to those sections in this catalog for specific details. In addition, admission to the OU School of Drama is by audition and/or interview only and requires an on-campus audition (for acting emphasis) or portfolio review (for design or technology emphasis), and/or interview (for dramaturgy or stage management emphasis). Students must be officially accepted into the School of Drama by audition and/or interview before being allowed to enroll for classes.

The Bachelor of Fine Arts in Drama degree is designed to provide the student with a solid foundation in each basic area of the theatre, with an opportunity to begin specialization in the sophomore year.

Students must choose one of the following emphasis areas.

- Acting Emphasis - Students will audition during the second semester of the freshman year.
- Design Emphasis - Emphasis review is required for admission to the design/tech emphasis area at the end of the freshman year.
- Dramaturgy Emphasis - Students must apply during the second semester of the freshman year.
- Stage Management Emphasis - Admission must occur no later than the spring semester of the sophomore year.

Drama Core and Emphasis Requirements

A grade of C or better is required in all courses taken within the School of Drama. Audition/Interview is required for admission to degree program.

Admission

The Helmerich School of Drama follows the basic admission requirements of the University of Oklahoma and the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts. Please refer to those sections in this catalog for specific details. In addition, admission to the OU School of Drama is by audition and/or interview only and requires an on-campus audition (for acting emphasis) or portfolio review (for design or technology emphasis), and/or interview (for dramaturgy or stage management emphasis). Students must be officially accepted into the School of Drama by audition and/or interview before being allowed to enroll for classes.

The Bachelor of Fine Arts in Drama degree is designed to provide the student with a solid foundation in each basic area of the theatre, with an opportunity to begin specialization in the sophomore year.

Students must choose one of the following emphasis areas.

- Acting Emphasis - Students will audition during the second semester of the freshman year.
- Design Emphasis - Emphasis review is required for admission to the design/tech emphasis area at the end of the freshman year.
- Dramaturgy Emphasis - Students must apply during the second semester of the freshman year.
- Stage Management Emphasis - Admission must occur no later than the spring semester of the sophomore year.

Drama Core and Emphasis Requirements

A grade of C or better is required in all courses taken within the School of Drama. Audition/Interview is required for admission to degree program.

[2] The course taken to fulfill the upper-division General Education requirement outside the major may not be chosen from Drama courses.

- At least 24 hours of upper-division Drama credit must be earned in residence as a declared major; must include the Senior Capstone.
- Bachelor's degrees require a minimum of 40 hours of upper-division (3000-4000) coursework.
- This plan of study should not be used in lieu of academic advisement.
- Unless otherwise stated on the degree sheet, the College of Fine Arts does not permit coursework to fulfill more than one degree requirement.

Theatre, Minor

Program Code: N859

The requirements for a minor must be completed concurrently with the major degree requirements.

No minor may be added by completing courses after receiving the bachelor's degree.

No single course may be used by a student to satisfy a major requirement and a minor requirement.

Students must earn a minimum grade of C in each course.

A minimum of 9 hours must be upper division courses.

General Requirements for all Master's Degrees

The master's degree requires the equivalent of at least two semesters of satisfactory graduate work and additional work as may be prescribed for the degree.

All coursework applied to the master's degree must carry graduate credit.

Master's degree programs which require a thesis consist of at least 30 credit hours. All non-thesis master's degree programs require at least 32 credit hours.

Credit transferred from other institutions must meet specific criteria and is subject to certain limitations.

Courses completed through correspondence study may not be applied to the master's degree.

To qualify for a graduate degree, students must achieve an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the degree program coursework and in all resident graduate coursework attempted. A student must also have at least a 3.0 in all coursework (including undergraduate coursework if any).

Additional information for master's degree students may be found in the Graduate College Bulletin.

General Information

The School of Music offers curricula for those who choose to pursue professional careers in music, and courses for all University students who may wish to acquaint themselves with music as listeners or participants. The school stresses creativity and research and provides opportunities for the students to develop their powers of personal expression through performance, composition, historical, analytical and pedagogical disciplines.

The faculty includes artists and scholars who are nationally known in the fields of performance, composition, education, history and theory. Recitals, concerts, lectures, guest artists, operas, and seminars provide the students with a wide range of opportunities for musical and intellectual growth.

The School of Music is housed in three buildings: Stanley B. Catlett, Sr. Music Center, Donald W. Reynolds Performing Arts Center and Carpenter Hall. The Catlett Music Center contains the School of Music administrative offices, faculty offices and studios, rehearsal suites, classrooms, MIDI labs, the Grant Fine Arts Library, a recording studio, and three performance halls, including the Paul F. Sharp Concert Hall, Morris R. Pitman Recital Hall, and Grayce B. Kerr Gothic Hall. The Donald W. Reynolds Performing Arts Center houses faculty offices and the restored Holmberg auditorium used by the OU Opera Theater. Studios for the voice and piano faculty members are currently located in Carpenter Hall.

The School of Music is a fully accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Music. The requirements for admission and graduation are in accordance with the published regulations of the N.A.S.M.

Programs for Academic Excellence

The School of Music offers many opportunities to all University students, regardless of major, for participation in performing ensembles. For students who demonstrate sufficient musical ability to qualify, the following ensembles are available: the University Symphony Orchestra, Opera, Musical Theatre, Collegium Musicum, University Singers, University Chamber Ensemble, Opera Chorus, Women's Chorus, Singing Sooners, Symphonic Band, Concert Band, Marching Band, Trombone Choir, Jazz Ensemble, Percussion Ensemble, Brass Choir, Flute Choir, Sooner Bassooners, New Century Ensemble and numerous other ensembles such as woodwind and brass quintets, string quartets, and trios. Students should consult the class schedule and director regarding membership in each ensemble.

All undergraduate students majoring in music are required to participate in one or more of the following ensembles: Marching Band, Symphonic Band, Wind Ensemble, University Symphony Orchestra, Opera Chorus, University Chorale or Women's Chorus. For satisfactory participation in performing ensembles, one credit hour per semester in each ensemble may be earned. Each degree program in music has special requirements for participation in ensembles.

Scholarships, Awards and Financial Aid

Tuition waivers and cash scholarships are awarded on the merits of the audition for admission to the School of Music, and renewal is based on the student's musical and academic performance each year. Students are eligible for other scholarships and awards once they have matriculated to the University of Oklahoma. Information about these awards is available at OU Scholarships. Additional financial aid is available to qualified students through the University of Oklahoma Office of Financial Aid Services.

Graduate assistantships are available in: voice, piano (class and private), choral music, band (marching/concert), music theory, composition, music appreciation, MIDI technology, music education, and applied music. International students offered graduate assistantships may be required to pass a series of English tests administered by the English Assessment office prior to being appointed. Applications may be secured from the Coordinator of Graduate Studies in Music.

In addition to the regular scholarships and music awards, several special awards are given annually to outstanding students.

Admission

The School of Music accepts the admission requirements of the University of Oklahoma for incoming freshmen and transfer students. In addition to these general requirements for admission, all students must audition and be accepted into a studio in the major/ principal applied instrument/voice before enrolling as a music major. Additional supporting material, including a resume, two letters of recommendation, and a short essay, must be submitted to the School of Music in order to complete the admission process. Students with prior experience on the piano may take a piano skills examination to determine placement in an appropriate piano class or private study.

Degree Requirements

In addition to the regular curriculum requirements, all students who are candidates for the degrees Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Musical Arts, Bachelor of Music Education, and Bachelor of Arts in Music must satisfactorily meet sophomore proficiency and piano proficiency requirements..

Degree Recitals

All candidates for baccalaureate degrees in music with the exception of the Bachelor of Arts, must present public degree recitals. All recitals presented in partial fulfillment of degree requirements must be previewed and approved by a faculty committee prior to scheduling the recital.

Validation of Transfer Credit for Applied Study

Transfer credit for applied music will be validated only by an examination when such credit is to be applied to a degree offered by the School of Music. Transfer students whose advancement is below the junior level and who expect to continue study, must enroll in Applied Music 2020 and will be examined at the end of the semester for placement in a course sequence and validation of transfer credit. All other students wishing to validate transfer credit in applied music should arrange appointments for examination during the week of registration.

Class Attendance

Students are expected to attend every class session and private lesson as scheduled. Instructors in applied music are required to make up lessons which they cancel for personal reasons. The instructors are not required to make up lessons missed by failure of the student to attend, nor those missed on occasions when the instructors are requested to leave the campus as official representatives of the University. Lessons falling on University holidays will not be made up.

Recital Attendance

Candidates for all Music degrees must must earn Satisfactory (S) recital attendance for graduation. The S grade is predicated on a satisfactory attendance of a specified number of concerts each semester. A syllabus is available from the School of Music Office (138 Catlett Music Center).

Grade requirements

A grade of C or better is required in all courses taken within the School of Music. Any courses in which a D is earned must be repeated until a grade of C or better is achieved. Some music courses carry a limit to the number of times a course may be repeated; exceeding that limit may result in a student being withdrawn from the degree program. Courses graded P/NP (pass/fail) may not be used to fulfill requirements for this degree; all coursework must be letter graded.

Enrollment Limitation

The number of times that a music student can retake a required course, in an attempt to raise the grade, is limited to two. If a student has enrolled in a required course three times and does not receive a C or better, the student will not be allowed to pursue any music degree program for which that course is a requirement.

This regulation concerning the limited repetitions of a course does not apply to applied music study nor to ensemble study.

MUSC 1003 Music and American Democracy 3 Credit Hours
Music often functions to unite a people or a society. Given that the American people and society change with each passing generation and given that their guaranteed liberties seldom unite them in a wholly cohesive chorus, the ways music has been used to reinforce ideals, advance causes, shape social norms and satisfy diverse constituencies offers a rich story. For the most part, American government has played a slight role in the unfolding of American music, although there have been fascinating exceptions to this rule. A situation of minimal government policy allows for the marketplace of ideas to determine what is composed, performed, taught and cherished. Within this marketplace, fissures have frequently emerged dividing advocates of one or another approach allowing for vigorous debates. This course affords students an opportunity first to study these disputes as matters of historical record and then engage with these debates as they manifest themselves today. (F) [IV-WC].

Note: The Bachelor of Arts degree requires at least 80 hours of liberal arts coursework.

According to the State Regents, liberal arts "are those traditional fields of study in the humanities; social and behavioral sciences; communication, natural and life sciences; mathematics; and the history, literature and theory of the fine arts (music, art, drama, dance)... courses in the arts which rely substantially on studio or performance work are not considered to be liberal arts and sciences for the purpose of this policy." (3.14.2, p.133, OSRHE Policy Manual, retrieved 4/21/15)

Suggested Semester Plan of Study

At least 15 hours of upper-division Music credit must be earned in residence as a declared BA major; must include the Senior Capstone.

A grade of C or better is required in all courses taken within the School of Music. Unless otherwise stated on the degree sheet, the College of Fine Arts does not permit coursework to fulfill more than one degree requirement.

Degree Completion Responsibility: Although the Dean's Office checks each student's records, the responsibility for meeting degree requirements lies with the student and not with the advisor or the Dean. Each student should obtain a copy of the requirements for graduation and check it regularly as they complete their degree program.

Degree Completion Responsibility: Although the Dean's Office checks each student's records, the responsibility for meeting degree requirements lies with the student and not with the advisor or the Dean. Each student should obtain a copy of the requirements for graduation and check it regularly as they complete their degree program.

Music, Minor

Program Code: N715

The requirements for a minor must be completed concurrently with the major degree requirements. No minor may be added by completing courses after receiving the bachelor's degree.

See form available in Fine Arts Dean's office:

- Students must audition and be accepted as a music minor before it may be declared. Students are encouraged to audition during the School's formal Audition Days held during the spring semester.
- Acceptance as a music minor in any given studio area is on a space available basis (GTAs will teach).
- The minor must be officially declared in the Fine Arts Dean's office/ Student Services. Complete the form and take it to the Office of the Dean, Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts, Fred Jones Fine Arts Center, Rm. 122 (FJC 122) on or before the student's senior graduation check.

Students beginning the program in the freshman or sophomore year will not have difficulty completing the music minor. Students beginning the program in the junior year will need to plan accordingly to meet the requirements before graduation. Applied study at the 4000 level does not require Sophomore Proficiency and may be taken for 1-2 hrs of credit.

- No single course may be used by a student to satisfy a major requirement and a minor requirement.
- At least 15 hours must be completed at the University of Oklahoma.
- A minimum of 9 hours must be at the upper division level.
- No courses counted toward the minor may be taken Pass/ No Pass.
- The minor in Music is available to all undergraduate students at OU except those majoring in music.
- Students must earn a minimum grade of C in each course.
- Students must achieve a minimum 2.50 GPA (OU and overall) in the minor coursework.

Required Courses

Students must successfully complete at least 24 hours of coursework in music, including at least 9 hours at the upper division level. The following specific requirements must be met:

Notes:

- The DMA program requires satisfactory completion of ninety (90) credit hours of approved coursework beyond the Bachelor's degree. In most instances, the first thirty-two (32) of these hours come from the Master's degree.
- All DMA programs, except Composition, require three major public performances (recitals, lecture/recitals, workshops, etc. as required by the specific program) and defense of a written document.
- The DMA Composition requires 2 major public performances and a written document.
- Each student is required to be "in residence" (i.e.: enrolled as a full-time student) for at least two consecutive 16-week semesters (i.e.: Fall and Spring or Spring and Fall).
- Each student is expected to complete all required coursework and at least one major public performance (or more, depending upon the degree program) within four (4) years of taking any coursework beyond the thirty-two (32) hours of the Master's degree. At that time, the student must pass the General Examination.
- Assuming satisfactory completion of the General Examination within the allowed timeframe, the student will have five (5) years from that semester to complete the degree, including any remaining major public performances and successfully proposing, completing, defending, and depositing two (2) copies of the written document in the library and submitting an electronic copy of the document to the Graduate College.

General Information

The A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre at the University of Oklahoma is the only independent school of musical theatre in the country. With an innovative and challenging curriculum, impressive faculty and a select student body, OU Musical Theatre provides its students with the best of two worlds — conservatory-style training within a dynamic liberal arts university environment. In the midst of an intensive, world-class program of study in the arts, OU Musical Theatre gives students unique opportunities to broaden their knowledge with a wide array of possibilities outside of the school. Apart from offering a high caliber faculty, curriculum and performance opportunities, the goal of OU Musical Theatre is to provide its students with the necessary training and tools to make them highly marketable, employable and successful both on stage and off.

Born out of a generous gift from acclaimed Broadway producer and OU School of Drama graduate A. Max Weitzenhoffer, in 1998, the School of Musical Theatre stands along with the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts as a testament to the University of Oklahoma's continued commitment to the fostering of artistic talent. OU Musical Theatre bridges the gap between past and present, uniting a University steeped in tradition and history with a fresh and contemporary outlook toward the future of Musical Theatre.

In its relatively short history, the Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre has established itself as one of the premier musical theatre programs in the country, graduating students who perform on Broadway, in Europe, with national tours, at regional theaters, and in film and television.

Special Facilities and Programs

The school's administrative and faculty offices are located in Carpenter Hall. The Musical Theatre dance studios and performance classrooms are also located here, along with all voice studios and student lounge. The Fine Arts Center contains the 600-seat Elsie C. Brackett Theatre and the 250-seat Weitzenhoffer Theatre as well as classrooms and studios used by drama, dance, and musical theatre. The Catlett Music Center houses the Paul F. Sharp Concert Hall, the Morris R. Pittman Recital Hall, the Grayce B. Kerr Gothic Hall, as well as the FACTS Box Office for all Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts productions and concerts. In addition, Catlett houses many of the School of Music classrooms and rehearsal halls which include state of the art technology. The exquisitely renovated and restored Donald W. Reynolds Performing Arts Center (formerly historic Holmberg Hall) is used for performances, faculty studios and the School of Dance offices.

The A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre presents two main stage productions each year. Many of our students also participate in other University Theatre productions. Additional opportunities include cabaret, revue, and workshop performances.

Programs for Excellence

The A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre is one of the very few comprehensive and balanced musical theatre programs offered at a publicly supported university. Its conservatory type atmosphere is unique in a liberal arts university setting. The school is an interdisciplinary degree program working cooperatively with other units in the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts. This performance-based degree is involved with and supported by a multitude of diverse theatrical and performance opportunities ranging from fully produced musicals, dramas, dance and cabarets. These opportunities provide the students with a wide variety of experiences in which they can put classroom skills into practice.

A special feature of the A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre is its commitment to the development of new musical theatre works. This is accomplished through unique partnership arrangements with recognized producers, regional theatres, and creative artists who are leaders in the professional theatre world. The school has worked with up-and-coming writers, composers, and lyricists on such projects as "Something Wicked this Way Comes", "The First Gentleman", and "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea". Networking with Broadway casting directors and agents has led to numerous professional performance opportunities for our students upon graduation.

During the summer, faculty members work professionally in a variety of musical theatre venues. In addition, a majority of students in the school secure summer employment with professional theatres and entertainment venues throughout the country. Students are also given the chance to explore international performing opportunities in Europe and South Africa.

Scholarship Information

A number of scholarships and awards are available to qualified students each academic year. Initial scholarship considerations and offers are made following admission auditions in the spring. Returning students apply for scholarships and waivers through scholarships.ou.edu. Additional non-departmental scholarships and financial aid are available through the University of Oklahoma's office of Financial Aid Services. These applications must be made separately.

For specific information and deadlines, contact the A. Max Weitzenhoffer School of Musical Theatre's office at musicaltheatre@ou.edu or (405) 325-0538.

Undergraduate Study

- Musical Theatre Performance, B.F.A. (p. 1337)

Admission

Admission to the School of Musical Theatre is a two-part process. It involves a pre-audition (either through an electronic video submission or by attending regional or national audition events such as Unifieds). These preliminary auditions may result in a possible on-campus callback audition. In order to reserve your spot at an On-Campus Audition, you must be called back from your pre-audition. For more specific audition information, please visit our website.

Proficiency Evaluation

Review of a student's progress for continuation in the school will occur during the spring semesters of their freshman, sophomore, and junior years. Academic and artistic progress will be evaluated during this period accompanied by career counseling.

Degree Requirements

Students are advised each semester by the school faculty concerning enrollments, advancement toward degree and career options.

Students considering a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Musical Theatre should call (405) 325-0538 or visit the website for curriculum requirements, admission guidelines, scheduled admission audition dates, scholarships and awards. The Musical Theatre office is located in Carpenter Hall, Rm 104.

General Information

The OU School of Visual Arts includes four broad divisions; Studio Art, Art History, Art, Technology and Culture, and Visual Communication. Studio Art consists of programs in painting, printmaking, sculpture, and ceramics. Art History is a humanities field that studies the history of art, artifacts and architecture. Art, Technology and Culture includes photography, video, film, the use of technology in art, and other emergent media. Visual Communication majors become graphic designers, illustrators, production managers and other visual specialists working in design advertising and related fields.

The OU School of Visual Arts is the largest, most comprehensive art school in Oklahoma and is the only institution in the state to offer a master's and doctoral program in art history. The school serves approximately 400 undergraduate and graduate level students in art history, art, technology and culture, studio art, and visual communication with a faculty of 26 full-time artists, designers, scholars, a full-time Sculptor-in-Residence, the H. Russell Pitman Professor of Art History, the Charles Marion Russell Memorial Chair of Art in the American West, the Eugene B. Adkins Presidential Professor and Mary Lou Milner Carver Chair for Native American Art, and the Mary Lou Milner Carver Professor for Art of the American West. The school is dedicated to pursuing, promoting and supporting creative activity and scholarly research in the visual arts on both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Students from Oklahoma come to the OU School of Visual Arts from a variety of educational backgrounds — urban, rural and suburban high schools or community colleges — with many students returning to college after other careers to gain new skills. Out-of-state and international students join those native to Oklahoma to provide an exciting and diverse blend. The school adds to this exciting atmosphere by bringing thought-provoking guest artists and scholars to campus and sponsoring visits to museums and galleries in nearby cities. The school is proud of its many alumni from the undergraduate and graduate programs who have enjoyed outstanding professional success. There is ample opportunity for students to contribute to the school through exhibition of their work and personal involvement in various aspects of the visual arts on campus.

Special Facilities

The primary facility for the school is the Fred Jones Art Center, which contains classrooms, studios, darkrooms, video and film editing rooms, computer labs for undergraduate and graduate programs, faculty offices, and the Lightwell Gallery. Additional studio spaces for faculty and graduate students are located at the newly renovated Studio Annex located in northwest Norman and the Ceramics Facility located on South Campus. The OU School of Visual Arts is also home of the Charles M. Russell Center for the Study of Art of the American West. These resources are combined with the University of Oklahoma's Libraries, including a Fine Arts Library and the Western History Collection that contains numerous archives relating to the history of the American West.

Programs for Excellence

The Charles M. Russell Center for the Study of Art of the American West is dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge in the field of American art history as it relates to the western United States. Through its library, national symposia, Distinguished Lecture Series campus course offerings, archives, and related outreach programs, the Russell Center actively engages students and the public in developing a better understanding of and appreciation for 19th and 20th century Euro-American art.

The OU School of Visual Arts is pleased to offer students the privilege of working with nationally and internationally known artists under the Visiting Artist and Artist-in-Residence programs. Visiting artists come to campus for varying periods offering students and faculty insights into numerous cultures and professional backgrounds.

The OU School of Visual Arts maintains and has created faculty and student exchange programs with international universities and actively participates in the University's Study Abroad Program.

Scholarships and Financial Aid

Several forms of financial aid are available to qualified students. These include scholarships, graduate assistantships, tuition or fee waivers, and work-study support. Scholarships and graduate assistantships are available on a competitive basis.

The OU School of Visual Arts offers the following scholarships and fellowships:

- Frances Weitzenhoffer Memorial Fellowship (graduate students in art history);
- Mvhayv Scholarship (graduate students pursuing a degree in Native American Art History);
- Robert S. and Grayce B. Kerr Fellowship (graduate students pursuing a degree in Native American Art or Art of the American West);

Admission

The OU School of Visual Arts accepts the admission requirements of the University of Oklahoma for incoming freshman and transfer students in the fall semester. Once admitted to the University of Oklahoma, all art majors are admitted under the Bachelor of Arts in Art or Bachelor of Arts in Art History degree programs.

Admission to the Bachelor of Fine Arts in Art degree program (Studio Arts, Art, Technology and Culture, or Visual Communication), is by portfolio review. Students who have taken studio coursework at another institution must meet with an advisor or the Coordinator for Undergraduate Studies to determine if courses can be substituted for program requirements. Information can be found at art.ou.edu.

Laptop Requirement

To ensure that students have adequate access to the software and programs needed for creative and scholarly work, the OU School of Visual Arts requires newly admitted BA & BFA majors in all programs to have an Apple Macbook, MacBook Pro or PC/Windows laptop.

It's highly recommended that your laptop has been acquired within the previous two years of starting our program and meet the specifications below.

Students planning to apply to Visual Communication (DES) must meet the Apple MacBook Pro specifications in order to pursue the degree. The specifications below are not applicable to the DES degree.

1. 2.0 GHz (or better) dual core processor. An Intel i5 or i7 quad core processor is preferred.
2. 8G of RAM memory (minimum). 16G RAM is preferred.
3. High Definition graphics card– Intel HD4000 or NVIDIA GeForce GT650 or better.
4. 512GB+ Hard drive (minimum). A flash storage HD is preferred but not required.

The OU IT Store also has a large selection of new Apple & PC laptops adequate for our programs.

Admission

Master of Arts in Art History

The requirements for admission into the MA program in art history are a bachelor's degree in art history or a related field with a 3.00 cumulative grade point average. Students must submit a letter of intent, three letters of reference, GRE scores and a copy of one or more art history papers to the school electronically along with the internal OU School of Visual Arts application.

The OU application and transcripts should be sent directly to the Office of Admissions & Recruitment. International applicants are required to demonstrate an appropriate mastery of English and submit satisfactory TOEFL scores.

Master of Fine Arts in Art

The requirements for admission to the MFA program normally include: a BFA degree with a 3.00 grade point average (or equivalent credentials), submission of an online portfolio and a letter of intent. Three letters of reference will also be submitted electronically.

The OU application and transcripts should be sent directly to the Office of Admissions & Recruitment. International applicants are required to demonstrate an appropriate mastery of English and submit satisfactory TOEFL scores.

Doctor of Philosophy

The requirements for admission into the Ph.D. program in art history are an appropriately related master's or equivalent graduate degree as well as meeting all of the minimum admission requirements for the University, the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts and the OU School of Visual Arts, including English proficiency scores, GPA and GRE requirements as well as submitting writing samples and letters of recommendation. Writing samples and letters of recommendation should be submitted electronically to the school along with the internal OU School of Visual Arts Ph.D. application. If the master's degree is less than the 36 hours required for the degree, the student will be admitted conditionally until the deficiencies are completed and the student is acceptable to the program.

The OU application and transcripts should be sent directly to the Office of Admissions & Recruitment. International applicants are required to demonstrate an appropriate mastery of English and submit satisfactory TOEFL scores.

1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Consists of topics designated by the instructor in keeping with the student's major program. Covers topics not usually presented in the regular courses.

ARNM 3970 Honors Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Subjects covered vary. Deals with concepts not usually treated in regular courses.

ARNM 3980 Honors Research 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Provides an opportunity for the gifted Honors candidate to work at a special project in the student's field. (F, Sp, Su)

ARNM 3990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and junior standing. May be repeated once with change of content. Independent study may be arranged to study a subject not available through regular course offerings. (F, Sp, Su)

ARNM 4970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: junior standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics or seminar course for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. May include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

ART 1033 Core Studio I: Surface 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; co-requisite: ART 1043. Core Studio I: Surface is a foundation level course that introduces students to a variety of experiences using two-dimensional design and drawing practices. The course will focus on developing conceptual imagery as expressed through the organization of spatial relationships using design elements and principles, visual observation, color relationships,and the investigation of line, perspective, the figure, gesture, and space.(F)

ART 1043 Core Studio II: Space and Time 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; co-requisite: ART 1033. A foundation level course that introduces students to a variety of experiences using interdisciplinary spatial relationships and three-dimensional design practices. The course will focus on developing a keen awareness of space, form, and time via the application of design principles to handmade forms. Students will create artworks through a variety of media investigations to enhance awareness of the interconnections within visual art and design disciplines. The course emphasizes ideation and process, and exploring and exploiting subject matter and media as a means of obtaining individual conceptual goals.(F)

ART 1133 Core III: Technology 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 1033 and ART 1043. Co-requisite: ART 1143. A foundation level course that introduces students to a variety of experience using electronic tools, processes and techniques. The course will focus on image, interactivity, and motion using core concepts & principles. (Sp)

ART 1143 Core IV: Integrated Studio 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; ART 1033 and ART 1043. Co-requisite: ART 1133. Integrated Studio is a foundation level art practice course that introduces students to the broad dialogues driving activity in the world of contemporary art. Students learn to structure their work around core concepts and make practical decisions that propel critical discourse within the context of an art or design practice. (Sp)

ART 2253 Beginning Ceramics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 1033 and ART 1043. Introduction to various hand-building, glazing and firing techniques. Emphasis placed on developing an understanding of working in three dimensions (with clay as the medium), and on interpreting shape by combining surface color and three-dimensional form. Conceptual and critical issues introduced. (F, Sp)

ART 2313 Beginning Drawing 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 1033 and ART 1043. Uses representational drawing to increase observational abilities. Perspective, value, form, texture, proportion and scale are studied using still life, the figure and outside drawing assignments. (Irreg.)

ART 2413 Beginning Painting 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 1033 and ART 1043. The aqueous media used in various approaches to painting problems (processes and concepts); lectures, group criticism and individual instruction assist the student in studying the fundamentals of painting. (Irreg.)

ART 2523 Beginning Sculpture: Figurative 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 1033 and ART 1043. Creating in oil base clay the human skull and a life-size portrait; creating a waste mold and making a plaster cast from it. (Irreg.)

ART 2533 Sculpture: Material, Space, and Process 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; ART 1033 and ART 1043. This course will introduce students to the methods of creating sculptural and designed objects. This includes material exploration, space investigation and digital fabrication technologies associated with object making. Material relationships, craft, scale, and content will be fundamental aspects covered during the semester. Students will be encouraged to formulate elements of self-expression, topical research associated with specific projects, and develop a vocabulary for constructive communication and criticism. (Irreg.)

ART 2743 Beginning Printmaking 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; ART 1033. This course is a formal introduction to the art of printmaking and the disciplines that comprise it. Students learn to create repeatable matrices in various media, including relief, screen,lithography, and intaglio printing. Technical demonstrations combine with lectures to provide students a sense of the materials, tools, and skills involved in printing as well as printmaking's history and the role it has played in our culture. (Irreg.)

ART 2853 Introduction to Photography 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ART 1013, ART 1023, ART 1113, ARTC 1003, ARTC 1103. An introduction to contemporary photographic theory and practice. Instruction will focus on development of the technical, formal, and critical skills central to lens-based imaging, including camera operation, image production and presentation. An examination of the photograph as cultural construct and its relation to our media driven society will also be emphasized. (Irreg.)

ART 2873 Video for the Artist I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 1013, ART 1023, ART 1113, ARTC 1003, ARTC 1103. Emphasis on developing video production and post-production skills. Training exercises in studio and field production, camera work, lighting and sound. Instruction and practice in analog and digital editing. Exploration of digital media. Students will produce a number of short projects. (Irreg.)

ART 2970 Studio Special Topics 1-3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 1033 and ART 1043. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics course for content not currently offered in regular scheduled courses. (Irreg.)

ART 3143 Core III: Integrated Studio 3 Credit Hours

ART 3253 Intermediate Ceramic Design 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2253. Continued exploration of various hand-building, glazing and firing techniques. Primarily low fire processes. Formal issues such as sculptural composition, form and surface development, and the interpretation of function addressed. Emphasis placed on developing a personal language of materials and ideas. Progression through the range of ceramic-making skill sets. Conceptual and critical issues expanded. (F, Sp)

ART 3263 Intermediate Ceramic Processes 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2253. Continued exploration of various hand-building, glazing and firing techniques. Primarily high fire processes. Utilitarian and sculptural concerns, creative problem solving, art making strategies addressed. Emphasis placed on developing a personal language of materials and ideas. Progression through the range of ceramic-making skill sets. Conceptual and critical issues expanded. (F, Sp)

ART 3313 Intermediate Drawing Processes 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2313 or permission of instructor. Intermediate life drawing in various media with use of the human figure as the primary subject. The development of drawing processes and proficiency is stressed. (Irreg.)

ART 3323 Experimental Drawing Practices 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; junior standing; ART 2313. Drawing will be explored as a unique visual language. An emphasis will be placed on experimentation, exploration and the development of a personal drawing practice. (Irreg.)

ART 3413 Intermediate Painting Studio I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; junior standing; ART 2413. Personal painting issues are developed in a variety of media. An emphasis on experimentation, exploration, development of imagery and personal expression. (Irreg.)

ART 3423 Intermediate Painting Studio 2 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; junior standing; ART 2413. Individual painting issues are pursued through an intense exploration of ideas and technical risk taking. Students will develop research methodologies that will influence their visual and conceptual problem solving. (Irreg.)

ART 3440 Mentored Research Experience 3 Credit Hours
0 to 3 hours. Prerequisites: ENGL 1113 or equivalent, and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. For the inquisitive student to apply the scholarly processes of the discipline to a research or creative project under the mentorship of a faculty member. Student and instructor should complete an Undergraduate Research & Creative Projects (URCP) Mentoring Agreement and file it with the URCP office. Not for honors credit. (F, Sp, Su)

ART 3513 Intermediate Sculpture: Contemporary Process 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ART 2513 or ART 2523 or permission of instructor. Examination of metal fabrication, welding, woodworking (construction and carving), and advanced assembly with nontraditional materials. Concerns in the development of formal visual issues, presentation, concept and theory of contemporary sculpture will be emphasized. (Irreg.)

ART 3523 Intermediate Sculpture: Figurative Processes 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2513, 2523 or permission of instructor on a space available basis. Creating a bas-relief and sculpting the human hand and foot in oil based clay; creating a slip cast mold of the bas-relief for water base clay castings. (Irreg.)

ART 3533 Sculpture: Digital Fabrication for Artists and Designers 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; junior standing; ART 2533. Focuses on digital fabrication technologies associated with CAD modeling and vector based digital production. Students will be involved in developing projects that will be constructed using a variety of 3D printing and CNC technologies using plastic, acrylic, metal, wood, and fabrics. Students will be expected to develop a vocabulary of digital production as it relates to contemporary art and design. (Irreg.)

ART 3543 Intermediate Sculpture: Figurative Small Projects 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2513 or 2523 or permission of the instructor. Creating a plaster sculpture(s) with a foam core; students will sculpt several small figurative sculptures from oil based clay. Armatures for smaller sculptures are designed and developed for more complex compositions. (Irreg.)

ART 3563 Sculpture: Functional Design Studio 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; junior standing; ART 2533. Investigate function as a means for creative experience and interaction. This includes furniture design, product development, utilitarian objects, and other associated objects that exist functionally within our environment. Design principles, construction techniques, and craft will be emphasized. Students will employ traditional construction techniques as well as digital fabrication to plan, design and build projects that approach utility from various practical and experimental approaches. (Irreg.)

ART 3743 Intermediate Printmaking I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; junior standing; ART 2743. May be repeated; maximum credit 6 hours. Intensive instruction in rigid matrix print processes including lithography, intaglio, and relief printing. Students explore the relationship between the drawn and printed image and deepen their practical knowledge of both. Instructors place an emphasis on technical and conceptual improvement as well as building consistency in student work. (Irreg.)

ART 3753 Intermediate Printmaking II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 2743. May be repeated; maximum credit 6 hours. Intensive instruction in screen, photo, and technology based print processes including screenprinting, photopolymer plate making, and digitally assisted relief printing. Students work from photographic, technology derived, and hand drawn source materials and explore various means of translating them to print. Instructors place an emphasis on technical and conceptual improvement as well as building consistency in student work. (F, Sp)

ART 3763 Intermediate Printmaking III 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; junior standing; ART 2743. May be repeated; maximum credit 6 hours. Intensive instruction in book arts, letterpress printing, and structural processes that relate to printmaking. Students learn formal techniques in paper manipulation and bookbinding while exploring relationships between content and structure as they relate to artist books and print based sculpture and installation. Instructors place an emphasis on technical and conceptual improvement as well as building consistency in student work. (Irreg.)

ART 3823 Concepts in Electronic Media 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ATC 2823. Consideration of conceptual and aesthetic issues within technological systems, which may include interactive media, immersive virtual environments, experimental games, visualization & simulation, and 3-D object development. Exposure to a variety of possible technical processes as they consider visual strategies regarding the constraints of visual spaces. Topics may include, but are not limited to 3-D modeling, real-time processing, database/ interactive narrative, game play, and strategies for designing objects and environments. A personal laptop is required. (Irreg.)

ART 3853 Intermediate Traditional Photography 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ART 2853 or ATC 2853. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit 6 hours. This course will explore traditional photographic practices. It focuses on the development of concepts in the imagemaking process and explores various means for producing a cohesive body of work. Instructor will determine the content and methodology, but all courses will include refinement of ideas and informed discussion with referential context. Readings and writings will supplement class discussion. Laboratory. (Irreg.)

ART 3863 Intermediate Digital Photography 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ART 2853 or ATC 2853. Explores digital photographic practices. Focus on the development of concepts in the image making process, and explores various means for producing a cohesive body of work. The content and methodology will be determined by the instructor, but all courses will include refinement of ideas and informed discussion with referential context. Readings and writings will supplement class discussion. Laboratory. (Irreg.)

ART 3873 Video for the Artist II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ATC 2873. Continuation of ATC 2873. Introduction to advanced imaging and editing techniques. (F)

ART 3960 Honors Reading 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit six hours. Consists of either reading topics or independent study designated by the instructor in keeping with the student's major program. The topics of study will cover materials not usually presented in the regular courses. (F, Sp)

ART 3970 Honors Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program, junior or senior standing. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit six hours. The projects covered will vary. The content will deal with concepts not usually presented in regular coursework. (Irreg.)

ART 3980 Honors Research 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated with change of subject; maximum credit six hours. Provides an opportunity for the gifted honors candidate to work at a special project in the student's field. (F, Sp)

ART 3990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and junior standing. May be repeated once with change of content. Independent study may be arranged to study a subject not available through regular course offerings. (F, Sp, Su)

ART 4253 Advanced Ceramics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3253, 3263. May be repeated, maximum credit twelve hours. Emphasis on articulating and developing individual projects in ceramics. Students are expected to research materials and techniques pertinent to development and exploration of personal direction of form and ideas. Each student is expected to create a body of work building on prior exploration of color and form in clay and glazes, traditional and/or non-traditional techniques. Emphasis is on students' individual area of interest. (F, Sp)

ART 4263 Ceramic Studio Processes and Procedures Training 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; ART 2253, ART 3253 or ART 3263. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. Loading of kilns along with techniques and schedules for firing gas, electric, salt and raku kilns. Students learn to mix and maintain stoneware, salt, and raku glazes. Additional ceramic techniques may include: technical information for mixing and pouring plaster for molds; ceramic studio design; ceramic glaze calculation; and photographing of ceramic work. A binder, handouts, and notes from this course will provide students with a manual for ceramic studio operation. (Irreg.)

ART 4313 Advanced Drawing Processes 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3313, 3323. Students are directed in the development of a personal portfolio of works representing drawing proficiency and professional maturity. (Irreg.)

ART 4323 Advanced Drawing Concepts 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2313, 2323, 3313, or 3323, 4313. Students are encouraged to refine their portfolio of work representing drawing proficiency and professional maturity. (Irreg.)

ART 4423 Advanced Painting Concepts 3 Credit Hours

ART 4433 Alternative Painting Practices 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; junior standing; ART 2413, ART 3413, ART 3423. May be repeated; maximum credit 6 hours. Advanced-level topics to be determined by department and which may include materials and techniques; landscape painting; figurative painting or related topics. Each option will permit concentration and encourage realization of conceptual goals. (Irreg.)

ART 4513 Advanced Sculpture: Contemporary 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ART 3513 or ART 3533 or permission of instructor. May be repeated twice; maximum credit nine hours. Self-directed research objectives in terms of sculpture technique, process and concept. Progress relating to personal artistic growth and professional discipline will be expected. Emphasis will be placed on producing a unique body of work for portfolio development and exhibition. (Irreg.)

ART 4533 Advanced Sculpture: Figurative I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2513, 3513, 3523. Develop the student's awareness of form through the modeling of the human figure. The students will study the fundamentals of sculpture such as armature, design, materials, tools and techniques. (Irreg.)

ART 4543 Advanced Sculpture: Figurative II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 4533. Continuation of the techniques developed in 4533. Students will explore more complex compositions and armature designs while modeling the human form. There will be more emphasis on human and animal anatomy. Will expand into the study and application of bas-reliefs. (Irreg.)

ART 4573 Monumental Sculpture 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 4543. Students will be introduced to various enlarging techniques, taking a sculpture from the maquette (small version) to life-size or monumental scale. Focus on enlarging with the grid method. Use of a pantograph and the wafer method will also be discussed. Emphasis will be placed on the professional aspects of working with foundries, installations, and clientele. (F)

ART 4743 Advanced Printmaking Studio 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only, junior standing; Art 3743, ART 3753 or ART 3763. May be repeated; maximum credit 6 hours. Offers advanced instruction in all areas of printmaking. Through discussion, lecture, and demonstration, instructors work closely with students to improve their technical and conceptual acuity. Students expand their formal understanding of print processes as they deepen their focus on the concepts that drive their art practice. (Irreg.)

ART 4813 Media Arts Special Topics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3810 or 3873. May be repeated with change of topic; maximum credit twelve hours. Explores various advanced-level topics in production, style and technique. Topics to be determined by department. Individual topics may include but are not limited to animation concepts, documentary, experimental, narrative, digital media, as well as editing, lighting, sound, and other production-related concerns. (F, Sp)

ART 4823 Advanced Art and Technology 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ART 3823. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit 12 hours. Advanced-level topics are determined by department. Individual topics may include, but are not limited to: Interactive Objects and Environment, Experimental Electronics, Sound Synthesis, Virtual Space, and hardware/software/wetware. (Irreg.)

ART 4833 Experimental Art and Technology 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ART 3823. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit 12 hours. Experimental topics determined by department, and may include, but not limited to: Art & Science, Expanded Narrative, Game Art, Critical Play, Tactical Media, Sensory Systems, Networks, Bio-media and Participatory Media. (Irreg.)

ART 4843 Applied Photo Practice 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2853 and 3853. May be repeated; maximum credit 15 hours. Explores various applied and practical topics of photography to be determined by department. Topics may include view camera technique, zone system, photo illustration, studio experience and extended research and presentation of related topics. Each option will permit concentration and encourage realization of conceptual goals. (Irreg.)

ART 4853 Advanced Photo Practices 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2853 and 3853. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit 15 hours. Advanced-level topics to be determined by department and which may include advanced B&W; color; books and portfolios. Extended research and presentation of related topics. Each option will permit concentration and encourage realization of conceptual goals. (Irreg.)

ART 4863 Alternative Photo Practices 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only; ART 2853 or ATC 2853 and ART 3853. May be repeated; maximum credit 15 hours. Topics of historical processes, contemporary explorations, and alternatives to traditional photo methods to be determined by department (nonsilver I and II; process imagery, alternative color, digital imaging, extended research and presentation, etc.). Each method will permit concentration and encourage realization of conceptual goals. (Irreg.)

ART 4913 Ceramics Studio Topics 3 Credit Hours

ART 4916 BFA Senior Studio I 6 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; senior standing; BFA studio majors having completed a minimum of 12 hours of 3000 or 4000 level studio courses and permission of the instructor. The BFA Senior Studio is an immersive experience of art making, creativity, and thinking. This intensive studio experience is focused on studio practice and research related to the artist's discipline. The expectation is that BFA seniors are working towards a professional career and/or the MFA degree. This experience is designed to provide students with critical analysis of the their work with faculty and peers, intensive critique expectations for developing a substantial body of work, and preparation for the MFA degree through critical reading, theory and articulation of written and verbal motivations for the artwork. (F)

ART 4923 Drawing Studio Topics 3 Credit Hours

ART 4926 BFA Senior Studio II 6 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: majors only; senior standing; ART 4916 and permission of the instructor. Co-requisite: ART 4983. The BFA Senior Studio II is a continuation of creative work established in BFA Studio I. Building on their ideas and personal expression, students will refine theoretical and conceptual ideas, expand their research interests, and further develop new work. Students will be challenged to exert professional maturity that will result in a substantial portfolio that presents technical dexterity, creative insight, and well developed subject matter as it relates to medium, process, and content. Co-requisite'd with ART 4983, Capstone, this senior studio is the culminating studio experience to prepare students for participating in the professional marketplace or proceeding into the professional MFA degree. Aside from studio practice and faculty instruction, visiting art professionals will provide feedback and advice during some critique sessions or evaluations. (Sp)

ART 4930 Internship 1-6 Credit Hours
1 to 6 Hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor; majors only. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Students arrange and participate in a professional work experience with an approved internship site. (Irreg.)

ART 4933 Painting Studio Topics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors with junior standing or permission of the instructor. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics course in painting for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. (Irreg.)

ART 4943 Printmaking Studio Topics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors with junior standing or permission of the instructor. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics course in printmaking for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. (Irreg.)

ART 4953 Sculpture Studio Topics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors with junior standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics course in sculpture for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. (Irreg.)

ART 4960 Directed Readings 1-4 Credit Hours

ART 4963 Photography Studio Topics 3 Credit Hours

ART 4970 Special Topics 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: majors with junior standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics course for content not currently offered in regular scheduled courses. (Irreg.)

ART 4973 Film and Video Studio Topics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors with junior standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated with change of subject matter; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics course in film and video for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. (Irreg.)

ART 4983 Senior Capstone Experience 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: senior classification. May not be repeated for credit. Primary objective is to provide a culminating experience for the senior-year student. Satisfies the University-wide General Education Requirement for a capstone course for art majors. [V] .

ART 4990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: junior standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Contracted independent study for a topic not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. Independent study may include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. Title is variable only to reflect specific discipline area within the School of Art. (Irreg.)

ART 5013 Graduate Studio Ceramics I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the ceramics studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5033 Graduate Studio Painting I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the painting studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5043 Graduate Studio Printmaking I 3 Credit Hours
Graduate Studio Printmaking I. Prerequisite: Graduate Standing In Art Individual Problems In The Printmaking Studio Area (Irreg)

ART 5053 Graduate Studio Sculpture I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the sculpture studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5063 Graduate Studio Photography I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the photography studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5073 Graduate Studio Film/Video I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the film/video studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5113 Graduate Studio Ceramics II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the ceramics studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5133 Graduate Studio Painting II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the painting studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5143 Graduate Studio Printmaking II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the printmaking studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5153 Graduate Studio Sculpture II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the sculpture studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5163 Graduate Studio Photography II 3 Credit Hours

ART 5173 Graduate Studio Film/Video II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the film/video studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5213 Graduate Studio Ceramics III 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the ceramics studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5233 Graduate Student Painting III 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the painting studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5243 Graduate Studio Printmaking III 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the printmaking studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5253 Graduate Studio Sculpture III 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the sculpture studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5263 Graduate Studio Photography III 3 Credit Hours

ART 5273 Graduate Studio Film/Video III 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the film/video studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5313 Graduate Studio Ceramics IV 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the ceramics studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5333 Graduate Studio Painting IV 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the painting studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5343 Graduate Studio Printmaking IV 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the printmaking studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5353 Graduate Studio Sculpture IV 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the sculpture studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5363 Graduate Studio Photography IV 3 Credit Hours

ART 5373 Graduate Studio Film/Video IV 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the film/video studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5413 Graduate Studio Ceramics V 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the ceramics studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5433 Graduate Studio Painting V 3 Credit Hours

ART 5443 Graduate Studio Printmaking V 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the printmaking studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5453 Graduate Studio Sculpture V 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the sculpture studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5463 Graduate Studio Photography V 3 Credit Hours

ART 5473 Graduate Studio Film/Video V 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the film/video studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5513 Graduate Studio Ceramics VI 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the ceramics studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5533 Graduate Studio Painting VI 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the painting studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5543 Graduate Studio Printmaking VI 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the printmaking studio area. (Irreg.)

ART 5553 Graduate Studio Sculpture VI 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Art. Individual problems in the sculpture studio area. (Irreg.)

ATC 3843 3D Modeling for Computer Animation 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only. Online intensive digital studio course covers beginning to advanced 3D modeling techniques in industry-standard animation software. Course content includes video tutorials, online discussion forums, projects, and critical feedback. Topics may include using curves, polygon modeling, material shaders, 3D sculpting, texturing, lighting and rendering. (Irreg.)

ATC 3883 2D Computer Animation 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ATC 2823, or ATC 2873 or permission of instructor. Introduction to computer animation as an art form. Course content includes technical tutorials, screenings, projects, and critiques. Topics may include stop motion, 2D animation, 3D animation, abstract motion graphics, effects, character design, and narrative and/or experimental approaches. A personal laptop is required. (Irreg.)

ATC 3893 Experimental Animation 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ATC 2823 or permission of instructor. Advanced studio course covers abstract and experimental approaches to animation as an art form. Course content includes technical tutorials, screenings, projects, and critiques. Topics may include advanced motion graphics, dynamics simulation, motion capture, and procedural animation. A personal laptop is required. (Irreg.)

ATC 4863 BFA Studio 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: Majors only; ATC 2823, ATC 2853, and ATC 2873; admission to ATC major. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit 12 hours. In this course, students develop research techniques in support of their studio practice. Seemingly diverse concentrations(for example: photography, performance, and robotics) synthesize with a common intent to investigate and communicate ideas. Students are exposed to experiences involving professional practices,including critical critique, proposed solutions and examinations of problems, public speaking/discourse, writing about art, and the formal presentation of artworks. Students' effort are concentrated through the series of Studio/Seminar courses that culminate in the public presentation of their thesis.(Irreg.)

ATC 4883 Narrative Animation 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ATC 3843 or ATC 3883 or ATC 3893 or permission of instructor. Advanced studio course covers narrative and cinematic approaches to animation as an art form. Course content includes technical tutorials, screenings, projects, and critiques. Topics may include storyboarding, character design, rigging, sound design, motion capture, dynamics, and advanced rendering techniques. A personal laptop is required. (Irreg.)

ATC 4893 Expanded Animation 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ATC 3843 or ATC 3893 or permission of instructor. Advanced studio course exploring special topics in animation which may include virtual reality, augmented reality, motion tracking, motion capture, projection mapping, and immersive media installation. A personal laptop is required. (Irreg.)

DES 2633 Visual Communication I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; ART 1033, ART 1043; corequisite: DES 2643. Introductory course in visual communication which focuses on nonverbal communication. Students are introduced to design research, theory and methods. This course explores the importance design plays in shaping meaning and interpretation through basic visual interaction. (F)

DES 2643 Design Technology 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: majors only, ART 1033, ART 1043, ART 1133, and ART 1143; corequisite: DES 2633. Introduction to electronic tools, processes and techniques as they relate to visual communications. (F)

DES 2653 Visual Communication II 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; DES 2633, DES 2643; corequisite: DES 2663. Course is structured to help students apply various strategies, concepts, and form/content relationships to their work. Projects stress theory, application and an introduction to the computer as a design process tool. (Sp)

DES 2663 Typography I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only; DES 2633, DES 2643; corequisite: DES 2653. Introduction to the basic concepts of typographic design through studio projects, critiques and lectures. (F, Sp)

DES 2970 Special Topics 1-3 Credit Hours

Art, Minor

Program Code: N065

The requirements for a minor must be completed concurrently with the major degree requirements.

No minor may be added by completing courses after receiving the bachelor's degree.

See form available in Fine Arts Dean's office:

- Complete 2 copies of this form, and have both copies approved by an Art Faculty advisor.
- Take one copy to the OU School of Visual Arts office, Fred Jones Center, Rm. 202.
- Take one copy to the Office of the Dean, Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts FJC122.
- An Art faculty member selected by the student should serve as an advisor regarding course selection for the Art Minor degree.

No single course may be used by a student to satisfy a major requirement and a minor requirement.

A minimum of 9 hours must be upper division studio courses.

A maximum of 6 hours of transfer credit may be applied to the Art minor.

- Students must achieve a minimum 2.50 GPA (OU and overall) in the minor coursework.

Required Courses

Art History, M.A.

Minimum Total Hours (Thesis): 36

Program Code: M070

Required Courses

Candidates for the MA in Art History must pass a reading proficiency exam in either French or German before filing the Admission to Candidacy form with the Graduate College.

In certain specially advised cases, another language may be substituted for French or German, or grades of A in the two semesters of German for Reading or French for Reading (FR 1013 and FR 1023), or equivalent reading course in the approved substituted foreign language may be accepted as satisfying the language proficiency requirement with approval of each member of the student's thesis committee. The foreign language proficiency exam may be administered by OU, or the student can pass the Princeton foreign language proficiency exam or another exam approved by the Art History faculty.

[1] Although many students will wish to take all of their required hours in art history courses, and all students will be required to take a minimum of 21 hours in art history, some students may wish to take a minor in another area, especially if this area contributes to their desired thesis topic. The following fields are often considered suitable minor areas for graduate art history students: history, literature (in any language), philosophy, anthropology, sociology, history of music, history of drama and women's studies. Studio art is not an option. A student should consult with his or her thesis advisor about the suitability of a proposed minor. Those students who have not majored in art history at the undergraduate level will often be advised not only to take all of their coursework in art history, but to take an additional course or two in art history to present the strongest possible transcript upon graduation.

General Requirements for all Master's Degrees

The master's degree requires the equivalent of at least two semesters of satisfactory graduate work and additional work as may be prescribed for the degree.

All coursework applied to the master's degree must carry graduate credit.

Master's degree programs which require a thesis consist of at least 30 credit hours. All non-thesis master's degree programs require at least 32 credit hours.

Credit transferred from other institutions must meet specific criteria and is subject to certain limitations.

Courses completed through correspondence study may not be applied to the master's degree.

To qualify for a graduate degree, students must achieve an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the degree program coursework and in all resident graduate coursework attempted. A student must also have at least a 3.0 in all coursework (including undergraduate coursework if any).

Additional information for master's degree students may be found in the Graduate College Bulletin.

A student should expect to spend at least the equivalent of three full academic years beyond the bachelor's degree to obtain the doctoral degree. During this period the student will take appropriate graduate coursework, successfully complete the general examination, and successfully defend and submit the final dissertation.

All coursework applied to the doctoral degree must carry graduate credit.

The doctoral degree requires at least 90 post-baccalaureate hours, including both formal coursework and hours of research.

The minimum hour requirement for a specific doctoral degree program cannot be waived.

No more than one-half of the credit hours, both OU and overall, excluding Research for Doctoral Dissertation (6980), may be S/U-graded coursework.

The student must be in residence at OU for at least two consecutive 16-week semesters during the pursuit of the doctoral degree while enrolled and engaged in coursework or research activities as prescribed by the major academic unit.

For more detailed regulations and requirements for Doctoral degrees, please consult the Graduate College Bulletin: http://www.ou.edu/gradcollege/forms/bulletin

General Requirements for Doctoral Degrees

A student should expect to spend at least the equivalent of three full academic years beyond the bachelor's degree to obtain the doctoral degree. During this period the student will take appropriate graduate coursework, successfully complete the general examination, and successfully defend and submit the final dissertation.

All coursework applied to the doctoral degree must carry graduate credit.

The doctoral degree requires at least 90 post-baccalaureate hours, including both formal coursework and hours of research.

The minimum hour requirement for a specific doctoral degree program cannot be waived.

No more than one-half of the credit hours, both OU and overall, excluding Research for Doctoral Dissertation (6980), may be S/U-graded coursework.

The student must be in residence at OU for at least two consecutive 16-week semesters during the pursuit of the doctoral degree while enrolled and engaged in coursework or research activities as prescribed by the major academic unit.

For more detailed regulations and requirements for Doctoral degrees, please consult the Graduate College Bulletin: http://www.ou.edu/gradcollege/forms/bulletin

Native American Art, Ph.D.

Program Code: D071

Program Requirements

Reading proficiency in French, German or Spanish will be required as well as proficiency in native languages appropriate to specific dissertation topics. This proficiency may be met as part of the MA degree.

Students must take a minimum of 28 hours of Art History courses beyond the master's, 15 of which must be at the 6000 level. Students may supplement those courses with approved electives in History, Anthropology, Literature, Music, Native American Studies, or other areas appropriate to their studies and integrated dissertation topic.

General Information

The Graduate College is the center of advanced study, research, and creative activity at the university. Graduate instruction has been offered at the University of Oklahoma since 1899, seven years after the university opened its doors. The first master's degree was conferred in 1900 to C. Ross Hume. The Graduate School was formally organized in 1909, and in 1929, the first doctoral degree was awarded to Dr. Mary Jane Brown. In 1942, the name was changed to the Graduate College.

Authority and Responsibility of the Graduate College

The goal of the Graduate College is to guide, support and enhance the educational experience of every graduate student at OU. The Graduate Council and the Dean of the Graduate College supervise and evaluate the academic units of the university that offer master's and doctoral degrees to ensure quality, observance of policy, and academic excellence in all areas of advanced study.

The Graduate College strives to develop in each student a firm grasp of a chosen field, the skills and methods of research, and the capacity for independent thought. The Graduate College carefully monitors the performance of all graduate students. Final determination of a student's graduate status, from admission through graduation, rests with the Dean of the Graduate College.

Faculty and students share an obligation to master the knowledge of their chosen fields, to add to that knowledge, and to present it to the scholarly community. The Graduate Faculty has responsibility for instruction, for the guidance of graduate students in the development of their programs, and for pursuing investigations associated with a particular field or discipline. Graduate students are expected to demonstrate initiative and assume responsibility for the progress of their studies. Students must master a body of knowledge, and class work merely provides the foundation for wider personal inquiry. A graduate degree is conferred for mastery of a field and thorough understanding of its related branches.

For complete information about the Graduate College, graduate degree and certificate programs, and policies governing graduate study at the University of Oklahoma, review the Graduate College Bulletin.

Programs & Facilities

FELLOWSHIPS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

Private donations have enabled the Graduate College to provide fellowships and scholarships in many areas. Additional programs seek to reward and encourage scholars conducting and presenting original scholarship at the highest levels. Dissertation Awards and Graduate Teaching Assistant Awards are given to reward excellence in dissertation research and teaching, respectively. In addition, the annual Three Minute Thesis competition (3MT®) challenges students to communicate the significance of their research to a general audience in just three minutes. Cash prizes are awarded, and the finalists' presentations are featured on the Graduate College website. For more information on these programs and others that may be available, visit the Graduate College website.

Funding and Awards

The Graduate College provides funding opportunities for students who present at a conference, conduct research, or attend a prestigious training or class not offered at OU. They also manage tuition waivers for graduate research and teaching assistants.

Graduate Student Life (GSL) Center and Programs

The GSL Center is a comfortable place for graduate students to work, relax, and reset. All graduate students have the opportunity to attend GSL's social, academic, and professional development events and make valuable connections with colleagues from other disciplines across campus.

English Training and Certification Services (ETCS)

ETCS offers standardized testing services to certify the appropriate English capacity for international graduate students to serve in instructional positions at OU. ETCS also provides support and training opportunities for first-time English certification, to obtain a higher level of certification, or to assist with English communication difficulties in a current appointment.

Research Programs

Research is a critical dimension of the mission of the University of Oklahoma. It is vital to the growth, health, and progress of the state of Oklahoma, the region and the nation. In fiscal year 2017 more than $97.7 million in new research grants and contracts were awarded to Norman campus researchers. Additionally, OU research staff received more than 900 active awards.

Participation in research and creative activity projects is fundamental to a graduate student's training and development. Various projects that support graduate students are conducted in all graduate programs offered at the university. Information about current research projects is available from each academic department.

Graduate students who are unsure of the norms in their department for identifying research themes and faculty advisors are encouraged to contact the graduate liaison in their academic unit for guidance on how to proceed.

Use of Human Subjects in Research

All research involving human subjects or the use of data generated via human subjects research performed by faculty, staff or students at the University of Oklahoma Norman or Tulsa campus or at Cameron University, which will result in publication or presentation, must be reviewed and approved by the University of Oklahoma-Norman Campus Institutional Review Board (OU-NC IRB) prior to subject recruitment and data collection. The primary role of the OU-NC IRB is to determine if the rights and welfare of human subjects who volunteer to participate in research studies are adequately protected and to ensure that adequate informed consent procedures are used. The University of Oklahoma Norman campus policy for the protection of human subjects in research activities and IRB application materials can be accessed at the OU IRB website.

If you have questions about compliance or the IRB approval process, contact the Office of Human Research Participant Protection at (405) 325-8110 or email irb@ou.edu.

Use of Vertebrate Animals in Research

All research performed on live vertebrate animals or teaching that uses live vertebrates must be described for review and approval by the University of Oklahoma - Norman Campus Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (OU-NC IACUC) prior to obtaining animals and data collection. The primary role of the IACUC is to ensure compliance with the U.S. Animal Welfare Act and Amendments and to ensure that animals receive humane care during procedures in accordance with federal regulations of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the Office of Laboratory Animal Welfare of the Public Health Service (OLAW/PHS).

If you have questions on the IACUC review process, contact the Office of Laboratory Animal Resources (405) 325-2609 or visit the OU IACUC website.

Intellectual Property Policy

The University of Oklahoma Intellectual Property Policy governs the ownership of certain inventions made by university students, staff and/or faculty members. The policy provides, in part, that all discoveries and/or inventions, patentable or not patentable, which are made or conceived of while the inventor is a student at the university with substantial use of university facilities not normally made available to students, or are made with funds provided by or through the university (including research funds), are the property of the university. The policy protects and offers substantial benefits to the inventor, while simultaneously protecting the university's interests in the invention. Students and faculty members are expected to be familiar with their rights and obligations under the University Intellectual Property Policy and to promptly report any inventions as outlined in the policy. The policy may be viewed online in section 3.29 of the Faculty Handbook.

Be aware that the University Intellectual Property Policy is subject to revision at any time. Students who make an invention or discovery that is covered under the stated conditions should contact the Office of Technology Commercialization at (405) 325-3800 or via email at otc@ou.edu.

EMBARGO POLICY THESES AND DISSERTATIONS

The University of Oklahoma Graduate College is committed to making research available to the broadest possible community. Open access to research supports the values of learning, teaching and peer review essential to our academic standing and integrity; it allows scholars to disseminate their work to the widest audience; and it supports the discovery and advancement of knowledge for all. Therefore, University of Oklahoma theses and dissertations are presented at open oral defenses, made locally accessible in print form on our library shelves, made globally accessible in digital form in the SHAREOK Repository.

However, in some situations and some disciplines, it may be advisable to delay immediate access to a thesis or dissertation. Upon request, the Graduate College will approve embargo of a thesis or dissertation for a limited period, provided good cause is demonstrated. An embargo postpones the date on which a thesis or dissertation will become broadly accessible. However, an embargo does not waive the final submission requirement—a student who receives approval for an embargo will still need to submit the final thesis or dissertation in order to fulfill graduate degree requirements, in accordance with the policies in the Graduate College Bulletin.

Alternatives should be considered, such as embargoing only those portions of the work that may be published elsewhere. Theses and dissertations may not contain material that requires permanent restriction.

Because the landscape of open access publication is rapidly changing, the Graduate College will revisit its embargo policy periodically.

Requesting an Individual Embargo

A student should discuss any potential need for an embargo with their committee as early as possible in the research process. If it is determined that an embargo is necessary, the committee chair should prepare a written request. The request should be endorsed by the student and graduate liaison and submitted to the Graduate College with the Request for Authority for Thesis Defense form or Request for Authority for Dissertation Defense form. The request should specify the length of embargo being requested and the justification for the embargo. Relevant supporting documentation may be attached. The Graduate College will notify the student and academic unit via OU email once a decision has been made concerning the embargo request. An initial request for embargo may be approved for any length of time up to three (3) years. An approved embargo will begin on the date that the student submits the final thesis or dissertation.

Requesting a Departmental Embargo

In some disciplines, open access publication is not yet the norm. Many or most of the graduate students in these disciplines may require an embargo. Therefore, the chair or director of an academic unit may petition the Graduate College to pre-approve a specified embargo period for digital versions of theses or dissertations produced within that academic unit.

For more detailed information, review the complete embargo policy in the Graduate College Bulletin.

GRADUATE STUDENT TRAVEL FOR ACADEMIC PURPOSES

Graduate students who will travel overseas under certain conditions must register the travel with OU. For more detailed information, review the complete graduate student travel policy in the Graduate College Bulletin.

GRADUATE ASSISTANT INTEGRITY

Graduate assistants make a vital contribution to the university at every level. As teaching and research assistants, they carry on the highest levels of intellectual inquiry; as professionals in training, they connect the university to the community and the world. In these roles, graduate assistants represent not only the student body but the university as whole. Therefore, the university expects graduate assistants to conduct themselves with the highest standards of judgment and behavior in every area.

As instructors, graduate assistants follow all university policies concerning instruction. They demonstrate respect for students as individuals and adhere to their proper roles as intellectual guides and counselors. They make every reasonable effort to foster honest academic conduct and to ensure that their evaluations of students reflect each student's true merit. They respect the confidential nature of the relationship between instructor and student. They avoid any exploitation, harassment or discriminatory treatment of students. Graduate assistants will not receive payment from students for tutoring or help sessions in any course in which they are currently assigned as an instructor, and they will accept the judgment of their department as to other limitations on such activities.

As researchers, graduate assistants have a responsibility to ensure the integrity and ethical standards in any research activity in which they are engaged. Graduate assistants will not engage in research misconduct and will notify a responsible party if they become aware of research misconduct by others.

As professionals in training, graduate assistants have a professional obligation to their colleagues and to the university. They show due respect and civility to their associates. They understand that any other employment or enterprise in which they engage for income is secondary to their university duties, and they accept the judgment of their department regarding conflicts of interest, either real or apparent, that may be caused by such outside activities.

Courses

GRAD 5000 Concurrent Students at OUHSC 0 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing. OU students concurrently enrolled at OUHSC. (F, Sp, Su)

GRAD 5003 Oklahoma Scholar-Leadership Enrichment Program Graduate Seminar 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit 12 hours. An interdisciplinary seminar variable in content changing with each seminar. Seminars are led by prominent national and international scholars and leaders coordinated with a current faculty member in their area of expertise. Emphasis is on enrichment and exploration with scholars to investigate ideas and issues affecting the future of humanity. (F, Sp)

GRAD 5103 Interdisciplinary EOS3 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate Standing. Earth Observation Science for Society and Sustainability (EOS3) is an interdisciplinary certificate program consisting of a four-course certificate (Interdisciplinary EOS3, EOS3 Data Analytics, EOS3 Interface, and EOS3 Practicum) designed to provide students with advanced training in interdisciplinary communication, leadership, and data science skills. This course serves as the introduction to Interdisciplinary EOS3 and the processes by which effective science team are formed and become productive. Students will gain experience in working with interdisciplinary teams to leverage their disciplinary expertise and work with those with other expertise to address societal concerns. (F)

GRAD 5203 EOS3 Data Analytics 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing. Focuses on using large, open-source civil Earth observation and other geospatial data. Introduces students to various open-source data tools for acquiring, managing, and analyzing large public data sets. Students will work in interdisciplinary teams to fuse disparate data and conduct analyses that meld ideas from natural and social science disciplines. The student teams will be comprised of members with varied skill sets to establish a culture of collaborative teaching and learning. (F)

GRAD 5303 EOS3 Interface 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing. EOS3 Interface focuses on interdisciplinary communication, the application of group communication theories to team science, and the communication of science across societal and cultural gaps. Theory, scholarship, and applications of group and organizational communication will be discussed within this context. In addition, the course will cover how socio-cultural differences affect communication, with a focus on how those affect the communication of scientific and technical information across disciplines and to the lay public and policymakers. (Sp)

GRAD 5403 EOS3 Practicum 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing. The EOS3 practicum is the culminate of the certificate program and will allow students to apply what they have learned in their previous coursework while working as part of a collaborative and interdisciplinary team tasked with addressing real world research topics relating to the EOS3 theme. (Sp)

GRAD 5940 Professional Master's Practicum/Internship 1-5 Credit Hours
1 to 5 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of instructor. May be repeated once; maximum credit five hours. Provides a practicum or internship experience for students in the professional master's degree program. The students will apply the knowledge from their core academic discipline (e.g. science, engineering, education, fine arts) in an appropriate supervised professional setting (e.g. business, public administration, international programs) to provide a valid experience related to the core discipline and career context of their professional masters degree. The internship/practicum will serve as the culminating experience for the degree. (F, Sp, Su)

GRAD 5980 Research for Master's Thesis 2-9 Credit Hours
Variable enrollment, two to nine hours; maximum credit applicable toward degree, four hours. (F, Sp, Su)

GRAD 5990 Graduate Special Topics 1-4 Credit Hours
1 to 4 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of instructor. May be repeated with change of topic; maximum credit twelve hours. Selected topics in graduate areas not usually covered in traditional courses. For any particular section there may be additional prerequisites required. (F, Sp, Su.

GRAD 6980 Research for Doctoral Dissertation 2-16 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of instructor or Graduate College. May be repeated; Maximum credit twelve hours. (F, Sp, Su)

GRAD 6990 Graduate Advanced Special Topics 1-4 Credit Hours
1 to 4 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of instructor. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit twelve hours. Selected advanced topics in graduate areas not usually covered in traditional courses. For any particular section there may be additional prerequisites required. (F, Sp, Su)

Earth Observation Science for Society and Sustainability, Graduate Certificate

Program Code: G035

Earth Observation Science for Society and Sustainability (EOS3) is an interdisciplinary graduate certificate program consisting of a four course sequence. The certificate will emphasize integration of natural and social sciences approaches to data exploration and visualization while building student competency in interdisciplinary team leadership and communication.

A graduate certificate is not a graduate degree. A graduate degree represents a program of independent inquiry beyond the depth of coursework alone, while a graduate certificate represents a set of courses only.

- All courses must be taken at OU. No transfer credit will apply.
- No course substitutions are permitted for graduate certificates.
- Coursework applied to a graduate certificate cannot be more than five years old as of the semester the graduate certificate is awarded.
- Students must earn a grade point average of 3.00 or higher on all coursework applied to the graduate certificate.

General Information

An internationally prominent faculty, state-of-the-art facilities and new technology combine to make the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center a leader in education, research and patient care.

As one of only four comprehensive academic health centers in the nation with seven professional schools, the OU Health Sciences Center serves approximately 4,000 students on the Oklahoma City and Tulsa campuses as well as locations throughout the state. The OU Health Sciences Center serves as the state's training facility for physicians, biomedical scientists, nurses, dentists, pharmacists, and a wide range of allied health and public health professionals. The center is composed of the College of Allied Health, College of Dentistry, College of Medicine, College of Nursing, College of Pharmacy, College of Public Health and Graduate College.

Located one mile south of the State Capitol, the OU Health Sciences Center is the cornerstone of the 275-acre Oklahoma Health Center, a complex of 19 public and private health care institutions. Students and residents receive clinical training at on-site institutions, including University Hospital, Children's Hospital of Oklahoma, Presbyterian Hospital, Dean A. McGee Eye Institute, Veterans Affairs Medical Center, Oklahoma State Department of Health, Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation and other affiliated hospitals and clinics in Oklahoma City and throughout the state.

General Information

The Honors College curriculum at the University of Oklahoma provides academically talented students with the opportunity to develop their intellectual potential to the fullest. The Honors College has its own faculty but also draws from the best research and teaching faculty from all undergraduate colleges of the University to offer an enhanced curriculum at both the lower and upper divisions. Students can enroll in the small sections (generally 19-22) of honors-designated general education courses, interdisciplinary Honors classes developed by the Honors faculty, team-taught colloquia, the Oxford University summer program, and independent study and research with faculty in the student's major discipline. The Honors College also encourages active participation in OU's Education Abroad program, the Oklahoma Scholar-Leadership Enrichment Program seminars taught by nationally recognized scholars, and the Feaver-MacMinn Seminar.

The Honors College does not confer a degree. It confers the cum laude designation upon graduation. Students in the Honors College can major in any of the academic disciplines offering undergraduate bachelor's degrees at the University of Oklahoma. Those who complete the Honors College curricular requirements and achieve a final cumulative grade point average of 3.40 or higher will earn a degree designation of either cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude. This is the most prestigious undergraduate degree designation attainable at the University and is indicated on both the final transcript and the diploma.

The Honors College also administers a talent-based academic scholarship program for direct-from-high school freshmen, the OU Scholars Program. Qualified applicants are awarded one of five levels of scholarships: Regents Scholar, Award of Excellence, Distinguished Scholar, Valedictorian/Salutatorian Scholar, and University Scholar.

Programs Offered

- Medical Humanities, Minor (p. 1381)

Programs & Facilities

Medical Humanities Scholars Program

The Medical Humanities Scholars Program is a highly selective, sequential BA-MD program that prepares 5-8 incoming high school seniors per year for a career in medicine through an enhanced pre-medical curriculum (MH Minor) that includes extensive coursework in history, literature, fine arts, philosophy, ethics, sociology, anthropology, economics, spirituality, and politics as they relate to health, disease, and the practice of medicine. MH Scholars are expected to develop proficiency in foreign spoken language. Students also engage in service learning and clinical experiences to develop an appreciation for the biopsychosocial dimensions of health and healing. Upon admission into the program, students receive provisional acceptance at the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine, contingent upon their GPA and MCAT scores.

Informal Reading Groups

Each semester, the Honors College sponsors a program of informal reading groups. The groups meet just one hour per week, with 10-15 students and one faculty member from the Honors College, to discuss about 50 pages of reading from specific books. The books cover a very wide range of topics, and most have been recommended by Honors students. To participate, the only commitment is that each student makes a good-faith effort to do the reading and come to the group meeting as often as possible, with the understanding there may be one or two weeks when students need to do other things. This is a great chance to meet other Honors students with similar interests. The goals of the program can be summarized as "maximum information and enjoyment, with zero stress."

Presidential Teaching Fellows in Honors

Presidential Teaching Fellows in Honors are those faculty members who excel in all their professional activities and who relate those activities to the students they teach and mentor. OU faculty who have a demonstrated record as excellent teachers are selected to teach courses in the Honors College for a period of two years.

Honors at Oxford

Honors students have the opportunity to spend a summer studying at one of the world's premier universities. Students begin their studies in Norman and then travel to England, completing the class at Brasenose College, Oxford University. Unlike most American programs at Oxford, our students work in tutorials with distinguished Oxford professors, the traditional teaching format at Oxford and Cambridge for centuries.

Integrated Living-Learning Environment

David L. Boren House is a housing option for Honors students. The academic offices for the Honors College and the OU Scholars Program are housed in this residence hall. Faculty offices, seminar rooms, study areas, a computer lab, TV rooms, and a courtyard are also a part of the facility. Non-Honors students can contract to live in this residence hall.

Honors Student Association

All Honors students are members of the Honors Student Association (HSA). The HSA is an official student organization at OU. As such, it receives funds from the University of Oklahoma Student Association to sponsor projects of interest to honors students and to the University community at large.

Undergraduate Research Opportunities Program (UROP)

The Undergraduate Research Opportunities Program (UROP) offers financial assistance for scholarly and creative projects under the mentorship of a faculty member. Dozens of research projects are funded each year in support of ambitious and exciting research endeavors. This competitive program is open to all University of Oklahoma main campus and Health Science Center students who apply for grants of up to $1,000 each term. Students and faculty from across the University discover the benefits of hands-on research opportunities in laboratories, studios, libraries, and field sites. UROP recipients present the results of their research or accounts of their work in progress at the Honors College's Undergraduate Research Day, a professional-like conference held in the spring of each year. Contact Jeff Cooper at jdcooper@ou.edu or Dr. Rich Hamerla at rhamerla@ou.edu with questions.

Undergraduate Research Day (URD)

Undergraduate Research Day (URD) is a blue-ribbon event held every Spring. The Honors College hosts and celebrates students who were funded in their research or creative activities by the Undergraduate Research Opportunities Program, and students in general who want to show what they have discovered and produced in their academic endeavors. The Honors College invites all undergraduates at accredited institutions to apply. Participants will be part of a panel of 4-6 students with whom they'll present their research to an audience to an audience of their peers, faculty, and parents. These presentations may be PowerPoint, videos, posters, or performances. Topics can include the arts, natural sciences, life sciences, business, engineering, social sciences, critical studies in ancient or modern literature, and the humanities. Prose and poetry submissions and other forms of creative activity are also encouraged. Contact Jeff Cooper at 405-325-8692 or jdcooper@ou.edu or Dr. Melanie Wright at 405-325-9428 or mwright@ou.edu for more information.

Honors Research Assistant Program (HRAP)

The Honors Research Assistant Program provides Honors students the opportunity to work with professors as research assistants on specific projects the professor is studying. Participants are expected to work for ten hours a week for ten weeks for $900.00. Honors College students with at least 15 hours of college credit and a 3.4+ GPA are eligible to apply. We accept applications for this program at the beginning of the Fall and Spring terms. Applicants are considered until all positions are filled. Contact Jeff Cooper at jdcooper@ou.edu, 325-8692 with questions.

Honors Undergraduate Research Journal (THURJ)

The Honors Undergraduate Research Journal (THURJ) is an annual publication that celebrates undergraduate research in all academic disciplines. Each Spring, THURJ publishes the best Honors College papers from the previous year. An Editorial Board of student peers evaluates submissions using a blind review process, choosing between 8-12 papers for publication. All published authors also receive a $100 prize.

Students interested in serving on the THURJ editorial board should look for announcements in August and September about the application deadline.

Students interested in submitting a paper to THURJ should look for publicized announcements in December and January for the submission deadline.

For more information contact: Mr. Will O'Donnell, willodonnell03@ou.edu.

First Year Research Experience (FYRE)

In partnership with the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry, the Honors College offers an opportunity for first-year Honors students to participate in laboratory research each Spring. This course, the Honors First-Year Research Experience (FYRE), is open to Honors College students from all majors, although admittance is competitive. Besides working along side professors and graduate students in actual laboratories, you'll receive three hours of credit in Honors for successfully completing the course. Application deadlines depend on Spring enrollment, which actually occurs in the Fall term. Contact the College or Dr. Rich Hamerla at rhamerla@ou.edu with questions.

National Fellowships and Scholarships

The Honors College maintains complete application information and works with outstanding undergraduates in their quest for Rhodes Scholarships, Marshall Scholarships, Goldwater Scholarships, Truman Scholarships, Gates Cambridge Scholarships, Rotary Scholarships, and other prestigious awards.For more information, contact the Honors College, 1300 Asp Ave., (405) 325-5291.

The OU Scholars Program at the McClendon Honors College is the largest source of academic scholarship funding for direct-from-high school freshmen entering the University of Oklahoma. Qualified applicants are awarded one of five levels of scholarship ranging from one year to four year awards based upon both a standardized test score (ACT or SAT) and high school performance (as measured by either the unweighted high school grade point average or high school class ranking) criterion. Scholars receive the scholarship in the form of a resident or non-resident tuition waiver based upon the student's residency status. The program provides a unique combination of services to facilitate first-year Scholars' successful transition into the OU community. The academic advising of Scholars at the University of Oklahoma is conducted by a team of professional advisors during Scholars Enrollment as well as during the fall and spring semesters of the students' freshman year.

Scholars Advising Program

The academic advising of OU, National Merit and National Award Scholars is conducted by the OU Scholars Program advising staff of six professional advisors during the freshman year. Scholars who have declared an Allied Health pre-professional major will be advised in the OU Scholars Program until they transfer to the OU Health Sciences Center or change their major.

The academic advisors for Scholars are interested in the overall welfare of each student they advise. They understand the concerns of academically-talented students and the various issues involved in advising and counseling those students. Scholars meet with their advisor to plan their course work and obtain information about such things as scholarships, degree requirements, registration procedures, and University policies. The advisor is also available to assist students with major exploration, study skills, time management, stress management, and coping with personal crises that may arise as they adjust to college life.

Scholars Enrollment Program

The OU Scholars staff conducts a Scholars Enrollment Program at David L. Boren Hall during the months of May through July to fit the specialized needs of Scholars. Students will have the option of attending a one-day program at which time they will be individually assessed, advised, and enrolled. Students who wish to advise and enroll remotely will be able to schedule a phone appointment option. The program is informal, highly interactive and serves to introduce Scholars and their parents to the University community.

Scholars Orientation

All OU Scholars participate in an orientation session held on the weekend prior to the start of classes in August. Presented by Christina Norman, OU Scholars Program Director, the sessions are designed to assist Scholars in making a successful transition from high school to college. Students learn techniques and strategies for managing time, dealing with stress, and problem solving in a new environment. Critical behaviors of successful students and campus resources are highlighted. The workshop is interactive and participatory, including lectures, discussions and exercises.

Scholar Privileges

Early Enrollment privileges - OU Scholars are allowed to enroll early during the pre-enrollment periods for the spring semester of their freshman year and the fall semester of their sophomore year. National Merit and Regents Scholars may enroll early each of their undergraduate semesters.

Retention Scholarships

Each year a number of Retention Scholarships are awarded to current undergraduates at The University of Oklahoma for outstanding academic performance during their freshman year. These awards are coordinated by the OU Scholars Selection Committee.

Recipients of the University Scholar award and other students who did not receive a university-wide four-year scholarship are eligible to apply; however, students receiving OHLAP or Sooner Promise are not eligible. In addition, students must

1. be direct-from-high school admits to OU during the previous calendar year,
2. have maintained full-time (12 hours or more) enrollment status at OU for the academic year, and
3. have a 3.80 or better cumulative GPA at the end of the spring semester to be considered for one of the Retention Scholarships.

Students may apply for Retention Scholarships by filling out the OU Common Scholarship Application available online prior to the deadline. The selection committee meets in June to determine the recipients of these distinguished three-year cash awards.

Any student interested in applying for the Honors College must fulfill the following requirements:

- have already been accepted into the University of Oklahoma. We cannot process your application without an accepted common application on file. Please visit Admissions & Recruitment to apply for the University of Oklahoma.
- submit a 400-500-word essay based on one of the provided topics.

Freshmen entering the University of Oklahoma are eligible to apply to the Honors College if they have

- an ACT Composite of 30 or higher or a SAT Critical Reading and Mathematics Total of 1360 or higher. The Honors College does not accept superscores of either test.
  and
- an unweighted high school GPA of 3.75 or rank in the top 10% of graduates of their high school class.

Freshmen from nations outside the US entering the University of Oklahoma are eligible to apply to the Honors College if:

- You have an International Baccalaureate score of 40 or higher.

Transfer students entering the University of Oklahoma are eligible to apply to the Honors College if they have

- earned 15 or more hours of total transfer credit with a transfer GPA of 3.40 or higher

Students currently enrolled at the University of Oklahoma are eligible to apply to the Honors College if they have

- earned 15 or more hours of OU credit.with a cumulative GPA of 3.40 or higher

Final admission into the Honors College is determined by evaluation of the Honors College application form, which includes a written essay of 400-500 words.

Continued good standing in the Honors College requires an OU retention/combined retention grade point average of 3.40 and progress towards completion of the curricular requirements of the Honors College.

Honors Curriculum

Honors courses are intended to be included in the hours earned toward completion of the student's undergraduate degree.

Graduating with Honors requires:

- at least 9 hours of Honors credit which can include Honors designated courses, study abroad programs sponsored by OU, and OSLEP, Feaver-MacMinn, Puterbaugh or Neustadt seminars

- HON 2973
- HON 3993
- Honors Reading & Research: All students must take 3 hours of HON 3980. Honors Reading (HON 3960) is usually waived if the senior capstone seminar is research oriented. Some departments do require reading and more research hours (e.g., Biology). Please contact your major department for details. Reading and research do not count for honors elective credit.
- C or higher in all HON classes
  Also
  - filing an honors thesis (the end result of the honors reading and research project or other thesis-worthy work) with the Honors Office.
  - both an OU Retention GPA and a Combined Retention GPA of
    - 3.40-3.59 for cum laude
    - 3.60-3.79 for magna cum laude
    - 3.80-4.00 for summa cum laude

Medical Humanities Minor

Any Honors-eligible (3.4 GPA or higher) student at the University of Oklahoma may pursue a Minor in Medical Humanities (p. 1381) focused on a specific area within the medical humanities (history of medicine; bioethics; medical anthropology; literature and medicine; cross-cultural perspectives on health and disease; etc.), on spoken foreign languages, and on non-western cultural traditions. The goal is for students to prepare for the health professions and the multi-cultural clinical context by gaining a broad vision of the social, cultural, historical, economic, political, ethical, and spiritual factors shaping health, disease, and the delivery of healthcare

Courses

HON 2511 Community Citizen 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: Admission/eligible to the Honors Program (3.40 GPA). May be repeated once. Students will provide volunteer service at a community agency (hospitals, united way agencies, art museum, etc.) as approved by the course instructor. Students will be asked to discuss their experiences in class, write about the experience, and to participate in peer-revision sessions. Students will be expected to complete a minimum of 30 hours of volunteer service in a semester. (F, Sp)

HON 2963 Perspectives on the Global Experience 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: admission to Honors program. May be repeated once with change in course topic. Explores the relationship between economic and cultural processes associated with globalization and sub-Saharan Africa. In order to better understand the nature of globalization and its implications for inequality and day-to-day life, we examine case studies dealing with topics like the marketing of soap in colonial southern Africa, conflicts over the extraction of oil in Nigeria, and undocumented West African migrants living in New York City. (F, Sp, Su)

HON 2970 Honors Seminar 3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors College Curriculum. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. (F, Sp)

HON 2973 Perspectives on the American Experience 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: permission of Honors College. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. An interdisciplinary investigation of the social, economic, and political realities of American life and culture from the late nineteenth century to the present. Topics to be treated include immigration, the rise of mass production and consumer culture, the Great Migration, the Cold War, 1960s social movements, and current "culture wars." (Sp) [IV-WC].

HON 3440 Mentored Research Experience 3 Credit Hours
0 to 3 hours. Prerequisites: ENGL 1113 or equivalent, and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. For the inquisitive student to apply the scholarly processes of the discipline to a research or creative project under the mentorship of a faculty member. Student and instructor should complete an Undergraduate Research & Creative Projects (URCP) Mentoring Agreement and file it with the URCP office. Not for honors credit. (F, Sp, Su)

HON 3960 Honors Reading 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Will consist of topics designated by the instructor. The content will emphasize work not presented in other courses. (F, Sp, Su)

HON 3970 Honors Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: member of Honors College Curriculum in good standing. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. An upper-division Honors College course to be used by departments and by the Honors College. (F, Sp, Su)

HON 3980 Honors Research 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit six hours. Will provide an opportunity for the gifted Honors candidate to work at a special project under the guidance of a professor in the student's field. (F, Sp, Su)

HON 3990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and junior standing. May be repeated once with change of content. Independent study may be arranged to study a subject not available through regular course offerings. (F, Sp, Su)

HON 3993 Honors Colloquium 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: admission to and good standing in Honors College Curriculum. May be repeated with change in course topic. An interdepartmental course involving two or more instructors from different departments. (Sp)

Medical Humanities, Minor

Program Code: N678

- The requirements for a minor must be completed concurrently with the major degree requirements.
- No minor may be added by completing courses after receiving the bachelor's degree.

Requests to substitute a minor requirement must be approved in writing by the Honors College.

- The Medical Humanities Minor is available to all Honors-eligible (GPA 3.4 or higher) students at OU.

Required Courses

Students minoring in Medical Humanities will complete 18 hours of coursework in anthropology, psychology, communication, history, history of science, medicine & technology, philosophy, cultural studies, women's & gender studies, ethnic studies, religious studies, ethics, music, art, classics, and foreign language.. Courses are chosen in consultation with the Honors College to develop students' cultural competence through the study of cultural variation within any humanistic, social scientific, or scientific context.

Three of the 18 hours will be devoted to the study of a foreign language beyond the College of Arts & Sciences minimum 13 hour requirement.

General Information

The David L. Boren College of International Studies (CIS) was officially created in January 2011 as a reflection of former President David Boren's vision of advancing international educational opportunities for all OU students. Today CIS houses the Dean's Staff, the academic Department of International and Area Studies, the Office of Education Abroad, the Office of International Student Services, the OU in Arezzo Study Center and a number of other international institutes and centers. Together, these various offices, departments and centers work to provide a range of opportunities for students to learn about the global community in which they live.

The mission of the David L. Boren College of International Studies is to expand the OU international experience and develop compassionate, open minded citizens and leaders by enhancing global engagement and educational opportunities.

The mission of Education Abroad is to provide OU students with safe, academically relevant and personally transformative study abroad opportunities across the world. Education Abroad develops programs aimed at increasing cross-cultural awareness and emphasizing international education. The office maintains linkages with professional organizations at the state, national and international levels. This unit works in close liaison with college deans and assists faculty in seeking external funding for international projects and collaborative research. EA has a library and resource center with information on foreign nations, universities, foundations and agencies.

International Study Centers

International Study Centers are the signature study abroad programs at the University of Oklahoma! Located in three attractive locations, students can take classes taught by OU professors, explore the language and culture of their host country, engage in meaningful dialog with locals, and get active with community service or through internships, while earning credit towards their degrees.

- OU in Arezzo
  OU in Arezzo is the signature study abroad program of the University of Oklahoma! You will take classes taught by OU professors at the OU in Arezzo center in Italy and pay OU tuition and fees. Visit arezzo.ou.edu to see all the courses offered in Arezzo throughout the year.
- OU in Puebla
  OU in Puebla is the University of Oklahoma's Mexican Study Center.

Journey Programs

Journey Programs are four weeks long in the summer and offer General Education Credit. These programs are taught by OU professors, have OU tuition and fees, and come with their own scholarship for airfare!

College Sponsored

College Sponsored programs are led by professors from many OU colleges and are geared toward their own majors and are offered mainly in the Summer. Search for the OU colleges offering study abroad programs in the program search engine.

University Exchange

University Exchange means taking classes at a university abroad, but paying OU tuition and fees at your normal rate. These programs are highly immersive and ideal for independent learners and students with financial aid tuition waivers.

Affiliate Programs

Approved Affiliate Programs are programs facilitated by specific affiliate providers or universities abroad with which the University of Oklahoma has an active agreement and where you pay directly to that specific university or provider. Financial aid, excluding tuition waivers, can be applied to this program type if they are listed in the Education Abroad program search engine

Selection Criteria

Students are selected for study abroad programs based on the following criteria: grade point average, personal essay, financial aid requirements, academic standing, and letters of recommendation. For certain study abroad destinations with limited availability, the selection process is quite competitive. All students who qualify for study abroad are offered a location for study, but because of the competitive process, some may not be admitted to the school or destination that they most prefer. Contact the Education Abroad Office for application information.

International Student Services (ISS)

International Student Services (ISS) assists year-round more than 2,000 international students and their dependents from over 100 countries.

ISS should be the first point of contact for international students. We are a federally designated office for creating, extending or terminating visa statuses, and we also respond to federal audits, site visits and requests for information. We maintain the Student and Exchange Visitor Information System (SEVIS) compliance for OU, and also register all eligible F-1 and J-1 international students each semester.

F-1 and J-1 visas are issued by US consulates to qualifying students studying in the United States. F-1 visas are issued to students whose primary source of funding for college comes from personal or family funds. Most often these are long-term, degree-seeking students. J-1 visas may be issued to students whose primary funding for school comes from a third party, such as a university, corporation, non-profit or the government.

International students must maintain their lawful visa status in order to pursue and complete their academic programs in the US. It is the student's responsibility to maintain lawful visa status, and we are here to offer assistance.

F-1 and J-1 students studying at the Norman or Tulsa OU campuses can get assistance from the ISS office in Norman, while F-1 and J-1 students studying at the OU Health Sciences Center (OUHSC) need to visit the HSC Admissions and Records Office for assistance.

Additional services we provide for the OU international community include immigration advising for international students and campus departments, short-term employment authorization advising for qualifying students, extensions of stay, dependent immigration advising, campus outreach programs and more.

International Advisory Committee (IAC)

The International Advisory Committee (IAC) serves as the umbrella organization for the international student organizations at OU. IAC organizes and facilitates various intercultural, social, political, and intramural events among member international student organizations. .

Undergraduate Study

ADMISSION

Students must be admitted to the University of Oklahoma before being admitted to the College of International Studies. First-year students are admitted to University College. The freshman year at the University of Oklahoma is spent in University College, which provides an advisory system for freshmen and assists students in choosing a major. Transfer to the Department of International and Area Studies from University College is automatic upon completion of the IAS admission requirements below.

Admission to the College of International Studies

The minimum requirements for admission are:

- A declared International and Area Studies major;
- At least a 2.00 combined retention grade point average on all college-level work attempted; and,
- At least 24 semester credit hours of earned college-level credit.

International and Area studies majors also have a minimum major grade point average requirement for graduation, as discussed in the graduation requirements section.

STUDENT ADVISEMENT

The College of International Studies (CIS) requires all undergraduate majors to be advised prior to each enrollment. Current students will meet with the professional academic advisors in the Department of International and Area Studies. Advisors assist students in choosing courses appropriate for the IAS major, guide students in career and major-specific information, and assist in the evaluation of study abroad work for major credit. Their telephone number is (405) 325-4547. After advisement, students enroll in classes through the online enrollment system.

The College of International Studies Academic Services Office certifies students for graduation and organizes the convocation ceremonies. The academic counselors in this office answers questions regarding academic standing, transcript evaluation, degree requirements, or other University regulations. Students who have earned 80 hours or more must meet with this office for an official degree check. Appointments with the Academic Services Office can be scheduled by calling (405) 325-1429.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

Students who wish to transfer from other colleges or universities should be aware of the following:

- Transfer students who have completed at least 24 semester credit hours will be admitted directly into the Department of International and Area Studies if they meet the University's admission requirements.
- Transfer students who have earned fewer than 24 semester credit hours will be admitted to University College.
- The Office of Admissions will determine acceptance of credits from the transferring institutions.
- The Department of International and Area Studies will determine how these credits apply toward the requirements for an IAS degree.
- All newly admitted transfer students must meet with an academic counselor in the Academic Services Office prior to their first enrollment at the University of Oklahoma.

Transfer students should be familiar with the requirements for their chosen International and Area Studies major (p. 1388).

SCHOLASTIC REQUIREMENTS

A student must maintain at least a 2.00 grade point average in order to be in good standing in the Department of International and Area Studies. Any student whose combined or OU retention grade point average falls below 2.00 is placed on academic contract status, and must meet specific conditions established by the Department of International and Area Studies. Failure to meet these conditions will result in denial of enrollment privileges as an International and Area Studies major. Additional grade point average requirements in the major are necessary for a student to be eligible for graduation, as detailed in the Graduation Requirements section of this chapter.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

The responsibility for meeting graduation requirements lies with the student.

The requirements for graduation from the Department of International and Area Studies programs normally have four components:

- University-Wide General Education requirements,
- Department of International and Area Studies requirements,
- Major requirements, and
- Free electives.

The specific requirements for majors and minors are listed on Degree Requirements Checksheets (p. 52).

Graduation Grade Point Average Requirements

The Department of International and Area Studies requires certain minimum grade point averages in each of the following areas:

- Students must earn a minimum of a 2.00 combined retention grade point average (University of Oklahoma and transfer work combined).
- Students must earn a minimum of a 2.00 retention grade point average on all University of Oklahoma coursework.
- Students must earn a minimum of a 2.50 retention grade point average in all major credit courses (University of Oklahoma and transfer work combined), and a 2.50 retention grade point average in major credit courses taken at the University of Oklahoma.

Ten-Year Limitation Rules

A student in the Department of International and Area Studies may elect to follow the degree requirements that were in place at the time of the student's first enrollment in the Oklahoma State System for Higher Education (excluding high school concurrent enrollment) or exercise the option to update to more current degree requirements, in consultation with the academic counselor. Those who elect to follow requirements in place at the time of their first enrollment in the Oklahoma State System for Higher Education must complete the requirements within a maximum of 10 calendar years from the date of that enrollment. If the work for a degree covers a period longer than 10 years, the student must update to the most current degree program requirements.

Credit in a student's major that is more than 10 years old may not be applied toward a bachelor's degree unless it is validated by the Department of International and Area Studies and the respective course departments.

Application for Graduation

Students are responsible for filing an official graduation application during their final semester. Graduation applications are submitted online through one.ou.edu. Failure to file the graduation application will result in the student not being eligible for graduation during that semester or term. Those students who plan to graduate in the fall are strongly encouraged to apply for graduation before September 15; those finishing in the spring before February 15; and those finishing in the summer before June 1. In addition to completing all academic requirements for the undergraduate degree, students must also pay all tuition and fees before the degree can be conferred. Students who complete all academic requirements but fail to pay tuition and fees before the beginning of the following semester or session will have the original graduation date printed on their diploma, but only after all tuition and fees are paid.

Special Degrees

Students may qualify for an Honors degree (cum Laude, Magna cum Laude, or Summa cum Laude) by completing specific requirements of the Honors College. A degree will be earned with Distinction if the student completes at least 60 semester hours at OU with at least a 3.60 combined retention GPA and OU retention GPA. A degree will be earned with Special Distinction if the student completes at least 60 semester hours at OU with at least a 3.90 combined retention GPA and OU retention GPA.

DEAN'S HONOR ROLL

The Department of International and Area Studies Honor Roll is compiled at the close of each fall and spring semester. It includes students who have completed at least 12 grade point hours and have earned an average of 3.50 or higher for the semester.

Students enrolled part-time for both the fall and spring semesters of an academic year will be included on the spring semester honor roll, provided that a 3.50 or better is earned for each semester on a minimum of six semester grade point hours with no withdrawals for either semester. There is no honor roll during the summer session or during intersession, and grades earned during these sessions are not included in determining eligibility for inclusion on regular semester honor rolls.

DOUBLE MAJORS

Students may earn two majors between the Department of International and Area Studies and the College of Arts and Sciences as part of a single degree, if they adhere to the following:

- Both majors may not be in the Department of International and Area Studies.
- One major must be in the Department of International and Area Studies, and the other major must be in a different college on OU Norman Campus.
- Both majors must be completed concurrently prior to graduation and must be awarded concurrently in the the same semester.

General Information

The Department of International and Area Studies (IAS) works with colleges and departments across campus to promote internationalization of the curriculum of the University of Oklahoma and to train students to succeed in an increasingly interdependent world. At the center of the department's academic programs are the B.A. in International and Area Studies and the M.A. in International Studies. The goal of these degrees is to prepare students to take positions of leadership in fields such as international affairs, international business, and international non-profit services. In addition to a core faculty appointed within IAS, some faculty are jointly appointed in IAS and another academic department. In addition, more than 100 faculty across campus are involved as affiliate faculty of IAS.

Students take a wide range of courses drawing from the Department of International and Area Studies; the departments of Anthropology, Communication, Economics, English, History, History of Science, Film and Video Studies, Modern Languages, Literatures, and Linguistics, Philosophy, Political Science, Religious Studies, Sociology (College of Arts and Sciences); Art History, Music History (Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts); Geography (College of Atmospheric and Geographic Sciences); Architecture (College of Architecture); Management (Price College of Business); Educational Leadership (College of Education), among others.

Careers

The Department of International and Area Studies provides the first stage for students interested in foreign service, international relations, business, law, research, teaching, public service, or any other career where international knowledge and experience is useful and desirable.

Student Organizations

International Affairs Society

The International Affairs Society (IAS) is a student organization created to promote international scholarship and global engagement and awareness at the University of Oklahoma. Although it is affiliated with the Department of International and Area Studies, membership is open to all OU students. IAS seeks to encourage international awareness and engagement at the University of Oklahoma; foster international understanding in general; provide student input into the curriculum, activities, and goals of the Department of International and Area Studies; coordinate communication and events with international and other OU students, and unify and represent the IAS student community.

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest college honor society, was founded at the College of William and Mary in 1776. Alpha Chapter of the University of Oklahoma was chartered in 1920. Membership in Phi Beta Kappa is open by invitation only to seniors in the Department of International and Area Studies, the College of Arts and Sciences, Gaylord College of Journalism, and a limited number of other programs. Seniors with distinguished academic records are elected in March/April of each year. Students who graduate at the end of the summer session or fall semester are eligible for election the following spring. For additional information about the University's Phi Beta Kappa chapter, contact the Department of International and Area Studies academic counselor, or visit the Phi Beta Kappa website.

Phi Beta Delta

Phi Beta Delta is an honor society which serves to recognize and encourage high achievements in the field of International Education. It encourages interdisciplinary contacts and promotes the exchange of ideas in the area of international affairs among students, faculty, and staff of the university community, and between it and other academic institutions. Membership is open to all students and faculty whose study includes an international focus. For more information, visit the department's website.

Undergraduate Study

International and Area Studies Bachelors of Arts Degrees

International and Area Studies offers Bachelor of Arts degrees with majors in Asian Studies, European Studies, Global Energy, Environment and Resources, International Development, International Studies, International Security Studies, Latin American Studies, and Middle Eastern Studies.

Asian Studies

Asian Studies (p. 1401) challenges students to integrate language and cultural skills to prepare for careers in the Pacific region. The objectives of the program are to provide an understanding of the fundamentals of the civilizations of Asia in both traditional and modern settings, and to provide a more in-depth comprehension of specific areas within the region. This major features courses from such departments as Anthropology, Art, Communication, Geography, History, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology, Modern Languages, Literatures and Linguistics, and the Department of International and Area Studies. Students will obtain an educational foundation appropriate for teaching, business, research, foreign service, technological and economic development, as well as other careers related to Asia.

European Studies

European Studies (p. 1404) immerses students in European history and culture. The course of study includes literature, art, and geography, as well as the politics and economics of the region. The scope of the program includes western, central and Mediterranean Europe since approximately 1500. European Studies graduates will be capable of functioning in at least one European country in which a language other than English is spoken, and they will be able to read materials in the language of that country.

European Studies: Russian & East European Studies

Russian & East European Studies (p. 1407) is a special concentration within the European Studies major. It allows students to specialize in the study of Russia and its neighboring countries in Eastern Europe and Eurasia in preparation for careers in teaching, research, business, government or foreign service. The program provides a broad and multi-disciplinary introduction to the larger region, with course offerings in languages, literature, political science, history, economics, geography, music, and film.

Global Energy, Environment, and Resources

Global Energy, Environment, and Resources (p. 1409) students receive training that emphasizes policy, management, and sustainability in an international context. This major provides students with the skills they need to succeed in an international field with growing employment opportunities.

International Development

The International Development major equips students with a comprehensive set of skills enabling them to analyze and understand socioeconomic issues in developing countries. Students will take courses in development economics and political economy as well as courses that examine development from historical, cultural, and social perspectives. Students will be strongly encouraged to make an internship with a development agency part of their international experience.

International Security Studies

International Security Studies (p. 1415) is designed for the student looking for a career in the fields of foreign policy or national security. The program allows students to develop proficiency in any language recognized to be a critical security language, as well as the culture where that language is spoken. Specialized classes help students to understand international organizations and the global issues that affect security around the world. This degree prepares students for careers with US federal and state agencies, international organizations and companies in the private sector that operate in critical regions of the world.

International Studies

The International Studies (p. 1418) major allows students to gain a global perspective on world affairs. Through an interdisciplinary curriculum that focuses on world history, international relations and international economics, students learn how the international system operates and prepare themselves for careers in foreign affairs or international business, for advanced training in international law or business. Like the area studies programs, the international studies program requires strong understanding of a foreign language and a period of study or work abroad. Students may also combine International Studies with a minor in one of the Area Studies programs.

Latin American Studies

Latin American Studies (p. 1422) provides a concentration in the region's history and culture. The course of study features Latin America's economic, geographic, social and political patterns as well as its problems. With a population nearing half a billion people, Latin America has traditionally been, and is now more than ever, a critical area for the United States. Students will examine the historical ties between the two regions in relation to the commonality of cultures and objectives that are becoming increasingly stronger as interdependence grows. Students majoring in Latin American Area Studies will choose their language specialization and begin studying the Spanish and/or Portuguese language as early as their freshman year.

Middle Eastern Studies

Middle Eastern Studies (p. 1425) allows students to combine their study of either Arabic or Hebrew with courses in the history, religions and cultures of the Middle East from Ancient to modern Times. This program will provide the student with a basic understanding of the peoples and history of this diverse and culturally-rich region of the world and a firm foundation for further study. The cultural and language proficiency achieved will also serve as excellent preparation for a variety of job opportunities in teaching, business, government or foreign service.

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES UNDERGRADUATE CERTIFICATES

Global Engagement

The Global Engagement undergraduate certificate (p. 1434) is designed to enhance students' knowledge of the global community, including international affairs and modern global issues, as well as encourage them to become active global citizens.

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES, BACHELOR OF ARTS / GLOBAL STUDIES, MASTER OF ARTS

The International Studies, Bachelor of Arts/ Global Studies, Master of Arts (p. 1434) is an accelerated program designed for exceptional students to earn both the BA and MA in International Studies in 5 years of study.

Minors

International and Area Studies also offers Minors in most major fields, as well as a minor in African Studies and Iranian Studies. An attractive advantage of an International and Area Studies minor is that it can allow a student in any major to earn a minor while completing General Education requirements. Many of the courses required for an IAS Minor are approved for certain general education credits, thus, students can fulfill General Education requirements and earn credit for a minor simultaneously. Students currently majoring in an area of International and Area Studies may also minor in a different area of International and Area Studies with approval of the department.

- African Studies Minor (p. 1427)
- Asian Studies Minor (p. 1428)
- European Studies Minor (p. 1429)
- Global Energy, Environment and Resources Minor (p. 1429)
- International Development Minor (p. 1430)
- International Security Studies Minor (p. 1431)
- International Studies Minor (p. 1431)
- Iranian Studies Minor (p. 1432)
- Latin American Studies Minor (p. 1432)
- Middle Eastern Studies Minor (p. 1433)
- Russian and East European Minor (p. 1433)

Graduate Study

MASTER OF ARTS DEGREES

The Global Studies Master of Arts (p. 1439) equips students with the tools to engage in a globally integrated environment, whether in the realm of international diplomacy, the international economy, or provision by non-governmental organizations of humanitarian aid and economic development assistance, as well as global environmental advocacy. Program coursework provides a rigorous foundation in international relations theory and practice, comparative politics, international economics, and analytic and statistical methods. Students in the program also have the flexibility to pursue more advanced work in the current concepts, theories and research issues of international political, social, economic and cultural development, in addition to the politics, histories, cultures and economies of specific regions.

The Global Affairs Master of Arts (p. 1438) enables students to pursue studies with a focus on the political, economic and social interactions that have an impact on global turbulence. The program's coursework is designed to provide students with a global vision from a variety of disciplinary perspectives. Additionally, students will develop expertise in one or more geographic areas of the globe. The program will provide valuable and practical experience through a planned policy exercise and collective study abroad program. Students will increase their knowledge of global affairs, enhance their ability to operate in a dynamic global environment and expand their global connections, contributing to professional success.

The International Relations Master of Arts (p. 1440) (p. 1440)provides a broad understanding of world affairs from a variety of perspectives:

political, economic, social, historical, geographic and philosophical. The program is directed by the University of Oklahoma's College of International Studies in coordination with the University of Oklahoma's Advanced Programs, which was established in 1964 as part of the University's commitment to continuing education and public service. The program offers the adult learner the opportunity to pursue a master's degree at locations on or near military installations around the world.

Analyzes the origins of politics of national identity in the region as a result of transformations rooted in the nineteenth century, its rise to dominance as a form of politics and ideology during the twentieth century, as well as countervailing trends that today challenge its continued dominance. (Irreg.) [IV-NW].

IAS 3243 Contemporary Europe 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: junior standing or permission of instructor. Assesses how expansion of the European Union has changed the way European governments handle public policy challenges, and examines how these changes have altered European cultures, economies, policies and societies. Focuses on themes such as the multi-cultural challenges of European immigration, how migration among European countries fosters a common European identity, how economic integration has created a common marketplace of goods, services and ideas, and what has happened to the Transatlantic relationships between Europe and the US. (Irreg.)

IAS 3273 The European Union 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Junior standing or permission of instructor. Is EU an economic superpower? Can the EU reach the objective of rivaling the U.S. diplomatically shared by many political leaders in Europe? This course will help students understand contemporary debates about the nature of the European Union, its place in the world, and its current economic and political challenges. Topics of discussion includes the historical development of the EU, the institutions of the EU and how they function, the emergence of the single European market and the project of economic and monetary union that culminated in the introduction of the euro. The course also examines the global engagement of the EU, including EU-US relations; the role of the EU in the global economy; EU relations with China; the global diplomatic role of the EU; the relationships between the EU and its neighboring countries in the Balkans and Eastern Europe; and the EU as a provider of development and humanitarian aid. (Irreg.)

IAS 3283 Culture, Power, and Global Environment 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Junior standing or permission of instructor. This course surveys some of the diverse ways in which human populations adapt to, understand, and transform their environments. It explores how social and cultural differences within and among human populations complicate efforts to address the myriad environmental problems we face - from neighborhoods struggling with contaminated soil, to regional ecosystem restoration and wildlife management, to transnational climate-change mitigation efforts. (Irreg.) [IV-NW].

IAS 3293 Women, Gender, and Family in Contemporary Europe 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Junior standing or permission of instructor. Explores the ways in which some of the major events of the twentieth century have shaped the lives of women and families in Europe, and the ways in which both individual women and women's movements have shaped contemporary European history and policy today. Topics of discussion also include contemporary issues, such as family policy; reproductive rights; labor policy; gender and immigration; women's political representation, and sexual equality within the EU. (Irreg.)

IAS 3313 Latin American International Relations 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: junior standing or permission of instructor. Examines international relations of Latin America in an interdisciplinary fashion. International relations is broadly defined in this course, and includes economic and cultural aspects as well. (Irreg.) [IV-WC] .

IAS 3323 The Political Economy of Development 3 Credit Hours

IAS 5713 Policy Analysis and Writing 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. This course will prepare students for policy-oriented careers. Students will develop an understanding of the policy value chain, from policy making to policy implementation and from diffusion to evaluation, and how associated feedback loops shape the policy trajectories. Building on an understanding of the policy cycle, it will give students an opportunity to engage in policy analysis. (Irreg.)

IAS 5723 Global Policy Workshop 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. This course serves as a culminating experience for the MAIS program. It is intended for students to integrate the knowledge and skills they have gained in their program and to apply them in a practical and/or experiential manner to contemporary global policy issues. The applied component will typically involve an extended simulation exercise or a project for a real-world organization. (Sp)

IAS 5793 Graduate Studies in International Relations 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. Designed to provide students with a foundation for success in coursework for the MA degree in International Relations. The course begins with a focus on effective analytical writing in the field of international relations. The remaining sections of the course concentrate on essential building blocks in the field of international relations, with a particular emphasis on the relationship between domestic and international levels of explanation of international phenomena, from treaties/international agreements to economic sanctions to war. (Irreg)

IAS 5803 Global Affairs Practicum 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. All students are expected to engage in a research project resulting in a written document that examines a specific government or international policy. The paper should ultimately propose specific policy recommendations that are intended to be an improvement upon the current policy. The project may be conducted under the auspices of the Diplomacy Lab. (Irreg.)

IAS 5810 Field Studies in Africa 1-6 Credit Hours
1 to 6 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. The Field Studies in Africa course is a summer program designed exclusively for OU students. Participants travel with an OU faculty member for up to one month throughout one or more countries in Africa. Academic instruction for this program takes place in English, but some foreign language training may be included in the program. Experiential activities, cultural events and lectures from host nationals add to expert OU faculty lectures to give Field Studies in Africa participants a comprehensive understanding of the historical context and contemporary issues facing the countries of study and the African continent today. All accepted applicants receive a travel fellowship to offset the cost of international airfare. (Su)

IAS 5820 Field Studies in Italy 1-6 Credit Hours
1 to 6 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. The Field Studies in Italy course is a summer program designed exclusively for OU students. Participants travel with an OU faculty member for up to one month throughout the country of Italy. Academic instruction for this program takes place in English, but some foreign language training may be included in the program. Experiential activities, cultural events and lectures from host nationals add to expert OU faculty lectures to give Field Studies in Italy participants a comprehensive understanding of the historical context and contemporary issues facing Italy and the continent of Europe today. All accepted applicants receive a travel fellowship to offset the cost of international airfare. (Su)

IAS 5830 Field Studies in China 1-6 Credit Hours
1 to 6 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. The Field Studies in China course is a summer program designed exclusively for OU students. Participants travel with an OU faculty member for up to one month throughout the country of China. Academic instruction for this program takes place in English, but some foreign language training may be included in the program. Experiential activities, cultural events and lectures from host nationals add to expert OU faculty lectures to give Field Studies in China participants a comprehensive understanding of the historical context and contemporary issues facing China and the Asian region today. All accepted applicants receive a travel fellowship to offset the cost of international airfare. (Su)

IAS 5840 Field Studies in Latin America 1-6 Credit Hours
1 to 6 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. The Field Studies in Latin America course is a summer program designed exclusively for OU students. Participants travel with an OU faculty member for up to one month throughout the one or more Latin American countries. Academic instruction for this program takes place in English, but some foreign language training may be included in the program. Experiential activities, cultural events and lectures from host nationals add to expert OU faculty lectures to give Field Studies in Latin America participants a comprehensive understanding of the historical context and contemporary issues facing Latin American countries and the entire region today. All accepted applicants receive a travel fellowship to offset the cost of international airfare. (Su)

IAS 5850 Field Studies in Turkey 1-6 Credit Hours
1 to 6 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. The Field Studies in Turkey course is a summer program designed exclusively for OU students. Participants travel with an OU faculty member for up to one month throughout the country of Turkey. Academic instruction for this program takes place in English, but some foreign language training may be included in the program. Experiential activities, cultural events and lectures from host nationals add to expert OU faculty lectures to give Field Studies in Turkey participants a comprehensive understanding of the historical context and contemporary issues facing Turkey and the Middle Eastern region today. All accepted applicants receive a travel fellowship to offset the cost of international airfare. (Su)

IAS 5902 Global Political Turbulence 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. This is one of three core courses in the MAGA program focused on aspects of global turbulence. The Global Political Turbulence course explores the sources, consequences and implications of turbulence in the international political system. It will examine political turbulence in a global context, as well as turbulent affairs in each region of the world. We will concentrate on the political turbulence that characterizes global affairs today and will highlight turbulent relations in each region of the world. (Irreg)

IAS 5912 Global Economic Turbulence 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. This is one of three core courses in the MAGA program focused on aspects of global turbulence. This course explores sources of turbulence in the global economy and their consequences -- from the increasing global diffusion of economic power, to the volatility produced by free movement of large amounts of capital around the world. We will begin by examining shifts in the global distribution of economic power. We also will consider the 2008-9 global financial crisis, the aftermath of which continues to have dramatic consequences across governments and international organizations worldwide. (Irreg)

IAS 5913 International Studies Internship 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor. Students receive academic credit for internship work with an internationally oriented public or private organization. Internship credit requires an element of reflection, research, and writing about the work undertaken, and can strongly enhance the internship opportunity and improve a student's ability to articulate knowledgeably the requirements, benefits and lessons of work in the public or non-profit sector. (Irreg.)

IAS 5922 Global Social Turbulence 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. This is one of three core courses in the MAGA program focused on aspects of global turbulence. This course examines the layered causes and consequences of social turbulence around the world. It explores how peoples interact with each other and the world around them. Additionally, students will address how people react to societal and environmental changes. At the end of this course, students should have a firmer grasp on societal interaction and reaction along a number of important areas. (Irreg)

IAS 5923 International Studies Policy Exercise 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor. Policy exercise offers students the option of a Capstone project that demands the integration of skills developed in the MAIS program core. Each semester the faculty will develop a policy exercise based on a contemporary global problem. Students will be responsible for gathering extensive evidence and analyses bearing on the problem at hand from a variety of perspectives. (Irreg.)

IAS 5940 Topics in International Studies 1-4 Credit Hours
1 to 4 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit nine hours. Analysis of one or several selected topics in international studies, international development, and/or international management. (Irreg.)

IAS 5950 Research Problems 2-5 Credit Hours
2 to 5 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit six hours. Directed research and writing on selected topics in international relations, international development, and international management. (F, Sp, Su)

IAS 5960 Directed Readings 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and graduate standing. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Directed individual readings on selected topics in international relations; international development, and international management. (F, Sp, Su)

IAS 5970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics or seminar course for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. May include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

IAS 5980 Research for Master's Thesis 2-6 Credit Hours
2 to 6 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and admission to M.A. in International Relations. May be repeated; maximum credit four hours. Directed individual research and writing on master's thesis. Student must be admitted to the M.A. in International Relations program. (F, Sp, Su)

IAS 5990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours

Information Concerning General Rules, Regulations and Minimum Requirements

Total Hours: A minimum of 120 semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed.

Upper-Division Hours: A minimum of 48 upper-division semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed. OU courses numbered 3000 or above are upper-division. Transfer work is counted as lower-division or upper-division credit depending on the level at which it was offered at the institution where it was earned. Two-year college work is accepted only as lower-division credit.

Liberal Arts and Sciences Hours: At least 80 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BA degree. At least 55 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BS degree.

Major Work: A minimum of 30 semester hours must be earned in the major, including a minimum of 15 credit hours at the upper-division level.

Pass/No Pass Enrollment: A maximum of 16 semester hours of free elective credit may be attempted under this option.

Individual Studies (e.g., courses titled "Independent Study"): A maximum of 12 total semester hours may be counted toward graduation, excluding Honors Reading and Honors Research.

Military, Military In-Service, Skills, Applied Technology, and P.E. Courses: A maximum of 16 semester credit hours of basic skills and/or applied technology courses. No physical education activity courses will be counted toward the 120 semester hours of acceptable credit for graduation.

Senior Institution Hours: A minimum of 60 semester hours applied toward graduation must be earned at senior (4-year) institutions.

Residency:

- At least 15 of the final 30 hours applied toward the degree or at least 50 percent of the hours required by the institution in the major field must be satisfactorily completed at the awarding institution.
- At least 15 semester hours of upper-division major work must be completed in residence at OU.
- OU correspondence courses are not considered resident credit.
- Credits earned via examination are neither resident nor nonresident credit.

Information regarding Grade Point Averages, Special Degrees, and Application for Graduation can be found in the catalog under David L. Boren College of International Studies: Undergraduate Study. (p. 1385)

Suggested Semester Plan of Study

This plan of study should not be used in lieu of academic advisement. Students who transfer from other institutions (particularly community colleges) must verify credit hour and course requirements with their academic counselor, 325-1429, http://www.ou.edu/international. Please make an appointment for a degree check with your college academic counselor once you have earned 90 hours.

This plan shows one possible grouping of courses that would allow students to graduate in four years. Please refer to the degree checksheet for official requirements. Students must consult with College of International Studies academic advisors to verify that courses selected each semester fulfill the recommended plan and satisfy university, College of International Studies, and Asian Studies major requirements.

Information Concerning General Rules, Regulations and Minimum Requirements

Total Hours: A minimum of 120 semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed.
Upper-Division Hours: A minimum of 48 upper-division semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed. OU courses numbered 3000 or above are upper-division. Transfer work is counted as lower-division or upper-division credit depending on the level at which it was offered at the institution where it was earned. Two-year college work is accepted only as lower-division credit.
Liberal Arts and Sciences Hours: At least 80 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BA degree. At least 55 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BS degree.
Major Work: A minimum of 30 semester hours must be earned in the major, including a minimum of 15 credit hours at the upper-division level.
Pass/No Pass Enrollment: A maximum of 16 semester hours of free elective credit may be attempted under this option.
Individual Studies (e.g., courses titled "Independent Study"): A maximum of 12 total semester hours may be counted toward graduation, excluding Honors Reading and Honors Research.
Military, Military In-Service, Skills, Applied Technology, and P.E. Courses: A maximum of 16 semester credit hours of basic skills and/or applied technology courses. No physical education activity courses will be counted toward the 120 semester hours of acceptable credit for graduation.
Senior Institution Hours: A minimum of 60 semester hours applied toward graduation must be earned at senior (4-year) institutions.
Residency:

- At least 15 of the final 30 hours applied toward the degree or at least 50 percent of the hours required by the institution in the major field must be satisfactorily completed at the awarding institution.
- At least 15 semester hours of upper-division major work must be completed in residence at OU.
- OU correspondence courses are not considered resident credit.
- Credits earned via examination are neither resident nor nonresident credit.

Information regarding Grade Point Averages, Special Degrees, and Application for Graduation can be found in the catalog under David L. Boren College of International Studies: Undergraduate Study. (p. 1385)

Suggested Semester Plan of Study

This plan of study should not be used in lieu of academic advisement. Students who transfer from other institutions (particularly community colleges) must verify credit hour and course requirements with their academic counselor, 325-1429, http://www.ou.edu/international. Please make an appointment for a degree check with your college academic counselor once you have earned 90 hours.

This plan shows one possible grouping of courses that would allow students to graduate in four years. Please refer to the front of the degree checksheet for official requirements. Students must consult with College of International Studies academic advisors to verify that courses selected each semester fulfill the recommended plan and satisfy university, College of International Studies, and European Studies major requirements.

Information Concerning General Rules, Regulations and Minimum Requirements

Total Hours: A minimum of 120 semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed.
Upper-Division Hours: A minimum of 48 upper-division semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed. OU courses numbered 3000 or above are upper-division. Transfer work is counted as lower-division or upper-division credit depending on the level at which it was offered at the institution where it was earned. Two-year college work is accepted only as lower-division credit.
Liberal Arts and Sciences Hours: At least 80 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BA degree. At least 55 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BS degree.
Major Work: A minimum of 30 semester hours must be earned in the major, including a minimum of 15 credit hours at the upper-division level.
Pass/No Pass Enrollment: A maximum of 16 semester hours of free elective credit may be attempted under this option.
Individual Studies (e.g., courses titled "Independent Study"): A maximum of 12 total semester hours may be counted toward graduation, excluding Honors Reading and Honors Research.
Military, Military In-Service, Skills, Applied Technology, and P.E. Courses: A maximum of 16 semester credit hours of basic skills and/or applied technology courses. No physical education activity courses will be counted toward the 120 semester hours of acceptable credit for graduation.
Senior Institution Hours: A minimum of 60 semester hours applied toward graduation must be earned at senior (4-year) institutions.
Residency:

- At least 15 of the final 30 hours applied toward the degree or at least 50 percent of the hours required by the institution in the major field must be satisfactorily completed at the awarding institution.
- At least 15 semester hours of upper-division major work must be completed in residence at OU.
- OU correspondence courses are not considered resident credit.
- Credits earned via examination are neither resident nor nonresident credit.

Information regarding Grade Point Averages, Special Degrees, and Application for Graduation can be found in the catalog under David L. Boren College of International Studies: Undergraduate Study. (p. 1385)

Suggested Semester Plan of Study

This plan of study should not be used in lieu of academic advisement. Students who transfer from other institutions (particularly community colleges) must verify credit hour and course requirements with their academic counselor, 325-1429, http://www.ou.edu/international. Please make an appointment for a degree check with your college academic counselor once you have earned 90 hours.

This plan shows one possible grouping of courses that would allow students to graduate in four years. Please refer to the front of the degree checksheet for official requirements. Students must consult with College of International Studies academic advisors to verify that courses selected each semester fulfill the recommended plan and satisfy university, College of International Studies, and International Studies major requirements.

Suggested Semester Plan of Study

This plan of study should not be used in lieu of academic advisement. Students who transfer from other institutions (particularly community colleges) must verify credit hour and course requirements with their academic counselor, 325-1429, http://www.ou.edu/international. Please make an appointment for a degree check with your college academic counselor once you have earned 90 hours.

This plan shows one possible grouping of courses that would allow students to graduate in four years. Please refer to the front of the degree checksheet for official requirements. Students must consult with College of International Studies academic advisors to verify that courses selected each semester fulfill the recommended plan and satisfy university, College of International Studies, and International Studies major requirements.

Information Concerning General Rules, Regulations and Minimum Requirements

Total Hours: A minimum of 120 semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed.
Upper-Division Hours: A minimum of 48 upper-division semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed. OU courses numbered 3000 or above are upper-division. Transfer work is counted as lower-division or upper-division credit depending on the level at which it was offered at the institution where it was earned. Two-year college work is accepted only as lower-division credit.
Liberal Arts and Sciences Hours: At least 80 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BA degree. At least 55 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BS degree.
Major Work: A minimum of 30 semester hours must be earned in the major, including a minimum of 15 credit hours at the upper-division level.
Pass/No Pass Enrollment: A maximum of 16 semester hours of free elective credit may be attempted under this option.
Individual Studies (e.g., courses titled "Independent Study"): A maximum of 12 total semester hours may be counted toward graduation, excluding Honors Reading and Honors Research.
Military, Military In-Service, Skills, Applied Technology, and P.E. Courses: A maximum of 16 semester credit hours of basic skills and/or applied technology courses. No physical education activity courses will be counted toward the 120 semester hours of acceptable credit for graduation.
Senior Institution Hours: A minimum of 60 semester hours applied toward graduation must be earned at senior (4-year) institutions.
Residency:

- At least 15 of the final 30 hours applied toward the degree or at least 50 percent of the hours required by the institution in the major field must be satisfactorily completed at the awarding institution.
- At least 15 semester hours of upper-division major work must be completed in residence at OU.
- OU correspondence courses are not considered resident credit.
- Credits earned via examination are neither resident nor nonresident credit.

Information regarding Grade Point Averages, Special Degrees, and Application for Graduation can be found in the catalog under David L. Boren College of International Studies: Undergraduate Study. (p. 1385)

Suggested Semester Plan of Study

This plan of study should not be used in lieu of academic advisement. Students who transfer from other institutions (particularly community colleges) must verify credit hour and course requirements with their academic counselor, 325-1429, http://www.ou.edu/international. Please make an appointment for a degree check with your college academic counselor once you have earned 90 hours.

This plan shows one possible grouping of courses that would allow students to graduate in four years. Please refer to the front of the degree checksheet for official requirements. Students must consult with College of International Studies academic advisors to verify that courses selected each semester fulfill the recommended plan and satisfy university, College of International Studies, and major requirements.

African Studies, Minor

Minimum Total Credit Hours: 15
Minimum Upper-Division Hours: 9

Program Code: N016

The requirements for a minor must be completed concurrently with the major degree requirements.

No minor may be added by completing courses after receiving the bachelor's degree.

Students must successfully complete at least 15 hours of coursework in international studies, including at least 9 hours at the upper-division level.

At least 6 credit hours must be earned in courses acceptable for residence credit by standards set forth by the Department of International and Area Studies, excluding transfer, correspondence, and examination (AP, CLEP, Advanced Standing) credit.

A minimum of 6 of the required 15 hours must be taken in the Department of International and Area Studies.

Students are encouraged to study abroad. Courses taken while studying abroad may also be substituted to meet minor requirements, though they might not satisfy General Education requirements.

A list of approved courses for the minor may be obtained in the IAS Academic Advising Office or on the departmental website.

No single course may be used by a student to satisfy a major requirement and a minor requirement. A course may be used, however, to satisfy both a major support requirement and a minor requirement. Requests to substitute a minor requirement must be approved in writing by the African Studies coordinator.

- Minors are available to all undergraduate students at OU. If the minor is officially declared, successfully completed, and noted on the graduation application, the student's transcript will so indicate at the time the bachelor's degree is posted.

Students are encouraged to study abroad. Courses taken while studying abroad may also be substituted to meet minor requirements, though they might not satisfy General Education requirements.

A list of approved courses for the minor may be obtained in the IAS Academic Advising Office or on the departmental website.

No single course may be used by a student to satisfy a major requirement and a minor requirement. A course may be used, however, to satisfy both a major support requirement and a minor requirement. Requests to substitute a minor requirement must be approved in writing by the Iranian Studies coordinator.

- Minors are available to all undergraduate students at OU. If the minor is officially declared, successfully completed, and noted on the graduation application, the student's transcript will so indicate at the time the bachelor's degree is posted.

Global Engagement, Undergraduate Certificate

Program Code: T215

The Global Engagement undergraduate certificate is designed to enhance students' knowledge of the global community, including international affairs and modern global issues, as well as encourage them to become active global citizens. Certificate requirements are similar to those in the currently-existing OU program, the Global Engagement Fellowship (GEF) Program. These requirements include successfully completing required coursework; gaining or demonstrating proficiency in a modern foreign language; studying or working abroad twice (at least one summer or winter term); becoming actively involved in international groups and events on campus; and maintaining an e-portfolio documenting their experiences and reflections. The certificate adds a formal designation to fellows' OU academic record showing that they completed a global education curriculum and provides them a tangible way to make their experiences more marketable to potential future employers. All GEFs who successfully complete the program requirements are eligible for the certificate, but it is also available to any degree-seeking OU student.

Information Concerning General Rules, Regulations and Minimum Requirements

Total Hours: A minimum of 120 semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed.

Upper-Division Hours: A minimum of 48 upper-division semester hours acceptable toward graduation must be completed. OU courses numbered 3000 or above are upper-division. Transfer work is counted as lower-division or upper-division credit depending on the level at which it was offered at the institution where it was earned. Two-year college work is accepted only as lower-division credit.

Liberal Arts and Sciences Hours: At least 80 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BA degree. At least 55 semester hours of liberal arts and sciences courses are required for a BS degree.

Major Work: A minimum of 30 semester hours must be earned in the major, including a minimum of 15 credit hours at the upper-division level.

Pass/No Pass Enrollment: A maximum of 16 semester hours of free elective credit may be attempted under this option.

Individual Studies (e.g., courses titled "Independent Study"): A maximum of 12 total semester hours may be counted toward graduation, excluding Honors Reading and Honors Research.

Military, Military In-Service, Skills, Applied Technology, and P.E. Courses: A maximum of 16 semester credit hours of basic skills and/or applied technology courses. No physical education activity courses will be counted toward the 120 semester hours of acceptable credit for graduation.
Senior Institution Hours: A minimum of 60 semester hours applied toward graduation must be earned at senior (4-year) institutions.
Residency:

- At least 15 of the final 30 hours applied toward the degree or at least 50 percent of the hours required by the institution in the major field must be satisfactorily completed at the awarding institution.
- At least 15 semester hours of upper-division major work must be completed in residence at OU.
- OU correspondence courses are not considered resident credit.
- Credits earned via examination are neither resident nor nonresident credit.

Information regarding Grade Point Averages, Special Degrees, and Application for Graduation can be found in the catalog under David L. Boren College of International Studies: Undergraduate Study. (p. 1385)

Suggested Semester Plan of Study

This plan is a sample of one possible grouping of courses that would allow students to graduate in five years. Please refer to the front of the degree checksheet for official requirements. Students must consult with College of International Studies academic advisors to verify that courses selected each semester fulfill the recommended plan and satisfy university, College of International Studies, International Studies, and Global Studies major requirements.

General Requirements for all Master's Degrees

The master's degree requires the equivalent of at least two semesters of satisfactory graduate work and additional work as may be prescribed for the degree.

All coursework applied to the master's degree must carry graduate credit.

Master's degree programs which require a thesis consist of at least 30 credit hours. All non-thesis master's degree programs require at least 32 credit hours.

Credit transferred from other institutions must meet specific criteria and is subject to certain limitations.

Courses completed through correspondence study may not be applied to the master's degree.

To qualify for a graduate degree, students must achieve an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the degree program coursework and in all resident graduate coursework attempted. A student must also have at least a 3.0 in all coursework (including undergraduate coursework if any).

Additional information for master's degree students may be found in the Graduate College Bulletin.

General Requirements for all Master's Degrees

The master's degree requires the equivalent of at least two semesters of satisfactory graduate work and additional work as may be prescribed for the degree.

All coursework applied to the master's degree must carry graduate credit.

Master's degree programs which require a thesis consist of at least 30 credit hours. All non-thesis master's degree programs require at least 32 credit hours.

Credit transferred from other institutions must meet specific criteria and is subject to certain limitations.

Courses completed through correspondence study may not be applied to the master's degree.

To qualify for a graduate degree, students must achieve an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the degree program coursework and in all resident graduate coursework attempted. A student must also have at least a 3.0 in all coursework (including undergraduate coursework if any).

Additional information for master's degree students may be found in the Graduate College Bulletin.

General Information

History and Purpose

A School of Journalism was first established at the University of Oklahoma in 1913. During the early years, the thrust of the program was to prepare young people for reporting and editing careers in newspapers and magazines. By 1921, the curriculum had expanded to include courses in advertising and newspaper management that were at the forefront of journalism education in the country. The course offerings of the school continued to grow to include radio news in the 1930s. By the late 1950s, courses in professional writing, public relations, and television news had been added.

The School of Journalism was renamed the H.H. Herbert School of Journalism and Mass Communication in 1961. Herbert, the school's second director, led the school from 1917 to 1945. Under his leadership, the standards of the school were raised, and by 1921 the school became one of only 11 institutions in the United States to meet the requirements for admission to the Association of American Schools and Departments of Journalism. High standards continue with the college's accreditation by the Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communication. Only about a quarter of the journalism programs in the U.S. meet the ACEJMC's accreditation standards. In May 2000, the H.H. Herbert School of Journalism and Mass Communication became the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication.

The Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication is housed in Gaylord Hall located on the South Oval. The 62,000-square-foot building opened in fall 2004 (Phase I) and includes a fully digital television production studio; a news ticker facing the South Oval; a completely wireless network; an open multimedia lab; a spacious library; three computer classrooms; a video conferencing classroom and a dozen video editing suites. Gaylord Hall (Phase II) opened 2009 and adds an additional 46,000 square feet.

The college's goal is to provide students with the most effective training and preparation possible for careers in every facet of the mass communication industry. This education includes conceptual courses in journalism history, ethics, public opinion, communication law, public relations and advertising; various delivery systems, including print, broadcast, and online; and craft courses in gathering writing, editing, and processing information.

The college holds memberships in The Association of Schools of Journalism and Mass Communication (ASJMC), and the Broadcast Education Association. The college is also the headquarters for the Oklahoma Scholastic Media, which is the oldest continuing secondary school press organization in the world.

Programs & Facilities

Production Facilities

The Gaylord College has developed a facility that offers students the opportunity to produce high quality video and television programs. This includes studio cameras and controls; digital audio; single camera video production; field audio production; studio and field lighting non-fiction and documentary production; and fictional and experimental video production. Several post-production platforms are available, suited to different levels of production.

The Edith Kinney Gaylord Library

The Edith Kinney Gaylord Library is located in Gaylord Hall, Room 2500. The library is one of only a handful of journalism and mass communication libraries in the United States, and one of the few privately endowed by a department, school, or college of journalism.

Thus, the library operates separately from the OU Libraries but is known and utilized by many administrators, faculty, staff and students outside of the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication. Officially a non-lending/non-circulating library, it contains materials pertaining to all programs within the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication. These include books, videos, popular and pro/trade magazines, journals, major U.S. newspapers, and miscellaneous Oklahoma newspapers. The reference area has materials ranging from Nielsen and Arbitron market reports to Film Review Index. A separate area contains most of the theses and many of the special projects written by graduate students within the college. There are also various special collections, which include histories of journalism and mass communication, as well as former professors' personal papers. In addition to print materials, a media library is in the planning stages and will house present and new collections of non-print materials, including CD-ROMs, videos, DVDs and motion picture films. The library also boasts a large collection of Oklahoma newspaper microfilm, many of which are complete runs.

Student Services Center

The Student Services Center is located in 2533 Gaylord Hall. The office staff is knowledgeable about undergraduate degree programs offered by the college. Academic counselors also assist students with transcript evaluation, enrollment and graduation requirements, as well as any problems of an academic nature. Students may seek internship/career assistance in the Student Services Center.

OU Nightly

OU Nightly is a live, student-run newscast produced by the college. The newscast is the collective effort of students in the television news and news practicum courses offered through the college, with additional input from other journalism students and the OU School of Meteorology. An industry standard style newscast, OU Nightly airs live on Cox Cable channel 4 in Norman in a pre-prime time slot Monday through Friday during both the fall and spring semesters. Prime-time news cut-ins are also produced by Gaylord College students.

The WIRE

The WIRE is a student managed web radio station providing music, news, and entertainment programming for OU students as well as the Norman community. The WIRE is also carried on OU Nightly's SAP channel on Cox Cable channel 4 as sound-only content. A rebroadcast of the OU Nightly newscast is available to Oklahoma City and Tulsa area residents through Cox Cable.

Students may also seek volunteer or paid positions and earn academic credit with OU Nightly and The WIRE, as well as with The Oklahoma Daily newspaper, the Sooner yearbook, or with KGOU radio.

Multimedia Lab

The Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication computer labs are open to all students enrolled in JMC courses approximately 85 hours each week. The latest Macintosh computers feature a wide array of software applications including Microsoft Office, Adobe Creative Suite (Photoshop, Illustrator, InDesign, Dreamweaver, Flash, Fireworks and Acrobat Professional), Apple Final Cut Studio, AVID Media Composer, SPSS, Final Draft, Roxio Toast, the iLife Suite (iTunes, iPhoto, iMovie, iWeb, iDvd) and more. Broadcast students also have access to powerful video editing stations running the Final Cut Studio. Lab hours are extended during the peak of the semester.

Work Experiences

Students are encouraged to supplement traditional classroom experience with on-the-job training, which will often increase the chances of gaining a professional position after graduation. Students may enroll in a practicum to receive credit while working at one of several on-campus media operations. In addition, several journalism and mass communication courses provide experience through coordination with The Oklahoma Daily campus newspaper and Sooner Yearbook.

Television and Radio

Broadcasting and electronic media students have the opportunity to work for the student-produced television station, TV4OU, producing shows such as the award-winning OU Nightly newscast; sports magazine show, OUr Sports Pad; morning show, Wake Up! Oklahoma; or the music magazine, The Set. In addition, students work on major independent projects such as films, documentaries, and commercial productions.

Students wishing to work in radio can get hands on experience at two on-campus stations, student-run The Wire and KGOU, the local NPR station. Students may also work with the athletic department's high-definition production unit, SoonerVision or with guest programs such as ESPN-U.

Advertising and Public Relations

In the summer of 2009, eighteen intrepid Strategic Communications students devoted their entire vacation to learn the workings of an advertising / public relations agency. They bonded over the necessary details of operating an agency that was to be both entrepreneurial and pedagogical. They created such a firm foundation that today Lindsey + Asp is an operational stratcomm laboratory, working with real clients in a real world atmosphere that rivals any professional agency. Lindsey + Asp is a true experiential learning opportunity for not only strategic communications students, but for those in professional writing and broadcast and electronic media as well. The application process for prospective agency staff is rigorous in order to ensure that the quality of Lindsey + Asp work and the agency's reputation with clients is maintained.

Online opportunities can be found throughout many of the work experiences listed above. Students may produce online content for The Oklahoma Daily, SoonerVision, TV4OU, The Wire, or the advertising/public relations agency.

Internships

The college's close location to the professional job market in Oklahoma City provides students with outstanding opportunities for part-time employment with professional communication organizations and departments. Internships outside of the state are encouraged as well.

Juniors and seniors may also participate in the college's internship for credit program, in which students may gain experience and degree credit in paid or unpaid positions. Students must have at least 75 hours earned and a 3.00 retention grade point average to apply for an internship for credit. Internship application forms are available in the Student Services Center as well as on the college's website. Students who wish to receive credit for internship experience must obtain permission from the college no later than the end of the first week of the internship. Internship opportunities are posted on the college's Web site and in the Student Services Center. Students may also arrange their own internships. Students also have the option of gaining general elective credit for internship through OU Career Services once JMC credits have been maxed out.

Gaylord Extra

The Gaylord Extra is the college's primary method of communicating information and important deadlines to journalism and mass communication majors. The Gaylord Extra includes information on drop and add deadlines, withdrawal deadlines, advising schedules, graduation, degree checks, scholarship application deadlines, internships, workshops, college-sponsored job fairs, and other college-related announcements. Students enrolled in the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication will receive the Gaylord Extra in their OU e-mail account every week. The Gaylord Extra is also posted on the college's website. Event-related announcements are also posted throughout the building, on the College's Web site, Facebook page and sent via special event e-mails.

Student Organizations

Several organizations are invaluable in developing ties that carry into professional life. These student organizations include:

- AdClub, the advertising society for students interested in advertising media, agencies and strat comm;
- Society of Professional Journalists (SPJ), for students aspiring to news careers;
- Public Relations Student Society of America (PRSSA), for students interested in public relations as a career;
- Oklahoma University College Broadcasters (OUCB), for students in broadcasting and electronic media;
- National Association of Black Journalists (NABJ), an organization for African-American students who aspire to careers in mass communication;
- Kappa Tau Alpha (KTA), an honorary scholastic organization for journalism and mass communication students;
- Native American Journalists Association (NAJA);
- National Association of Hispanic Journalists (NAHS);
- WIRE Programmers Group;
- Oklahoma Daily;
- Professional Writing Students Group;
- Graduate Student Interest Group; and
- Asian American Journalist Association Interest Group

Scholarships

Each year, the Gaylord College awards approximately $250,000 in scholarships, with nearly $30,000 reserved for incoming freshmen who demonstrate academic and journalistic promise. Recipients of freshman level scholarships have special curricular opportunities to enhance their academic experiences. Transfer students are eligible for all upper-class level scholarships. Freshmen students use the OU common scholarship application, so no additional application is necessary. Upperclassmen scholarship applications are available on the college's website under "Student Resources". The upperclassmen scholarship applications are generally available online by November 15, annually.

Undergraduate Study

The Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication offers professionally-oriented undergraduate degree programs in the following fields: Strategic Communication (advertising and public relations); News Media (journalism); and Media Arts (Broadcast and Electronic Media, and Professional Writing).

Admission

Students who have earned at least 24 semester credit hours with a 2.75 retention grade point average are eligible for admission to the college as pre-journalism majors only. With the exception of the college's practicum course, JMC 3011, pre-journalism majors may not enroll in any upper-division journalism and mass communication courses until the following college entrance requirements have been met:

- completion of JMC 1013 with a grade of C or better;
- completion of an additional 24 hours of general education coursework;
- a successful score on both College entrance exams; the Language Skills Test (LST), which includes portions on grammar, punctuation and spelling; the Academic Integrity Test (AIT), which covers information from the Academic Misconduct Code as printed in the University of Oklahoma Student Code booklet;
- a combined retention grade point average of 2.75 on all work attempted, as well as a 2.75 GPA on all OU coursework (transfer students from other institutions will not be held for the OU GPA requirement); and
- filing a Gaylord College Admission Form in the Student Services Center in Gaylord Hall.

Once fully admitted to the program, students will be cleared to enroll in JMC 2033, the college's gateway course. Transfer students who have already completed the equivalent of JMC 2033 at another institution will be cleared to enroll in the beginning upper division JMC courses in their major upon successful completion of the LST.

It is important to note that once fully admitted to the college, it will take a minimum of four full semesters (excluding summers and intersessions) to complete any of the journalism and mass communication programs.

After full admission to the college, students must maintain a 2.50 OU retention GPA and a 2.50 combined retention GPA Students who fail to maintain the minimum GPA requirements will be placed on academic contract. Students have one semester to raise their GPA to the required minimum. Students who fail to raise their GPA will be stopped out of the Gaylord College and asked to change majors. Students stopped out of the Gaylord College must reapply to the program under the same procedures outlined under Admission. Students may apply for readmission only once.

The college's degree programs are accredited by the Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communications (ACEJMC). The college endorses the philosophy of the council that a broad foundation of knowledge and experience will enhance the professional lives of its graduates. In support of that liberal arts philosophy, the curriculum directs students to divide their studies among the arts, sciences, business and related fields so that 50 hours of their degree work are done in the college and at least 80 hours are taken outside the college. Such a ratio gives students the opportunity to develop specialties in mass communication skills while acquiring the recommended broad liberal arts base.

Language Skills Test (LST)/Academic Integrity Test (AIT)

The Language Skills Test is the entrance examination to the Gaylord College. The LST must be completed prior to enrollment in JMC 2033, a course that is required of all journalism and mass communication majors.

The LST is administered in the Student Services Center (2533 Gaylord Hall) Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. No appointment is necessary. Test results are available immediately.

The LST includes 80 questions on grammar, punctuation and spelling.

The college encourages students to thoroughly review these areas prior to taking the LST. An online study guide is available on the college's website. Students are also encouraged to review a grammar and composition textbook (several are recommended on the college's Web site) as well as the Student Academic Integrity Code.

The LST may be attempted three times. If a student fails the third time, the student will be required to enroll in JMC 0123, a course that will not apply toward the degree.

The AIT consist of 20 questions that are taken directly from information in the Academic Misconduct Code.

Advising

With the exception of Intersession, advising is mandatory prior to each academic term for all students in the Gaylord College. Advising for the summer session and the fall semester begins in February; advising for the spring semester begins in September. Students are advised by professional academic counselors in the Student Services Center. Students may also meet with faculty members to discuss careers, internships, and professional issues. Notices about advising will be posted in the Gaylord Extra.

Students are strongly encouraged to maintain current local addresses and e-mail addresses with the university, as important advising and graduation information is distributed each academic term in the Gaylord Extra.

Transfer Students

The Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication welcomes transfer students from other colleges or universities. The Office of Admissions determines which credits will be accepted from a transferring institution. The application of those credits toward a BA in Journalism and Mass Communication will be determined by an academic counselor in the Student Services Center. Transfer students must meet with an academic counselor prior to their first enrollment at the University. Transfer work is counted as lower-division or upper-division depending on the level at which it was offered at the institution where it was earned. Two-year college work is acceptable only as lower-division credit.

Students may transfer in a maximum of 12 hours of journalism and mass communication coursework prior to full admission to the Gaylord College. Once fully admitted to the college, students may petition the faculty to have an additional three (3) hours from an outside ACEJMC institution applied to their University of Oklahoma degree. A maximum of 15 credit hours of JMC transfer coursework may be applied to a degree.

Undergraduate Degree Requirements

Students who plan to earn a BA in Journalism in four years should plan to complete at least 33 credit hours per academic year. Students should also be aware of important academic deadlines, which are listed on the university's Academic Calendars website.

The Student Services Center assists students in determining the number of hours remaining to complete the degree; however, the responsibility for meeting graduation requirements lies with the student.

A BA in Journalism is made up of the following components:

- University-Wide General Education requirements;
- Additional General Education requirements specific to the College of Journalism and Mass Communication;
- Requirements in the major;
- Requirements in the major support area (advertising majors only); and
- Electives.

Major Requirements

Advertising

A major in Advertising (p. 1459) is ideal for the student interested in artistic expression, persuasive messaging, and strategic planning and research. Our graduates pursue careers as brand managers, media planners, account executives in advertising agencies, in marketing firms, and in-house corporate communications. The critical thinking, analysis and research skills also prepares students for postgraduate studies.

Creative Media Production

A major in Creative Media Production (p. 1462) is ideal for the student interested in using sight, sound, motion, and words to tell informative, persuasive or entertaining stories and who wants to pursue careers in media industries such as film, corporate production, radio or television. The critical thinking, analysis, and research skills also prepares students for postgraduate studies.

Journalism

A major in Journalism (p. 1465) is ideal for the student interested in writing, public affairs or current events, or digital storytelling and multimedia production. Journalism majors pursue careers as reporters, news anchors, broadcast journalists or copy writers and editors. The critical thinking, analysis and research skills also prepares students for postgraduate studies.

Professional Writing

The Professional Writing (p. 1467) option has a 65-year history of helping its majors develop the skills needed to succeed in the publishing industry. Those skills, which include the ability to communicate clearly, think logically, manage large-scale projects, and craft a compelling narrative, are critical to virtually all careers. They also prepare students for graduate work in writing-intensive fields that include creative writing, English, journalism, and the law.

Public Relations

A major in Public Relations (p. 1470) is ideal for the student interested in problem solving, event planning, and strategic planning and research. Our graduates pursue careers as public information officers, account executives in public relations agencies, community relations, and in-house corporate communications. The critical thinking, analysis and research skills gained with a public relations education also prepares students for postgraduate studies.

Graduation Rules and Regulations

- A minimum 2.50 combined retention grade point average in the major, overall, and on the last 60 hours is required to earn a Bachelor of Arts in Journalism degree.
- A grade of C or better is required in each major course, resident or transfer.
- Students fully admitted to the college may petition the faculty to have an additional three (3) credit hours from an outside ACEJMC institution applied to their University of Oklahoma degree. A maximum of 15 credit hours of JMC transfer coursework may be applied to a degree.
- The Senior Capstone course must be taken in residence at OU.
- Students must file an official application for graduation during their first two weeks of the final term of enrollment.

Credit Hour Regulations

- At least 124 semester credit hours applicable towards a Bachelor of Arts in Journalism degree must be earned. Not all hours acceptable by the University are acceptable towards a BA in Journalism.
- At least 60 semester credit hours must be earned at accredited senior (four-year) institutions.
- At least 48 semester credit hours must be earned at the upper-division level (courses numbered 3000 or above).
- At least 30 semester credit hours must be earned in the major, including at least 21 at the upper-division level.
- A minimum of 15 of the last 30 hours must be earned in residence at the University of Oklahoma. OU correspondence courses and transfer courses are non-resident credit.
- No more than 50 hours of JMC coursework may be applied to a Bachelor of Arts in Journalism degree. If a student pursues a minor in Film and Video Studies, any JMC courses which are applied toward this minor are also included in the maximum number of JMC credit hours allowed.
- No more than 16 semester credit hours earned under the Pass/No Pass option will apply toward the degree. P/NP credit may not be used to satisfy general education, college, major, major support, or minor requirements. Transfer credit graded P/NP is counted as part of the 16 semester credit hours earned.
- No more than 16 semester credit hours earned in all basic skills courses, including PE activity courses; military courses including Aerospace, Naval Science and Military Science courses; and military in-service experience will apply toward a BA in Journalism and Mass Communication. No more than four of the 16 hours may be in PE activity courses. Two credit hours of basic military training may be counted toward the degree when the posting of the credits by the Office of Admissions is in the form of four one-hour courses as follows: Personal Physical Conditioning, First Aid, Outdoor Skills Practicum and Marksmanship.
- No more than 12 semester credit hours earned in all individual study courses, e.g., Independent Study, but excluding Honors Reading and Research, will be counted as part of the minimum 130 semester credit hours required for graduation.
- No more than 31 semester credit hours earned by a combination of credit by exam (e.g., CLEP or Advanced Standing Exam) and correspondence courses will apply toward the degree. JMC majors may take general education and elective courses by correspondence, but are not permitted to take journalism and mass communication work by correspondence.

Ten-Year Limitation Rules

JMC credit which is more than 10 years old may not be applied toward a Bachelor of Arts in Journalism degree unless approval is obtained from the college's Appeals Board. A student in the Gaylord College may elect to follow the degree program requirements that were in place at the time of the student's first enrollment in the Oklahoma State System for Higher Education (excluding high school concurrent enrollment), or exercise the option to update to the most current degree program requirements. Those who elect to follow requirements in place at the time of their first enrollment must complete all degree requirements within a maximum of 10 calendar years from the date of that enrollment. If the work for the degree covers a period longer than 10 years, the student must update to the most current degree program requirements.

Independent Projects

Students who qualify may earn elective journalism and mass communication credit for special projects. Enrollment requires the permission of a supervising faculty member. Generally, permission is given only when the proposed study program does not duplicate material or experiences available in regular offerings of the school.

Interdisciplinary Program in Film and Video Studies

In keeping with the school's participation in and commitment to the interdisciplinary program in Film and Video Studies the Gaylord College allows FVS students to enroll in a number of JMC courses. In order to receive permission to enroll in a JMC course, the FVS student must present an advisement form signed by an FVS advisor. Film and Video Studies students may complete a maximum of 15 JMC credit hours. Journalism and Mass Communication majors, completing a minor in Film and Video Studies, will be allowed a combined maximum of 45 hours in JMC to count toward the Bachelor of Arts in Journalism degree.

Distinction and Special Distinction Degrees

Undergraduate students who complete a Bachelor of Arts in Journalism may be graduated with Distinction if they have completed a minimum of 60 hours at the University of Oklahoma and achieve the required grade point averages. The degree with Distinction will be conferred on students who achieve at least a 3.60 grade point average overall and on the required OU resident work. The degree with Special Distinction requires a minimum 3.80 grade point average overall and on the required OU resident work. The final semester's grades will be included in the grade point average that determines the Distinction or Special Distinction degree.

Minors

Broadcast Meteorology Minor

Minor in Broadcast Meteorology (p. 1473)

Minor in Creative Media Production

Graduates will be prepared to become both accomplished researchers and outstanding teachers in colleges and universities around the world.

Admission

Students seeking admission to the college's master's programs, which lead to the Master of Arts and Master of Professional Writing degrees, must meet all requirements for admission to the University's Graduate College. Please see the Graduate College for specific information.

To be admitted in full standing, a student must have a minimum undergraduate grade point average of 3.20 on the 4.0 scale on the last 60 hours of coursework completed. Students may be admitted conditionally with a 3.0 grade point average in the last 60 hours of undergraduate coursework.

For full admission to the M.A., a student must also have successfully completed courses in media writing, mass communication history or law, an upper-division journalism and mass communication elective, and a course in statistics. Admission to the graduate program is conditional until the aforementioned requirements are complete.

Professional writing applicants without sufficient background may be required to take courses on short story writing, writing for the entertainment media, or both as part of conditional admission.

Students with a grade point average below 3.0 in the last 60 hours, while not eligible for admission into the journalism and mass communication master's programs, may seek admission to the university as Special Students. By permission, upon completion of a minimum of 12 hours of 3000-4000-level coursework with a grade point average of 3.25 or better, they could be considered for admission into the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication.

G4000-Level Courses

A maximum of 12 credit hours of G4000-level courses will count toward the master's degree. No more than nine of these hours may be in journalism and mass communication.

Transfer Credit

A maximum of eight credit hours of graduate work may be transferred from other universities if such work meets the college's requirements. No transfer credit will be accepted toward meeting core requirements.

General Requirements for all Master's Degrees

The master's degree requires the equivalent of at least two semesters of satisfactory graduate work and additional work as may be prescribed for the degree.

All coursework applied to the master's degree must carry graduate credit.

Master's degree programs which require a thesis consist of at least 30 credit hours. All non-thesis master's degree programs require at least 32 credit hours.

Credit transferred from other institutions must meet specific criteria and is subject to certain limitations.

Courses completed through correspondence study may not be applied to the master's degree.

To qualify for a graduate degree, students must achieve an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher in the degree program coursework and in all resident graduate coursework attempted. A student must also have at least a 3.0 in all coursework (including undergraduate coursework if any).

Additional information for master's degree students may be found in the Graduate College Bulletin.

Media Management, Graduate Certificate

Minimum Total Hours: 13

Program Code: G083

It's called the media business for a reason. Whether it's a newsroom, a public relations firm, an advertising agency, or a film company, all are in need of solid management skills and sound business sense. The Gaylord College Media Management Graduate Certificate provides media professionals with the business basics they will need to be successful overseeing either an existing media business or starting a new entrepreneurial venture. The Media Management Graduate Certificate combines the media industry knowledge from Gaylord College with the business skills expertise offered by Price College of Business. A total of 13 hours is required for the certificate.

A graduate certificate is not a graduate degree. A graduate degree represents a program of independent inquiry beyond the depth of coursework alone, while a graduate certificate represents a set of courses only.

- All courses must be taken at OU. No transfer credit will apply.
- No course substitutions are permitted for graduate certificates.
- Coursework applied to a graduate certificate cannot be more than five years old as of the semester the graduate certificate is awarded.
- Students must earn a grade point average of 3.00 or higher on all coursework applied to the graduate certificate.

A graduate certificate is not a graduate degree. A graduate degree represents a program of independent inquiry beyond the depth of coursework alone, while a graduate certificate represents a set of courses only.

- All courses must be taken at OU. No transfer credit will apply.
- No course substitutions are permitted for graduate certificates.
- Coursework applied to a graduate certificate cannot be more than five years old as of the semester the graduate certificate is awarded.
- Students must earn a grade point average of 3.00 or higher on all coursework applied to the graduate certificate.

Mass Communication, Ph.D.

Program Code: D660

Doctor of Philosophy

The Ph.D. program in the Gaylord College allows students to examine more deeply the theories that underlie mass communication and to critique mass communication practices. The program also allows students to pursue advanced study in the Gaylord College and to prepare for university-level research and teaching across a variety of areas.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

The following requirements must be met before a student will be admitted to the doctoral program in the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication:

- 3.50 in previous graduate work
- Strong Graduate Record Exam (GRE) scores
- Three letters of recommendation
- A one to two-page resume
- A minimum 1,000-word essay detailing reasons for pursuing the Ph.D., to include the intended future application
- A minimum TOEFL score of 550 (213 computer-based)

A minimum of three years of professional experience in a mass communication field is preferred.

Excellent candidates who do not meet admission requirements will be given careful consideration.

Retention and graduation standards reflect OU Graduate College policies.

In addition to taking coursework aimed at fostering research, students must prepare an original research paper for presentation in an annual mini-conference each year until admitted to candidacy.

AREAS OF CONCENTRATION

The program offers three areas of concentration:

News and Information

Emphasizes performance, critical analysis, effects, representations and the community-building potential of news and information media. Faculty expertise: organizational management; media ethics and normative theory, media law, race and gender, media credibility, and international/intercultural/ethnic media.

Strategic Communication

Emphasizes a broad spectrum of theoretical and practice-oriented research topics and problems in public relations and advertising. Faculty expertise: rhetorical analysis; race and gender, international public relations, law, new media advertising, crisis communication, organizational behavior, and message strategy and tactics.

Media Arts

Emphasizes performance, critical analysis, effects, representations and the community-building potential of entertainment and experimental media including visual digital and video; audio; multimedia, and long-form print media. Faculty expertise: creative, writing, script writing, documentary film, multimedia, video, and digital production.

Areas of Emphasis within Concentrations

Doctoral students will be encouraged to design a flexible, interdisciplinary program targeting an area of emphasis within these concentrations. Some examples are: history; media management and economics; media ethics; visual communication, international communication, and communication theory and methodology. Students will be guided in making these choices through consultation with their committees and by examining topic areas as defined in leading professional organizations such as the Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication, and the International Communication Association. These choices will allow students to tailor courses to their interests and plan dissertation topics accordingly.

General Requirements for Doctoral Degrees

A student should expect to spend at least the equivalent of three full academic years beyond the bachelor's degree to obtain the doctoral degree. During this period the student will take appropriate graduate coursework, successfully complete the general examination, and successfully defend and submit the final dissertation.

All coursework applied to the doctoral degree must carry graduate credit.

The doctoral degree requires at least 90 post-baccalaureate hours, including both formal coursework and hours of research.

The minimum hour requirement for a specific doctoral degree program cannot be waived.

No more than one-half of the credit hours, both OU and overall, excluding Research for Doctoral Dissertation (6980), may be S/U-graded coursework.

The student must be in residence at OU for at least two consecutive 16-week semesters during the pursuit of the doctoral degree while enrolled and engaged in coursework or research activities as prescribed by the major academic unit.

For more detailed regulations and requirements for Doctoral degrees, please consult the Graduate College Bulletin: http://www.ou.edu/gradcollege/forms/bulletin

General Information

The College of Law was established in 1909. In 1911 the College of Law joined the Association of American Law Schools. Since 1923 the College of Law has been accredited by the American Bar Association's Section on Legal Education. The College of Law is the only public law school in Oklahoma.

In 1971, the University of Oklahoma Law Center was formed. The Law Center comprises the College of Law, Law Library and the Legal Assistant Education program. The center was established to encourage and facilitate development of programs beyond the normal law school scope. The role of the Law Center is more than training lawyers. It provides a number of professional activities to serve the Bar and the citizens of the state of Oklahoma. These include continuing legal education for lawyers, training of legal assistants, publishing books on Oklahoma law, organized legal research, public service projects, and legal aid services for the needy. It is home to the Donald E. Pray Library.

The Law Center building, now named Andrew M. Coats Hall, was completely renovated in 2002, adding 80,000 square feet to the facilities. The expansion included a new law library with large reading room, high-speed modernized computer labs, private study rooms, and a 250-seat high-tech courtroom. OU Law students now are able to watch live trials and appeals hearings as state and federal courts bring the real world into the Law Center.

Programs & Facilities

Donald E. Pray Law Library

The Law Library's mission is to support the scholarly and instructional activities of the Law Center's faculty and students and to serve the research and informational needs of the University, the legal community, and the public. The Law Library strives to provide our patrons with access to a rich collection of research materials in both print and electronic formats.

OU Legal Clinic

Through the OU College of Law Civil Clinic and Criminal Defense Clinic, students represent clients from Cleveland and McClain counties who would not otherwise be able to afford counsel. Operating under the close supervision of faculty attorneys, student interns face the same situations and practice demands they will encounter as attorneys while being directly responsible for representation of clients as licensed legal interns

Legal Assistant Education Program

OU Law's ABA-approved legal assistant/paralegal education certificate prepares students to work with lawyers in public and private law practice, in the judiciary, corporations, and government.

Oklahoma Law Review

The Oklahoma Law Review is published quarterly by University of Oklahoma College of Law to serve the profession and the public with timely discussions of state and federal legal issues.

American Indian Law Review

The American Indian Law Review was launched by a group of OU Law students in 1973 to provide a scholarly forum for the study of legal issues relevant to Native Americans and indigenous peoples around the world.

Oil and Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Journal (ONE J)

ONE J: Oil and Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Journal is a peer-reviewed publication, the first of its kind in the nation. Its student editors publish domestic and international legal scholarship on oil, gas, energy, and natural resources law, for the benefit of a worldwide readership that accesses ONE J content via various online platforms.

Center for International Business and Human Rights

The International Business and Human Rights Center has a two-fold mission: (1) to provide OU Law students with academic training, networking, and practical experience in this emerging field that will equip them to be leaders in this space as well as train the greater legal community and others in IBHR issues, and (2) to provide academic think tank support on international business and human rights issues, with a particular focus on the energy/extractive sector and Information and Communications Technology (ICT) companies.

Center for Technology and Innovation in Practice

The Center for Technology and Innovation in Practice engages with academics, policymakers and industry experts to research and implement the use of technology in legal education and law practice. The OU Law Center for Technology & Innovation in Practice exists to prepare law students for practice through technology training and innovative initiatives to move the practice of law forward.

Center for the Study of American Indian Law and Policy

The Center for the Study of American Indian Law and Policy provides counsel to tribal, state and national policymakers and a forum for the interdisciplinary discussion and resolution of problems facing native communities.

Oil & Gas, Natural Resources and Energy Center

OU Law is a national and international leader in oil and gas, natural resources, and energy law – what we call ONE. Our expansive offerings are synthesized within our ONE Center, covering our academic degrees and certificates – J.D. certificates and an LL.M. in energy and natural resources, and an online M.L.S. in oil, gas, and energy law – and programming. Our ONE Center and OU Law host the annual Eugene Kuntz Conference on Natural Resources Law and Policy, the largest conference of its kind in the country, and are home to the Oil and Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Journal (ONE J), the first journal of its kind. Students can also participate in the student association, ONE S – Oil and Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Society. Thanks to our strategic partnerships throughout the industry, we are able to build upon our academic strength to provide unparalleled opportunities to our students.

FINANCIAL AID AND SCHOLARSHIPS

The College of Law has undertaken a major initiative in recent years to increase the amount of awards and scholarships.The college has a separate application for scholarships and awards. Students are encouraged to complete the scholarship questionnaire during the first two weeks of either the fall or spring semester of each year.

The College of Law also participates in the FAFSA program. Students applying for financial aid should file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Contact the Student Financial Center, 1000 Asp Avenue, 105 Buchanan Hall, Norman, OK 73019, (405) 325-9000, for more information.

Career Services

The College of Law provides career planning for students through its Career Development Office. The office is involved in a variety of activities to assist students seeking internships as well as those seeking permanent employment. These activities include career goal setting, networking and job search session, mock interviews, and hosting on-campus interviews.

Student Organizations

There are many student organizations at the College of Law.

- Student Bar Association and its Board of Governors

Programs Offered

DOCTORAL DEGREE

The College of Law offers the Juris Doctor degree (p. 1518), the first professional degree in law. Areas of concentration include American Indian and Indigenous Peoples Law; Business, Commercial, and Real Estate; Litigation; Oil and Gas, Natural Resources and Energy Law; Constitutional and Public Interest Law; Criminal Law and Procedure; Estate Planning; Family Law; General Practitioner; Intellectual Property Law; International and Comparative Law; and Tax Law.

DUAL DEGREES

The OU College of Law offers flexible dual degree options for J.D. students wishing to concentrate their studies in a specific area of practice. Our dual degree program, offered in partnership with other schools and colleges across The University of Oklahoma, allows students to complete two advanced degrees in less time than if earned independently, typically in three to four years.

Dual Degrees Offered:

- Juris Doctor and Master of Business administration (J.D./M.B.A)
- Juris Doctor and Master of Public Health (J.D./M.P.H.)
- Juris Doctor and Master of Arts in International Studies (J.D./MAIS)
- Juris Doctor and Master of Arts in Native American Studies (J.D./N.A.S.)
- Juris Doctor and Masters of Health Administration (J.D./MHA)
- Build Your Own Dual Degree: Juris Doctor and Master's Degree

MASTERS

Post Doctorate Degree: Master of Laws

The John. B. Turner LL.M. Program offers five Master of Laws degrees:

- Energy and Natural Resources Law – online
- Indigenous People's Law - online
- International Business Law - online
- Healthcare Law - online
- US Legal Studies (for foreign-educated lawyers) – on campus
  - U.S. Legal Studies students have the option to earn a certificate in:
    - Energy and Natural Resources or
    - Indigenous Peoples Law.

Master's Degrees: Master of Legal Studies

The Master of Legal Studies in Healthcare Law (p. 1512) is designed for non-lawyers whose careers demand an understanding of healthcare-related legal issues. It provides graduate level education for professionals who work in the administration of healthcare facilities or systems. Students receive a grounding in laws and regulations that frame, guide, and direct the provision of healthcare services. The program offers a competitive advantage to anyone in the healthcare industry who handles compliance, advocacy, negotiates contracts, deals with the Affordable Healthcare act, manages real estate transactions, or works closely with healthcare attorneys. The curriculum requires the study of laws regulating the delivery and quality of medical services, access to public and private means of payment for such services, and transactions and liability within the healthcare industry.

The Master of Legal Studies in Indigenous Peoples Law (p. 1512) is designed for non-lawyers whose careers demand an understanding of the complex rules of Federal Indian Law. It offers a strong foundation in Native American Law for anyone who deals with contracts, negotiations or any other issues that demand knowledge of Native American self-governance issues, policy, regulation or business practice.This program can be taken entirely online.

The Master of Legal Studies in International Business Law (p. 1513) provides graduate level education for business professionals relating to the legal and regulatory environment of international business law. Students will receive a grounding in laws and regulations that frame, guide, and direct international finance, sales, and disputes.

The Master of Legal Studies in Oil, Gas, and Energy Law (p. 1513) recognizes a need for an online graduate program to serve the professionals in the energy industry who do not wish to seek a Juris Doctor degree at this point in their career. It is specifically designed for non-lawyers whose careers demand an understanding of energy-related legal issues. The degree program offers a competitive advantage to anyone in the energy industry who negotiates oil and gas contracts, deals with mineral rights or real estate transactions, or works closely with energy attorneys. This program offers an accelerated program that can be taken primarily online.

GRADUATE CERTIFICATES

The OU College of Law also offers the following graduate certificates:

- The American Indian Law Graduate Certificate (p. 1513) allows students to enrich their knowledge of American Indian Law through coursework including indigenous peoples' culture, tribal courts, federal water law, and more. This certificate also includes experiential learning opportunities including an externship and work with OU Law's journal American Indian Law Review.
- The Business and Transactional Law Graduate Certificate (p. 1514) is suited for students who wish to enter a transactional and business counseling practice. Required and elective business law classes are the backbone of this program, which also includes training in business drafting and writing.
- The Energy and Natural Resources Law Graduate Certificate will allow LLM students to concentrate their studies in Energy and Natural Resources Law, choosing from the broad curriculum offered by the College of Law in this area.
- The Graduate Certificate in Indigenous Peoples Law (p. 1516) furthers students' study of Native American and other Indigenous Peoples Law, choosing from the broad curriculum offered by the College of Law in this area.
- The International Law Certificate (p. 1516) furthers students' knowledge of key international law issues. This certificate includes international interdisciplinary as well as externship opportunities.
- The Litigation Graduate Certificate (p. 1517) provides a firm foundation in the law that governs litigation and alternative dispute resolution. In addition to law coursework, students will take part in experiential learning, gain professional skills, and hone their public speaking and writing skills.
- The Graduate Certificate in Oil & Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Law (p. 1518) furthers students' knowledge of legal issues unique to the energy industry. Students learn more about oil and gas production—from well drilling to delivery systems—and also about wind and water law, conservation, mineral titles, international petroleum transactions, real estate, and more. Interdisciplinary options include energy management coursework from the OU Price College of Business or a geology class from the Mewbourne College of Earth and Energy.

Admission

Admission Process

Regular Admission

First year students are admitted only in the fall. Applicants must have a baccalaureate degree prior to matriculation in the College of Law. Application forms may be obtained online.

All applicants must take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT), or other graduate school admission test of suitable rigor. The LSAT is administered by the Educational Testing Service and available by writing for an application and information from: LSAT, Box 2000, Newtown, PA 18940, or via their website. Applicants must take the test no later than June of the year in which admission to the College of Law is sought and should indicate on the LSAT application form that their scores be reported to the University of Oklahoma College of Law.

All applicants must also register with the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS).

Each applicant must pay a non-refundable application fee.

Applicants are considered individually by the Admissions Committee, composed of three members of the law faculty. Selections are made from the most qualified, with approximately equal weight given to the LSAT score and the undergraduate grade point average. Admission is competitive as applications far outnumber available seats in the first-year class.

The Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education limit the number of nonresidents to 15 percent of the student body and precludes the admission of a nonresident whose qualifications are lower than those of a resident denied admission.

LSAT scores more than five years old will not be considered. When an applicant takes the LSAT more than once, we accept the highest score. Other factors, such as undergraduate major, improvement in the undergraduate GPA during the last years of study, grade inflation, working while in undergraduate school, and/or graduate work may be considered in reviewing an applicant's academic record.

Two letters of recommendation are required. Additionally, the Admissions Committee likes to conduct personal interviews with each applicant.

Applicants to whom admission is offered will be required to pay a $425 ($200 for MLS) non-refundable deposit, which will be applied toward the first semester's tuition. If the applicant does not enroll in the College of Law, the deposit is forfeited. The offered admission is good only for the semester for which it was granted. A deferment may be granted under special circumstances for one year. The fact that an applicant was admitted in a previous year but did not attend is given no weight in evaluating a subsequent application.

Applicants will be notified when their files are complete. If any information is missing, the applicant will be notified in time to submit the information before the deadline.

The application deadline is March 15. All applicants should be notified of their admission status by May 15.

Early Admission Program

In addition to the fall class, the College of Law also offers admission to a select group of students commencing in the summer term which starts in late May or June. Students selected for this program participate in an intensive program designed to facilitate their entry into the fall class. Applicants may apply for both fall admission and the Early Admission Program. These students will be identified by the Admissions Committee on the basis of factors, in addition to their GPA and LSAT, which demonstrate that they are capable of success in the study and practice of law. Students in the Early Admission Program are required to complete five or six hours of regular law coursework during the summer session prior to the fall semester for which admission is sought.

Transfer with Advanced Standing

To be considered for transfer with advanced standing, an applicant must have attended an ABA accredited law school. Students must complete one full year of study before being admitted. Admission for transfer is based upon law school GPA, class standing, and various other factors. Transfer applicants must submit:

- a completed copy of the University of Oklahoma College of Law Application for Admission and all related and supporting materials;
- LSAT scores (which will be requested by the College of Law from LSDAS);
- transcripts from all law schools attended;
- a letter from the Registrar indicating that the transfer applicant is in good standing and eligible to continue, including class rank through the end of the last semester attended;
- a personal statement indicating reasons for wanting the transfer; and
- non-refundable application fee.

Transfer applicants are encouraged to apply online.

Transfer applications must be submitted by June 1 for the fall semester and November 1 for the spring semester. Applicants will be notified as soon as a decision has been made.

A student cannot receive credit for work taken in another law school when enrolled at the same time in classes in the OU College of Law. When a student transfers to the College of Law from another school, grades at the other school will not be counted in determining the student's cumulative grade point average or class standing at the OU College of Law. Applicants who have been dismissed from another law school for scholarly deficiency or serious academic misconduct will not be considered for admission.

Grades

The grades given in the College of Law and the numerical grade point value are as follows: A+ = 12, A = 11, A- = 10, B+ = 9, B = 8, B- = 7, C+ = 6, C = 5, C- = 4, D+ = 3, D = 2, D- = 1, F = 0. The grades of Incomplete (I), Withdrawal Passing (W), Administrative Withdrawal (AW), Satisfactory (S) and Unsatisfactory (U) have no numerical value and are not included in the calculation of a student's grade point average. Certain courses are graded on a Satisfactory (S)/Unsatisfactory (U) basis. Students do not have the option of choosing to be graded S/U.

Attendance

Regular attendance in courses is considered indispensable. Each professor must adopt and announce an attendance policy that meets the requirements of the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools. When a student is absent an excessive number of times, the professor may withdraw the student from the course, or the professor may lower the student's grade (even to failing) in the course.

The college is a full-time law school, and students are expected to devote substantially all their time to the study of law. Excessive outside work is discouraged. White the American Bar Association doesn't monitor this anymore, OU College of Law policy states that a student may not work in excess of 20 hours per week while enrolled. First year students are urged to forego any substantial outside activities until they have had ample opportunity to measure the demands of legal study upon their time and energy.

Course Load

The College of Law limits the number of hours in which a student may enroll during a semester, thus assuring each student the opportunity for sufficient concentration on each subject. First-year students may enroll only in prescribed first-year courses. Second- and third-year students should enroll in a minimum of 10 credit hours and a maximum of 18 credit hours in a regular semester and a minimum of 5 and a maximum of 10 credit hours in a summer session, to be considered full-time students. Course loads less than (i.e., not considered full-time) or in excess of these hours must be approved by the Associate Dean for Academics and Curriculum Committee. In no instance is a student allowed to enroll in more than 18 hours per the parameters set by the American Bar Association..

Class Rank

A student's class ranking is available when grades are processed each semester. Grades are available online. Class rank is usually available within three days following the distribution of grades.

Code of Academic Responsibility

Conduct of law students in the law school is governed by a Code of Academic Responsibility. Each student is to abide by the Code, which represents the ethical standards of the legal profession. The complete text of the Code of Academic Responsibility is included in the first-year orientation materials, and is also available in the Student Services office.

Academic Appeals Board

The University of Oklahoma's "Joint Statement: Rights and Freedoms of Students" provides that students shall have "protection through orderly procedures against prejudiced or capricious academic evaluation." The rules of procedure governing proceedings before the Academic Appeals Board are provided in the Law Student Handbook, which can be found on the law student intranet.

Law, LL.M.

Overall GPA - Combined and OU: 5.00
Minimum Total Hours: 24

Program Code: M360/M361 (Online)

The John. B Turner LL.M. Program allows students to earn a Master of Laws degree with specializations in energy and natural resources, indigenous people's law, or US Legal Studies (for foreign-educated lawyers). OU Law provides Master of Law students outstanding opportunities such as studying in the classroom with world class faculty and juris doctor students and attending guest lectures, field trips, social events, and networking opportunities. Master of Laws students may also receive credit for related courses offered by other OU departments.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

To qualify for admission to the John B. Turner LL.M. program, applicants must have earned their first law degree — LL.B., J.D., or equivalent. Admission is highly selective, and those admitted must have excellent law school records, strong letters of recommendation, proficiency in English and leadership potential. Although not required, some work or research experience following completion of the first law degree is preferred.

The College of Law John B. Turner LL.M. program admissions page provides more information on admission requirements, the application process, and how to apply online.

Program Requirements

US LEGAL STUDIES

- The degree requires successful completion of 24 credit hours over two semesters of study (subject to possible extension for cause).
- Students may attend classes full-time at the University of Oklahoma College of Law
- Students may also specialize in Energy and Natural Resources Law and Indigenous Peoples Law.

Healthcare Law, M.L.S.

Overall GPA - Combined and OU: 7.00
Minimum Total Hours: 32

Program Code: M503

The Master of Legal Studies in Healthcare Law is designed for non-lawyers whose careers demand an understanding of healthcare-related legal issues. It provides graduate level education for professionals who work in the administration of healthcare facilities or systems. Students receive a grounding in laws and regulations that frame, guide, and direct the provision of healthcare services. The program offers a competitive advantage to anyone in the healthcare industry who handles compliance, advocacy, negotiates contracts, deals with the Affordable Healthcare act, manages real estate transactions, or works closely with healthcare attorneys. The curriculum requires the study of laws regulating the delivery and quality of medical services, access to public and private means of payment for such services, and transactions and liability within the healthcare industry.

This program is an online graduate degree that can be completed in 15 months.

General Information

MISSION AND DESCRIPTION OF THE COLLEGE

The mission of OU Extended Campus - College of Professional and Continuing Studies is to provide access to transformational, world-class University of Oklahoma degrees, certifications, and programs for a diverse group of learners. The college is best characterized by the populations it serves, as well as the specialized programming it offers. Primarily focusing on the higher education needs of place-bound working adults, military-connected personnel, and those seeking specialized study in selected professional areas, the college offers a variety of degrees at both graduate and undergraduate levels, including several programs offered collaboratively with other OU colleges. To facilitate understanding of the complex world in which we live and building on its historical roots, the college emphasizes a holistic approach to learning, focuses on the immediate application of learning to one's life and work, promotes lifelong learning opportunities, and encourages the work of active citizenship. While its programs were originally developed for adult and non-traditional students, many of the seminars, colloquia, and conferences offered by the college also serve students enrolled in conventional academic programs, as well as the general public.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

Formerly known as the College of Liberal Studies (CLS), the College of Professional and Continuing Studies (PACS) was renamed by action of the OU Regents in June 2017. The college was established in 1960 to serve the higher education needs of adult and non-traditional students. Prior to 2017, the college had been a division of University of Oklahoma Outreach, alongside another academically-focused administrative unit called Continuing Education Academic Programs (CEAP). Following the 2016 retirement of its long-time Dean, Dr. James P. Pappas, the decision was made to combine administrative oversight for CLS and CEAP into a singular administrative unit and rename the new organization to more accurately reflect the broadened scope of its programming.

FACULTY AND LEADERSHIP

The College of Professional and Continuing Studies utilizes a combination of its own departmental faculty, faculty from other University of Oklahoma colleges, and qualified practice professionals who serve as adjunct instructors to teach, advise and mentor students. Faculty and instructors are invited to participate in the college's programs on the basis of their professionalism and commitment to the mission, values, and goals of the organization. Leadership for the College of Professional and Continuing Studies is vested in the Dean, Associate Dean, college faculty, and senior staff. The organization also has an Executive Committee which serves in an advisory capacity, providing input on matters of program development, operation, policy, and overall quality.

GENERAL UNIVERSITY POLICIES

Students enrolled through the College of Professional and Continuing Studies are subject to the University of Oklahoma's general policies, scholastic regulations, and standards as outlined in the University's General Catalog. Questions concerning OU policies or procedures should be directed to the college.

PROGRAMS AND FACILITIES

Center for Independent and Distance Learning (CIDL)

The Center for Independent and Distance Learning (CIDL) serves both the university and external communities through its provision of online college-level courses, Testing Service activity, and Electronic Media and Photo Services. CIDL delivers college courses and degree programs to military personnel through contractual programs like the Navy College Program for Afloat (NCPACE) and GoArmyEd. In partnership with other OU Colleges, CIDL offers a variety of selected, undergraduate online courses. Each college-credit course contains subject matter identical to classes offered on campus. Credit through testing is provided to students through the University Testing Center, administered by CIDL. The Testing Center offers the College Level Examination Program (CLEP), Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education (DANTES) Standardized Subject Tests (DSST), and institutionally developed advanced standing examinations. The Testing Center also offers the American College Testing (ACT) residual exam and the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).

Developmental Studies

The Developmental Studies consortium, a partnership between OU Extended Campus - College of Professional and Continuing Studies and Rose State Community College, offers OU students a convenient way to strengthen their academic foundation prior to beginning University-level courses required by their academic degrees. DMAT 0113, DMAT 0123, DENG 0113, DRDG 0122, and UCOL 1013 are offered as courses to assist students in assuring their readiness to succeed in regular University-level coursework. For more information on these programs, contact Dr. Nancy Matthews at nmatthews@ou.edu or (405) 325-5101.

Extended Campus North America and Europe

Extended Campus North America and Europe was established in May 1964 as part of the University's continuing education and public service commitment. Funded by student enrollments under the 1958 Government Employees Manpower Act and with the support of the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, the University of Oklahoma pioneered the intensive seminar teaching format specifically for the military/adult learner. Today, thousands of men and women have completed their graduate degrees through University of Oklahoma's Extended Campus North America and Europe programs. Courses offered include advanced class preparation and one-week or two-weekend class sessions. In all aspects, except for the accelerated format, Extended Campus courses are identical to their counterparts taught on OU's Norman campus.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNER PROGRAMS

Center for English as a Second Language (CESL)

The Center for English as a Second Language (CESL) offers both an intensive English language program leading to proficiency, and acculturation to the American university classroom. Designed for highly motivated students who wish to master English quickly and thoroughly, CESL provides beginning, intermediate, and advanced level instruction throughout the year. CESL can assist in increasing the English language skills of international students who are academically qualified for admission to the University of Oklahoma but who need assistance to meet the University's English proficiency requirement. As a supplement to its primary focus, CESL also provides an ideal setting for second-language community members to gain greater English competency, should they wish to do so. International students are aided by international business and industry leaders who work closely with CESL and other OU offices to provide quality guidance and instruction. CESL also hosts special programs in conjunction with universities in other countries.

Sooner Jump Start (SJS)

Sooner Jump Start (SJS) is a two-semester bridge program designed for international high school graduates who have taken no more than one semester of college and desire to matriculate into traditional, on-campus programs offered at the University of Oklahoma. The program consists of two phases, each aimed to cultivate students' English and academic skills. During Phase I, students study at the OU Center for English as a Second Language, focusing on English and cultural immersion. During Phase II, students are enrolled in four face-to-face freshman courses (12 credit hours) offered through PACS. Excellent teacher/student ratio and structured support enhance students' opportunity for success.

In addition to the academic courses, SJS offers character education and personal growth training designed to facilitate personal development and leadership, preparing students for successful academic and professional futures. Throughout the program, students are guided in academic and daily life by a team of highly qualified graduate assistants. Additionally, the program immerses students in American culture through field trips to museums, sporting events, shopping excursions, and community service activities. Furthermore, all SJS students live in campus residence halls, sharing suites with American students. There, they experience a rich cultural and social environment and are introduced to many opportunities for language acquisition and leadership.

LIFELONG LEARNING PROGRAMS

Advanced Placement Summer Institute

The OU Advanced Placement Summer Institute for teachers is offered jointly by the College of Professional and Continuing Studies, the College Board, and the Oklahoma Department of Education. New and experienced

AP and Pre-AP teachers gather on the University of Oklahoma campus each summer and spend a week exploring the latest methods and curriculum topics in all aspects of AP course content, organization, and methodology. Teachers conclude their institute experience at OU with renewed enthusiasm for the Advanced Placement Program and equipped with new ideas and resource materials to use in their classrooms.

Center for Community, Energy and Economic Development

The Center for Community, Energy, and Economic Development (CEED) offers a variety of academic and educational programs for nontraditional adult learners. CEED administers the Economic Development Institute, a variety of Engineering & Geoscience programs, and the OU Civic Orchestra.

OU Economic Development Institute (EDI) is the premier economic development program in the nation, with more than 50 years of experience providing professional economic developers with up-to-date knowledge and tools necessary to succeed in today's constantly-changing environment. Innovative economic development organizations want solid, well-grounded professionals. The OU EDI experience is designed to immediately impact a participant's professional career by providing comprehensive courses that align with International Economic Development Council (IEDC) manuals, as well as the latest trends in economic development.

Laurance Reid Gas Conditioning Conference (LRGCC)

The Laurance Reid Gas Conditioning Conference (LRGCC) has been presented by the University of Oklahoma since 1951. The LRGCC has a worldwide reputation as the principal forum for preparing and purifying natural gases and other fuels. It is a crucial conference for professionals in the gas processing, conditioning, and sweetening industries. The program provides technological advances, theoretical breakthroughs, and current research in the field.

Other Energy & Engineering Programs

Extended Campus offers additional niche training seminars and courses that include the annually held Corrosion Control Course and Gas Compressor Short Course, as well as the monthly Blowout Prevention School. For more information on these programs, call (405) 325-3136

Civic Orchestra

To serve the community at large, the OU Civic Orchestra provides advanced musicians throughout the community the opportunity to perform high quality orchestral literature. Participation may be used for credit by OU students or as a noncredit enrollment by students and others interested in orchestral music.

For more information on any of these programs, call (405) 325-3136, or email edi@ou.edu

Lean Institute

The Lean Institute at the University of Oklahoma offers training in Lean, Supply Chain Operations and Six Sigma White Belt, Green Belt, and Black Belt certifications. OU first implemented the Lean Institute through a contract with Tinker AFB in order to assist the largest single site employer in Oklahoma with workforce transformation of Air Force logistical operations during the 1980s. Since the late 1980s, Lean and Six Sigma have become popular process improvement methodologies for the industry practitioner in many different fields. Many organizations, such as Toyota, Motorola, Coca Cola, GE, John Deere, IBM, FAA, USAF, and Boeing, require knowledge and application of Lean and Six Sigma tools for competitiveness. Although each can be applied separately, in combination, they become an invaluable tool set for breakthrough improvements in the manufacturing and the service sectors of both industry and government. Since its inception, Lean Institute has offered its process improvement training not only to individuals from the aforementioned industries but has also offered its training through specific, long-term partnerships with organizations as the Oklahoma Department of Human Services and the U.S. Postal Service.

Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI)

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) at the University of Oklahoma is dedicated to promoting lifelong learning and personal growth of older adults, age 50+, through a variety of noncredit courses. Initially, these programs took the form of travel study opportunities and Elderhostel courses. In the 1980s, OU developed a dedicated learning unit to serve the learning needs of mature adults, which was known as Senior Adult Services (SAS). In 2006, SAS received a grant from The Bernard Osher Foundation in California to become one of 100 Osher Lifelong Learning Institutes in America. The grant allows the program to do more of what it does best — serve Oklahoma's mature learners. In 2010, the program was endowed with a $1 million gift from The Bernard Osher Foundation to sustain OLLI operations. Today, OLLI at OU provides educational and enrichment opportunities for adult learners through both the aforementioned avenues, including Mornings with the Professor, Elderlearn, OU Book Club, and Senior Seminars.

For many years, the College of Professional and Continuing Studies has also administered the Osher Scholarship program, which provides funding for undergraduate students returning to college who have at least a five-year gap in their college coursework and are working to complete their first bachelor's degree. In 2013, the college applied for and received a $1 million endowment gift to permanently endow the Osher scholarship that is administered through the college.

Precollegiate Programs

Precollegiate Programs provides academic and leadership programs for K-12 students, through a variety of academic enrichment activities. The program reaches 5,000 youth each year through programs such as review and test preparation for the American College Testing (ACT) and Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT), Model United Nations of the Southwest, and STEM-oriented science camps such as Earth Cycles, an ExxonMobil Bernard Harris summer science academy, CSI summer camp, and Mini-College. Precollegiate Programs also oversees Horizons Unlimited, a college-oriented program for gifted and talented youth, as well as several other summer STEM academies funded by the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education.

AWARDS AND RECOGNITION

Students and faculty of the College of Professional and Continuing Studies participate in recognition and award programs of the University of Oklahoma and the College. The awards are supported through gifts to the University of Oklahoma Foundation.

Each fall semester, a bachelor's student is recognized as the outstanding senior in the OU Parent's Association award program. During the spring semester, an outstanding bachelor's graduate receives the Jesse E. Burkett Award named for an early college administrator. Likewise, the MA Academic Achievement Award recognizes an outstanding master's graduate for exemplary achievement. The George Henderson Leadership Award is also awarded each spring, recognizing a bachelor's student who has displayed outstanding leadership ability in the college's undergraduate Administrative Leadership program. The Stick and Rudder

Award is given each semester to the best prepared student pilot in the college's Aviation program, as voted on by the flight instructors. Each year, the college also selects a Banner Carrier to represent the College in convocation and commencement activities.

Faculty awards include the Kenneth E. Crook Award and the Rufus G. Hall Faculty Achievement Award, both named in honor of faculty founders of the bachelor's and master's liberal studies degree program tracks. The Superior Teaching Award is presented to the faculty member who best demonstrates superior teaching. Faculty awardees are selected for their teaching excellence and meritorious service to the College.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The College of Professional and Continuing Studies provides a number of scholarship opportunities for undergraduate and graduate students through Alumni contributions to the University of Oklahoma Foundation and from the Bernard Osher Foundation. The college offers Start-Up Scholarships each semester for newly-matriculated adult students entering the bachelor's and master's programs of the college. Additionally, a variety of alumni and named (endowed) scholarships are awarded to undergraduate and graduate students in specific programs who are eligible on the basis of the guidelines provided for each scholarship. Osher Scholarships provide funding for undergraduate students returning to college who have at least a five-year gap in their college coursework and are working on their first bachelor's degree. Criteria and procedures related to PACS scholarships are available on the college's website or by contacting the college directly.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDY

GOALS OF UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

Undergraduate students gain greater self-awareness and a realization of their potential through the curriculum of OU Extended Campus – College of Professional and Continuing Studies, which is designed to help students achieve:

- A greater ability for self-directed learning;
- An improved ability in oral and written communication;
- Knowledge of one's own and other cultures;
- A multi-faceted view of human understanding - social, intellectual, scientific, artistic and philosophical;
- Better understanding of the contemporary problems of humanity and of the probable directions and effect of change;
- Increased understanding of each program's relevant literary, scientific, and artistic works;
- An ability to read, interpret, and evaluate scholarly works and to utilize appropriate methods of inquiry;
- Understanding of the interrelatedness of human knowledge, with an appreciation for the contributions of all perspectives.
- A high level of professionalism and the competencies, skills, and perspectives commensurate with mastery in the specific profession or discipline being studied

COURSE DELIVERY OPTIONS

The college offers online (electronic delivery), hybrid (classroom plus online) and on-site courses towards the completion of undergraduate degree programs. Although students have the flexibility to choose among several delivery options, not all formats are available for all courses throughout the college. Please consult the semester schedule for specific offerings each term.

Online (Electronic Delivery)

Online undergraduate courses are typically offered in five, eight-week academic sessions throughout the year — two sessions during the fall, two during the spring, and one during the summer. Students pursuing programs available in a fully online format may choose to carry two courses (six hours) during each of the available academic sessions, allowing them to make full-time progress toward completion of the degree.

Curricular material is provided to online students utilizing an asynchronous, highly interactive course environment utilizing the campus-wide learning management system (Canvas). Using this approach, students are not required to be online at the same time as their professors and classmates, but do benefit from substantial faculty-to-student and student-to-student interaction, and are able to complete their work utilizing various devices, including tablets and handhelds in addition to traditional desktop units. The University's online course management system, Canvas, provides the overall framework for facilitation of the online learning process, including reading, research, writing, discussion/chat, and group activity, as well as to facilitate course assessment, grading, and feedback.

Hybrid and On-Site

Most on-site undergraduate courses, such as those in the Aviation program tracks, utilize the normal 16-week semester schedule. Some on-site undergraduate courses tailored to the nontraditional working adult student, however, may be available in five, eight-week academic sessions throughout the year, or in other compressed formats (nights, weekends, etc.). Accelerated on-site classes are delivered in a hybrid format, for example, meeting 1-2 evenings per week for a shorter period of time, supplemented by additional online assignments, or meeting for an intensive 1-2 weekends supplemented with online work. For information about course formats available in upcoming terms, consult the college's course schedule through classnav.ou.edu.

ADMISSION TO THE COLLEGE

Individuals wishing to pursue an undergraduate degree from the College of Professional and Continuing Studies (PACS) must be fully admitted to the University of Oklahoma before beginning their coursework. Students under the age of 21 and with less than 24 college hours attempted are required to fulfill the University's freshman admissions criteria. Students 21 years of age and older or with more than 24 hours attempted are required to meet transfer admissions criteria determined by the college in conjunction with University's normal admissions policies and procedures for undergraduate students. Applications are available online and can also be ordered over the phone, by email, or through written correspondence.

Questions concerning admissions should be directed to:
OU Extended Campus - College of Professional and Continuing Studies

Official transcripts being mailed directly should be sent to:
1700 Asp Avenue, Room B1
Norman, OK 73072

Application Deadlines

The college follows application deadlines as printed on its applications and website. Application for admission to the college can be made at any time of year, and students are encouraged to apply as early as possible to complete the admission process well in advance of anticipated attendance. All application materials, including official transcripts from all previously attended institutions, must be provided to complete the application.

FEE STRUCTURE AND PAYMENT

The application fee must accompany the application for admission at the time of its submission. Course tuition and fees for PACS degree programs are paid through the University of Oklahoma Student Financial Center. Payment options are available and will be described on the bill students receive from the Bursar. For other information, please contact the Student Financial Center at (405) 325-9000.

RESIDENT/NONRESIDENT STATUS

Fees are based upon a student's status as a resident or nonresident of the State of Oklahoma. Students are usually considered residents if they meet the following general criteria:

1. they have lived in Oklahoma for a period of 12 months and have not been attending school;
2. they have recently married an Oklahoma resident; or
3. they have recently moved into Oklahoma to work full-time.

Students stationed in Oklahoma during full-time military service will not be considered Oklahoma residents, but they are entitled to a non-resident tuition waiver if a statement of military status in Oklahoma is provided to the college each semester before or at the time of fee payment. Documentation of military status in Oklahoma can be obtained from base education offices. This policy also applies to spouses and children of those stationed in full-time military services in Oklahoma. The final determination for resident status is made by the University's Admissions and Records office.

ENROLLMENT AND STATUS

Current student status is effective for one year from the time of admission. If an admitted student does not enroll within one year, an application for readmission must be filed. PACS reserves the right to cancel any course prior to the course's starting date if there is not sufficient enrollment.

REFUND POLICY

A student withdrawing completely from a PACS program may be entitled to a refund. Contact the college for the specific refund policy for each program option.

TUITION ASSISTANCE / FINANCIAL AID

PACS students qualify for some University scholarships in addition to those offered by the college. It takes a minimum of eight weeks to process financial aid materials, so students are encouraged to begin the financial aid process at least two months before the start of an academic session. For information concerning any financial aid matters, please contact Financial Aid Services, (405) 325-2929 or LSAid@ou.edu. Several federal, state, and local government agencies provide tuition assistance and other support for selected personnel. Likewise, many business and industrial corporations have educational assistance programs available for their employees. Future students are urged to explore these types of assistance. Those who receive financial support are responsible for ensuring that the necessary authorization forms are forwarded to the college in a timely fashion. Students are responsible for knowing and meeting any criteria in respect to their enrollment status and their financial support.

OTHER EXPENSES

In addition to program fees and tuition, students will be responsible for obtaining textbooks and any other required study materials. Students will also assume responsibility for travel and living expenses associated with attending seminars as well as any material or field trip fees associated with these learning activities.

VETERANS' BENEFITS

Veterans and their dependents eligible for education assistance in the college can receive reimbursement for tuition and fees. The students make payments to the University Bursar's Office at the appropriate times, and the Veterans' Administration payments are sent directly to the student as a reimbursement. Veterans should contact a local VA office to obtain the appropriate form, either 22-1995 or 22-1990, which should be forwarded with the application materials. The Office of Admissions and Records will certify eligibility and enrollment to the VA office.

UNIVERSITY SERVICES AND OPPORTUNITIES

PACS students have the same rights and responsibilities as other University students with respect to participation in most University programs and services such as the Scholar-Leadership Enrichment Program, athletic events, museum access, cultural events, and other campus activities. Some services for which traditional students pay an activity fee, such as the Goddard Health Center and Sarkey's Fitness Center, may be available to PACS students for a use or service charge.

GRADING SYSTEM

Most undergraduate courses offered by PACS are letter-graded (A-F). Certain seminars and/or directed independent study courses, however, may be S/U (satisfactory/ unsatisfactory) graded. A grade of 'S' at the undergraduate level signifies that work was completed at the 'D' level or better and is necessary for receiving credit for a non-letter-graded course.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

- A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0.
- At least 30 hours earned from the University of Oklahoma.
- At least 40 upper-division hours earned.
- At least 60 hours earned from a four-year, baccalaureate-granting institution.
- Completion of all general education requirements specified for the degree.
- Completion of all major course requirements with a 'C' or higher (or an 'S', if enrolled in an S/U graded course). Major course requirements cannot be taken as Pass/Fail.
- Completion of additional free electives with a passing grade so that the total number of credit hours earned meets the minimum required for the degree being pursued.

GRADUATION

Students will become a candidate for their chosen degree upon completion of all requirements for the degree being pursued. All OU students must apply for graduation. Please visit the OU Graduation Office website for deadlines, procedures, and details about convocations and graduation receptions.

Degrees are conferred at University graduation dates in December, May and August. PACS commencement ceremonies are held in May and December.

PREPARATION FOR GRADUATE STUDY

All undergraduate degree programs offered by PACS satisfy the baccalaureate degree requirement for admission to the Graduate College of the University of Oklahoma and to many other graduate institutions. Some graduate programs, however, may require the completion of specific courses for full graduate standing in the major and/or minor fields of study. It is the important to inquire and learn of specific curricular and admission requirements before making application to a graduate program at OU or elsewhere, and it is the student's responsibility to do so for any graduate program to which the student wishes to apply.

Graduate Study

GOALS OF GRADUATE PROGRAMS

OU Extended Campus - College of Professional and Continuing Studies graduate programs are designed to help a student gain:

- Greater openness to new ideas and possibilities;
- Enhanced skill to pursue major problems or themes through the interrelationships that connect disciplines to each other;
- A higher level of competence in the evaluation of information, ideas, opinions, and value systems;
- Increased effectiveness in applying theoretical knowledge and understanding to professional situations;
- An enhanced capacity for creative thinking;
- Greater effectiveness in self-directed study;
- Improved ability in oral and written communications;
- The ability to function and thrive in a rapidly changing society.

ADMISSION INFORMATION

The College of Professional and Continuing Studies (PACS) graduate degree programs require students to apply and be admitted both to the Graduate College of the University of Oklahoma and to the College of Professional and Continuing Studies. Regular admission to the Graduate College requires a baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited institution with an undergraduate cumulative grade-point average of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale. All prior graduate-level work will also be considered. The grade point average on graduate work must be 3.0 or above. Conditional admission may be considered if the cumulative grade point average is below 3.0. To determine admissibility with a low GPA, PACS will review the applicant's total application package, including the applicant essay. If conditional admission is allowed, provisions may be imposed for continuing enrollment.

PACS must receive all application materials and official transcripts from all colleges and universities previously attended before the admission procedure can begin. All materials should be submitted directly to PACS. The admissions process begins after all required admission materials are on file in the college.

Admitted applicants will receive notification of admission and registration information concerning the next scheduled enrollment period. Upon admission to PACS, applicants have up to one year to enroll. Applicants should complete the admission process at least six weeks prior to the anticipated first enrollment.

FEE STRUCTURE AND PAYMENT

The application fee must accompany the application for admission at the time of its submission. Course tuition and fees for PACS degree programs are paid through the University of Oklahoma Student Financial Center. Payment options are available and will be described on the bill students receive from the Bursar. For other information, please contact the Student Financial Center at (405) 325-9000.

THESIS AND NON-THESIS OPTIONS

PACS students may elect to complete their degree by either a thesis or a non-thesis option at the end of their program of study. In the thesis option, students carry out research and write a thesis which they defend before a committee of three faculty members. In the non-thesis option, students may select a research project or may take an additional 6 hours of elective coursework to complete the program, followed by a comprehensive examination over their course of study. All PACS students will complete some form of final examination before they are allowed to graduate: an in-person oral defense (required for the thesis or the research project) or a written comprehensive exam (required for the coursework option).

GRADUATION

Students will become a candidate for their chosen degree upon completion of all requirements for the degree being pursued. All OU students must apply for graduation. The OU Graduate College provides a procedures page for degree progress and completion. Additional information about programs of study and graduation is available on the PACS website. Finally, students should visit the OU Graduation Office website for deadlines, procedures, and details about convocations and graduation receptions.

Degrees are conferred at University graduation dates in December, May and August. PACS commencement ceremonies are held in May and December.

Extended Campus NORTH AMERICA AND EUROPE

Extended Campus North America and Europe was established in May 1964 as part of the University's continuing education and public service commitment. Funded by student enrollments under the 1958 Government Employees Manpower Act and with the support of the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, the University of Oklahoma pioneered the intensive seminar teaching format specifically for the military/adult learner. Today, thousands of men and women have completed their graduate degrees through University of Oklahoma's Extended Campus North America and Europe programs. Courses offered include advanced class preparation and one-week or two-weekend class sessions. In all aspects, except for the accelerated format, Extended Campus courses are identical to their counterparts taught on OU's Norman campus.

College of PACS Administrated Programs

Bachelor of Arts

Integrative Studies, Bachelor of Arts

Receive a true interdisciplinary education with an Integrative Studies Bachelor of Arts (p. 1548). This degree program introduces students to several areas of study including humanities, natural sciences, and social sciences. Although students typically choose one area of focus, they are exposed to a variety of academic areas, gaining an understanding of how each one influences the others. Topics include humanities of the ancient world and modern world, basic scientific process, challenges of government, and the ecology and evolution of a changing world. The Bachelor of Arts in Integrative Studies can be completed 100% online.

Lifespan Care Administration, Bachelor of Arts

The Lifespan Care Administration Bachelor of Arts (p. 1551)emphasizes caregiving best practices across the lifespan, preparing graduates to provide quality care no matter the healthcare environment. It is an accredited, flexible, and affordable degree program designed to improve the essential knowledge and skills of care facility staff and administrators. The degree can be customized based on individual interest—whether that interest is in care for children, adolescents, or the elderly. Students gain knowledge that can be applied to responsibilities and goals across the range of human development and will become familiar with the theoretical, ethical, and legal issues related to caregiving.

Organizational Leadership, Bachelor of Arts

An Organizational Leadership Bachelor of Arts (p. 1552) helps students develop creative, flexible thinking skills and learn how to apply them in a professional career. In this bachelor degree program, the combination of specific, work-related principles with the foundation of a well-rounded liberal education allows students to approach new ideas, projects and challenges by drawing upon multiple perspectives. Topics include organizational leadership, conflict resolution, ethics, marketing, cultural diversity and quality initiatives. The Bachelor of Arts in Organizational Leadership can be completed 100% online, or in a hybrid format.

Bachelor of Science

Criminal Justice, Bachelor of Science

The Criminal Justice Bachelor of Science (p. 1553)degree program is designed for those who want to protect and serve the community. By providing a broad-based foundational understanding of the justice system, this program helps build leadership and conflict resolution abilities while integrating current, real-world issues. Whether students currently work or hope to work in law enforcement, corrections, homeland security, or juvenile justice, this bachelor's program will help them develop skills to confront any challenge. Topics include theories of criminal behavior, basic scientific process, deviance/social controls, and statistics in criminal justice. The Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice is completed 100% online.

Minors

Criminal Investigation Minor

The Minor in Criminal Investigation and Intelligence Analysis (p. 1554) introduces students to a core function of law enforcement and security operations. For approximately two decades, information technology and computer analytics have steadily improved the capabilities of crime analysis, crime forecasting, and homeland security operations. These functions frequently support and augment criminal and security investigations of every kind.

Criminal Justice Minor

The Minor in Criminal Justice (p. 1555) allows students in other undergraduate programs at OU to explore the issues of crime, law and the criminal justice system, emphasizing courts, criminal procedure, corrections and emerging issues and trends in law enforcement. Students get a solid understanding of the criminal justice system by studying theories in policing, criminal behavior, American judicial processes and the American correctional system.

Diversity Studies Minor

The Diversity Studies minor (p. 1555) will prepare students to live and work in a pluralist society. Students will learn about diverse populations and how to apply this knowledge in their personal and professional lives. Students enrolled in the Diversity minor will acquire skills necessary to become more effective leaders, coworkers, classmates, and teachers, create positive organizational change, and serve as allies for others in their communities.

Organizational Leadership Minor

The Organizational Leadership minor (p. 1556) provides non-majors with a basic understanding of organizational behavior/leadership theories and equips students with a set of leadership skills to make positive, well-informed contributions to an organization's mission.

Restorative Justice Minor

The Minor in Restorative Justice (p. 1556) emphasizes services to crime victims, offenders, and communities, aiming to repair the damage done by crime. Persons working in restorative justice professions serve as victim advocates, counselors, mediators, court officers, probation and parole officers, crime prevention and restoration experts.

Undergraduate Certificate

- Certificate in Criminal Investigation and Intelligence Analysis (p. 1557)
- Certificate in Restorative Justice (p. 1557)

Master of Arts

Human & Health Services Administration, Master of Arts

The Human & Health Services Administration Master of Arts (p. 1557) program addresses current issues and ethics in health care and provides students the opportunity to select a specific area for intensive study. This option is designed to accommodate students who are interested in furthering their preparation for advancement in the Human and Health Service Administration areas. The program provides a broad-based perspective of the health care and human service delivery systems, and is not designed to provide primary professional preparation. Students selecting this program must have a prior training and/or work history in an applicable area for job entry. This program is intended to serve as a mechanism for professional advancement by enhancing the student's competency level and expanding his/her administrative knowledge base.

Integrative Studies, Master of Arts

The Integrative Studies Master of Arts (p. 1558) provides graduates with the necessary knowledge and skills to make positive, well-informed, and immediate contributions in their careers and communities. Curricular tracks in Diversity, Interdisciplinary Research Methods, and Volunteerism and Social Entrepreneurship, as well as a Self-Design track, direct student research in more clearly delineated areas of study.

Museum Studies, Master of Arts

The Museum Studies Master of Arts (p. 1560) program serves the career-development needs of individuals who work in museums and related institutions. Students initially trained in museum work and those entering the profession from other disciplines receive a focused, integrated approach to museum studies with practical application for the various dimensions of museum work. Students will learn from a variety of professionals and faculty members about museum responsibilities such as curatorship, exhibit management, fund raising, administration, education, conservation, and public relations.

Organizational Leadership, Master of Arts

The Organizational Leadership Master of Arts (p. 1561) degree program focuses on the practices and knowledge bases needed to be a successful administrator in today's workplace. Students explore both the theoretical aspects of leadership and applied practices. Combining the knowledge of specific, work-related principles with the mind-set of a liberal education allows students to approach new ideas, projects, and challenges by drawing upon multiple perspectives.

Master of Science

Criminal Justice, Master of Science

The Criminal Justice Master of Science (p. 1562) program focuses on the practices and knowledge bases needed to be a successful in the criminal justice workforce. Students explore both the theoretical aspects of criminal justice and applied practices. Combining the knowledge of specific, work-related principles with the mind-set of a liberal education, allows students to approach new ideas, projects, and challenges by drawing upon multiple perspectives. Electives in the Criminal Justice program can be utilized to pursue specific areas of interest and to develop greater depth of expertise in particular areas of criminal justice study, such as leadership/administration, restorative justice, drug abuse policy & management, or corrections.

Master of Prevention Science

Master of Prevention Science

The Master of Prevention Science (p. 1563) program focuses on the practices and knowledge bases needed to be successful in the prevention science workforce. The curriculum for this degree program is specifically designed to provide an academic preparation for individuals interested in pursuing the International Certification and Reciprocity Consortium's Certified Prevention Specialist (IC & RC CPS) credential. Students explore both the theoretical aspects of prevention science and applied practices. Combining the knowledge of specific, work-related principles with the mind-set of a liberal education allows students to approach new ideas, projects, and challenges by drawing upon multiple perspectives.

Graduate Certificates

- The Certificate in Organizational Leadership (p. 1566) equips students with a more specialized understanding of leadership.
- The Archaeoastronomy and Astronomy in Culture Certificate (p. 1564) examines the role of astronomical knowledge within cultures and offers an academic credential in a new and growing field.
- The Corrections Management Certificate (p. 1564) provides opportunity for individuals working in corrections, probation and parole, and rehabilitative services fields.
- The Criminal Justice Administration Certificate (p. 1565) emphasizes leadership and decision-making as applied to the law enforcement or correctional fields, as well as policy development skills required of contemporary criminal justice administrators.
- The Drug Policy Management Certificate (p. 1565) examines the rapidly evolving field of drug policy in the United States.
- The Restorative Justice Administration Certificate (p. 1566) emphasizes leadership, program and project development, victim and offender services and community-oriented approaches to crime prevention and restoration.

A graduate certificate is not a graduate degree. A graduate degree represents a program of independent inquiry beyond the depth of coursework alone, while a graduate certificate represents a set of courses only.

- All courses must be taken at OU. No transfer credit will apply.
- No course substitutions are permitted for graduate certificates.
- Coursework applied to a graduate certificate cannot be more than five years old as of the semester the graduate certificate is awarded.
- Students must earn a grade point average of 3.00 or higher on all coursework applied to the graduate certificate.

Corrections Management (Online), Graduate Certificate

Minimum Total Hours: 12

Program Code: G033

The Corrections Management Certificate provides opportunity for individuals working in corrections, probation and parole, and rehabilitative services fields.

Criminal Justice Administration, Graduate Certificate

Minimum Total Hours: 12

Program Code: G288

Certificate Requirements

The Graduate Certificate in Criminal Justice Administration emphasizes leadership, as well as program and project development within the criminal justice system. Nine hours of required coursework include Criminal Justice Policy Deployment, Ethical Decision-Making, and Studies in Police Leadership or Corrections Management. Three elective hours as approved by the faculty advisor and graduate liaison must also be applied to complete this certificate.

General Information

The mission of the Aviation Program is to provide each student with the knowledge and the skills of a competent pilot and/or industry professional, combined with a liberal education and business concentration that will provide them an initial and long-term competitive advantage as professionals in global organizations and in society. The School of Aviation is responsible for credit and noncredit aviation education, FAA Part 141 and 61 pilot training, and FAA AT-CTI curriculum and simulation courses. A Bachelor of Science Degree with four aviation concentrations and four aviation minors are offered.

The School of Aviation Studies' modern training assets include: 13 Piper Warrior III aircraft (two with glass Avidyne flight systems and with Garmin 430 GPA units), three Piper Arrows, one Piper Archer one Cessna 152 Aerobat, two Twin Engine Piper Seminole, one Twin Engine Beechcraft Barron, one King Air C-90 B Turbo Prop, two advanced FAA Aircrew Training Devices (AATD's/flight simulators), and Red Bird Simulator. This modern aircraft fleet offers students advanced technology and also provides air transportation through the Faculty and Staff Transport (FAST) Program. Additionally, the AT-CTI program boasts a complete array of all available air traffic control simulations to include a Tower Simulation Cab for tower and ground operations, and an ATC Enroute Radar Simulation Facility Lab.

HISTORY

The University of Oklahoma Department of Aviation was established in 1947, after purchasing the airport land in 1940, as an independent, Provost-directed department chaired by the airport manager J.E. Coulter. The department's initial charge was to provide flight instruction for OU students seeking flight certification. The Bachelor of Science in Aviation was developed in the mid-1970s and was first offered as a degree in 1978.

In 1994, the Department of Aviation joined the OU College of Continuing Education and in 2017 moved to the newly formulated College of Professional and Continuing Studies. As part of this transition, the Department of Aviation will be changing its name to the School of Aviation Studies.

Mission

Our program mission is to provide aviation majors with the knowledge and skills of a competent pilot, air traffic controller, and/or industry professional along with broad education and business concentrations that provide long-term competitive professional advantages.

Goal

All graduates of the program in aviation will have developed a depth of understanding of the Aviation industry and been afforded the opportunity to prepare for an aviation-related professional career following graduation.

ACCREDITATION

Each of the four degree concentration programs are each fully accredited by the Aviation Accreditation Board International (AABI). Accreditation ensures each aviation student at OU earns a degree from a nationally recognized institution with a quality aviation program, and impeccable safety record. It can also have the added benefit of opening more doors to students in the areas of industry scholarship procurement, internships, and eventual employment.

CAREERS

Career choices for students completing the undergraduate program in aviation include, but are not limited to, airport management, business planning analyst, aviation technical writer, contract specialist, corporate or airline management, corporate, military, air ambulance, sight-seeing, airline and flight test pilot, flight instructor, freelance commercial assistant, aircraft sales, leasing and insurance, flight dispatcher, flight schedule coordinator, safety inspector, air traffic controller, planning and development manager, aeronautical charting, aviation law, accident investigator, and air marshal. Additionally, OU Aviation helps students further their career prospects in that it is an approved school to provide training for the FAA Air Traffic-Collegiate Training Initiative and the Restricted Airline Transport Pilot, as well as enjoying pipeline agreements with several Regional airlines such as Envoy, PSA, Republic and is a Southwest Airlines Destination 225 Cadet Pathway partner.

Programs & Facilities

Max Westheimer Airport

The Max Westheimer Airport terminal building, the AM&E Building, and the simulator building located on North Campus at the University Research Park are the primary office and classroom buildings for the School of Aviation Studies. The buildings contain many classrooms and study areas, with training aids, simulators, and other facilities to enhance the student's learning environment. The airport is a 20-25 minute drive from main campus or via the EMBARK (Norman's city bus service). Aviation students also have access to the school's maintenance hangars, which further enhance the student's ability to learn. Students are encouraged to take an active part in their learning process.

FAA Center of Excellence Technical Training and Human Performance

In 2016, the University of Oklahoma was awarded a ten-year designation as Technical Lead for the Federal Aviation Administration's newest Center of Excellence, focused on Technical Training and Human Performance. The FAA Center of Excellence program is authorized by Congress as a long-term agreement for mission-critical research between academic, industry, and government. This program is designed to develop the nation's technology base while educating the next generation of aviation professionals. There are currently 10 active FAA COEs in the United States. The OU FAA Center of Excellence TTHP is a consoritum of 15 institutions and 50 industry partners dedicated to helping the FAA revolutionize training practices for pilots, air traffic controllers, maintenance technicians, safety operators, and engineers. This includes developing and testing innovative training and technology solutions such as low/high fidelity augmented and virtual reality simulations which leads to increased skill proficiency and job readiness of the aviation workforce. The FAA COE TTHP also examines human performance issues that impact cognitive, physiological, and psychological factors (e.g., fatigue, risk-based decision making, and natural disaster and pandemic readiness) in an effort to improve the work environment to ensure the safety of the National Airspace System. FAA COE TTHP

Leads: University of Oklahoma, Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, and Wichita State University. FAA COE TTHP Core Institutions: Auburn University, Drexel University, Inter American University, Oklahoma State University, Purdue University, The Ohio State University, The University of Akron, The University of Oklahoma, Tulsa Community College, University of Nebraska-Omaha, University North Dakota, University of Wisconsin – Madison, Western Michigan University, and Wichita State University. For more information, visit http://www.coetthp.org. To discuss partnering with the FAA COE TTHP, please contact April Millaway Williams, Program Manager at april.e.williams@ou.edu.

AIR TRAFFIC–COLLEGE TRAINING INITIATIVE (AT-CTI)

The University of Oklahoma has a long history of partnership with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and was selected as an AT-CTI school in Fall 2007, making OU one of few approved programs in the southwest region of the United States. This program has been added as a proactive approach to help develop the much needed additions to the FAA workforce. The AT-CTI programs are a priority source of hiring for the FAA and likely a more prevalent source for professional controller candidates worldwide. Graduates from these programs may apply to the FAA Air Traffic Control Academy in Oklahoma City. However, the AT-CTI coursework must be completed in conjunction with a Non-Engineering Aviation Degree from an approved FAA AT-CTI school. In order to be considered for an ATCS position with FAA, you must not have reached your 31st birthday for Tower and En Route Center facility employment. For more specific details visit the Federal Aviation Administration's website or contact OU Aviation.

SOONER FLIGHT ACADEMY

The Sooner Flight Academy provides aviation education programs and resources for children and teachers. The academy uses exciting aviation activities to promote science, technology, engineering, and math. Educational summer aviation camps are held in Norman. In addition, during the school year, Sooner Flight Academy offers a variety of educational programs such as field trips to the airport, "school's out" day camps, Sooner Kids Science Club, and Ticket to Tomorrow programs held at schools across Oklahoma. For more information, visit flightcamp.ou.edu.

INTERNSHIPS

Aviation related internship experiences are available for qualifying students. Interested students should contact the Aviation Advising Office at (405) 325-7231, or visit the Aviation Internship Opportunities website for more information.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The School of Aviation Studies awards a number of scholarships each semester to deserving majors who have been enrolled in the program. Individual scholarship application procedures and deadlines may be found on Aviation Scholarships.

HONOR SOCIETIES AND PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

Six unique societies and professional organizations are available for students in aviation:

- Sooner Air Traffic Control Association (SATCA)—for students with an interest in supporting the ATC programs;
- Sooner Aviation Club — for students interested in aviation;
- Sooner Chapter of American Association of Airport Executives (AAAE) —for students interested in the business side of aviation including airport management;
- Women In Aviation International (WAI)—for students dedicated to the encouragement and advancement of women in all aviation career fields and interests;
- Alpha Eta Rho, Beta Chi Chapter — an international fraternity for aviation students;
- National Intercollegiate Flight Association (NIFA) Flight Team — comprised of aviation students who compete regionally on a collegiate level in various aviation-related events, varying in complexity.

Undergraduate Study

Bachelor of Science Degree

The undergraduate degree in Aviation is designed to offer students a choice in their aviation career. The degree offers four areas of concentration:

- Air Traffic Management (p. 1573)
- Aviation Management (p. 1575)
- Non-Flying Aviation Management (p. 1577)
- Professional Pilot (p. 1579)

Upon completion of the program, the student will have a basic familiarity with the facts, skills, techniques, and attitudes which are relevant to the aviation industry, along with the basic educational and aeronautical experience to compete in today's aviation marketplace.

Aviation Minors

Aviation minors are generally open to non-Aviation majors at the University of Oklahoma. Please check with the Aviation Advising Office as the minors with a flight component may be suspended during periods of high demand, and the coursework in these instances must be reserved for Aviation majors. Air Traffic Control is the only Aviation minor open to Aviation majors. Students pursuing any Aviation minor must earn at least a minimum grade of "C" in Aviation courses taken to meet minor requirements.

- Air Traffic Control (p. 1581)
- Aviation Management (p. 1581)
- Single-Engine Commercial Pilot (p. 1582)
- Multi-Engine Commercial Pilot (p. 1582)

ADMISSION

To be admitted to the Aviation program, a student must first be admitted to the University of Oklahoma. During periods of high demand, the admission for flight majors is open only in the fall term with flight slots to be allocated to be assigned to the admitted students over the course of the academic year (fall, spring, summer). Early application is considered important due to the limited number of students the program will be able to accept.

Inquiries concerning admission to the University should be addressed to the Office of Admissions & Recruitment, University of Oklahoma, 1000 Asp Avenue, Room 127, Norman, OK, 73019-4076. Specific requirements for admission may be found at the Admissions & Recruitment website.

RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT

Candidates for the BS degree must complete their last 30 hours as a resident student at the University of Oklahoma. However, if a candidate has completed the last 51 hours as a resident student at the University of Oklahoma, nine of the last 60 hours may be taken at another university or by correspondence. Students are encouraged to consult their advisors prior to enrollment.

PASS/NO PASS ENROLLMENT

Pass/No Pass Enrollment may only be used to fulfill Elective Requirements.

INCOMPLETE (i)

I is a neutral mark and means incomplete. It is not an alternative to a grade of F, and no student may be failing a course at the time an I grade is awarded. To receive an I grade, the student should have satisfactorily completed a substantial portion of the required course work for the semester. The instructor will indicate to the student and to the Office of Academic Records what must be done to complete the course and set a time limit appropriate to the circumstances. However, the time limit allowed may not exceed one calendar year. If by the end of the year no change in grade has been submitted, the grade of I will be changed to the pre-determined permanent grade. If the professor does not turn in an Incomplete Contract, the student's grade will be changed to an F after the allotted one-year time period. After a grade of I has been changed, a student may re-enroll in the course if appropriate or required.

All instructional faculty are required to use the university-wide Incomplete Contract Form (PDF) when assigning a grade of Incomplete. This document protects both faculty and students by documenting circumstances that led to the assignment of an Incomplete grade.

USE OF GRADUATE LEVEL COURSES

CREDIT HOUR LOAD

Generally to considered full time, an undergraduate student must be enrolled in at least 12 hours in a fall or spring semester and six hours in a summer session. Please be advised that the VA and various scholarship donors may have specific hour requirements that may vary. Enrollments of 20 hours or more in a fall or spring semester and 10 hours or more in a summer session, must be approved by an academic advisor within the School of Aviation Studies.Students requesting such an exception must have demonstrated readiness to perform on an overload basis either through superior performance on a college aptitude test, or on the basis of superior academic achievement in previous college coursework.

CONCURRENT DEGREES IN TWO COLLEGES

- Both degrees must be completed and certified in the same semester.
- A graduation application must be filed for each degree. Two diplomas will be awarded.
- At least 30 additional hours must be completed beyond the degree that requires the least number of hours.

TEN-YEAR LIMITATION RULES

Students must complete the degree requirements within a maximum of 10 calendar years from the date of that enrollment. If the work for a degree covers a period longer than 10 years, the student must update to the most current degree program requirements.

Credit in a student's major that is more than 10 years old may not be applied toward a bachelor's degree unless it is validated by the Aviation Academic Chair.

ACADEMIC PROBATION & STOP-OUT POLICY

To be considered in good standing with the Aviation Department, a student should maintain OU retention and combined retention grade point averages of at least 2.25 and comply with all School of Aviation and FAA policies. Additionally, Aviation Majors are required to enroll in and successfully complete a MATH course every semester until the Math 1743 requirement is fulfilled. This is essential due to the fact that Math is a prerequisite for several of the "Basic Business" courses and all of the "Upper-Division Business" coursework required for the degree. Hence, failure to comply with the math rule will delay one's degree completion.

If a student's OU retention or combined retention grade point average falls below 2.25 or the Math policy is not adhered to, the student will be placed on one semester of academic probation. Failure of a student to satisfy the terms of this probationary semester will lead to the student being stopped-out of the Aviation Program. Likewise, a student who does not comply with all FAA and Departmental policies will also be stopped-out of the program.
Students who are stopped out will have their enrollment cancelled and must change their major from Aviation. After being stopped out, students are not eligible to return to Aviation or enroll in Aviation courses until their OU retention and combined retention grade point averages have reached the minimum 2.25 and/or a MATH course has been successfully completed. While being stopped out, students cannot have earned a D or F in any math, science, and/or business course.

Upon being stopped-out, students' records will be transferred to the Academic Advising Resources Center (AARC). All stopped-out students must contact AARC to discuss options for changing their major and re-enrolling at the University of Oklahoma.

GRADUATION

Students must apply for the degree that they are pursuing; Deadlines are February 15 for spring graduates, June 1 for summer graduates, and September 15 for fall graduates. Dates are subject to change at the discretion of Academic Records. Application is made online via one.ou.edu. All Aviation majors are required to make an appointment for a graduation check the semester before they intend to graduate. During the graduation check, applications and senior exit interviews will be completed. Students may graduate with Academic Distinction if they have an overall and OU retention and combined retention grade average (including the last semester's grades) of at least 3.50. Graduation with Academic Special Distinction requires at least a 3.75 overall and OU combined grade point average. No student who has been subject to disciplinary action will be granted a degree with Distinction or Special Distinction.

Aviation Credit Flight Fees

Below are all the flight courses offered at OU that carry a flight or lab fee which are in addition to the tuition costs for the courses. It is important to note that not all the courses listed are required for each degree option, but some are optional if the student desires the additional training. The following classes are required for the Aviation Management—Flying degree option: AVIA 1222, AVIA 2231, AVIA 2341, AVIA 3572, and AVIA 4552. The following classes are required for the Professional Pilot degree option: AVIA 1222, AVIA 2231, AVIA 2341, AVIA 3572, AVIA 4552, AVIA 3581, and AVIA 4313.

Primary Flying AVIA 1222:	$7,613 (39 hrs, Warrior III)

(29.0 Dual, 10.0 Solo, 1.0 Sim)

Advanced Flying AVIA 2231: $6,412 (40 hrs, Warrior III)
(18.0 Dual, 22.0 Solo)

Secondary Flying AVIA 2341: $6,045 (40 hrs, Warrior III)
(16.0 Dual, 24.0 Solo)

Instrument Flying AVIA 3572: $7,243 (39.2 hrs, Warrior III)
(25.2 Dual, 14.0 Sim)

Commercial Flying AVIA 4552: $6,571 (40 hrs., Arrow)
(21.0 Dual, 19.0 Solo)

Multi-Engine Flying AVIA 3581: $4,861 (13.5 hrs., Seminole)
(13.5 Dual)

Turbine Transition AVIA 4313: $7,455 (5 hrs, King Air)
(5.0 Dual)

Optional Courses

Flight Instructor AVIA 4602: $4,696 (25 hrs., Arrow)
(25.0 Dual)

Advanced Flight Maneuvers AVIA 3111: $1,199 (5 hrs., Cessna)
(5.0 Dual)

Instrument Instructor AVIA 4613: $3,255 (15 hrs., Warrior III)
(15.0 Dual)

Multi-Engine Instructor AVIA 4622: $9,689 (25 hrs, Seminole)
(25.0 Dual)

ATC Course Fees

IFR Traffic Procedures AVIA 3313: $369

En Route Radar Lab AVIA 4013: $875

ATC Tower Simulation AVIA 4004: $1,700

Tracon Radar Lab AVIA 4023: $875

Other Courses

Crew Resource Management AVIA 4423: $500

Prices for courses shown above are for the FAA hours required in a course syllabus. Actual flight hours and costs will most likely vary. For example, most Private Pilot students on average require 5 to 10 hours of overflight. Students may voluntarily pay for additional flight training hours if needed to satisfactorily complete course tasks as discussed with Flight Instructor.*

Overflight: If student requires overflight hours, it is billed at the per flight hour cost (varies by aircraft, see table below). Additionally, for overflight, there is a $34 per hour charge for instructor pre- and post-flight preparation.*

Warrior Dual $166 Cessna Dual $148 Seminole Dual $311 Baron Dual $477 Ground $34
Warrior Solo $132 Arrow Dual $189 Seneca Dual $311 King Air Dual $1,091 Simulator $119

ALL PRICES EFFECTIVE AUGUST 1, 2019 AND ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE EACH ACADEMIC YEAR. PLEASE CONTACT THE AVIATION DEPT. TO VERIFY COSTS AT (405) 325-7231.

Courses

AVIA 1003 Introduction to Computer Concepts and Applications 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Students learn to navigate in Windows, Microsoft Office: Word, Excel, Powerpoint, Access and Outlook. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 1013 Introduction to Air Traffic Control 3 Credit Hours
The purpose of this course is to learn about the air traffic control system from both the pilot and controller's perspectives. This course is the first of eight ATC courses required for the Air Traffic Management degree path or ATC minor and a prerequisite for basic air traffic control regulations. (F, Sp)

AVIA 1111 Aviation Orientation 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: Majors only and departmental permission. Required orientation course for all declared Aviation Majors during their first semester. Orients students to the department, curriculum, resources, and provides an overview of the various aviation professions. Guest lecturers will include departmental instructors covering all aspects of the industry, as well as the advising staff. (F)

AVIA 1113 Introduction to Aviation 3 Credit Hours
Prepares student to take the FAA private pilot written examination. Covers FAR's, meteorology, aerodynamics, flight physiology, performance charts, radio navigation techniques. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 1213 Basic Air Traffic Control Regulations 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1013. This course is a progressive continuation of introduction to air traffic control and a prerequisite for general air traffic control procedures. This course is more narrowly focused on study and interpretation of the FAA orders and regulations that govern the air traffic control system and the national airspace system. (Sp, Su)

AVIA 1222 Primary Flying 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of department. Includes in-flight instruction with effort directed toward obtaining FAA certification as a private pilot. Third class medical must be obtained prior to flying. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 1313 Introduction to Unmanned Aerial Systems 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: permission of the department. Introduces students to Unmanned Aerial Systems (UAS). Includes the history of UAS and survey current UAS platforms, terminology, challenges to airspace integration and operational theory. (F, Sp)

AVIA 2013 General Air Traffic Control Procedures 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1213. This course will present the study of "general control" procedures used in the terminal and en route control options as well as FAA flight service processes and procedures. This course will serve as a prerequisite for airport traffic control procedures. (F, Sp)

AVIA 2231 Advanced Flying 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: 1222 or private pilot certificate. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 2341 Secondary Flying 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: 2231. Consists of cross-country experience under the direct supervision of an instructor pilot. Part of the FAA Part 141 commercial certification course. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 2513 The History of Aviation 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Majors only and departmental permission. Chronicles the history of aviation through an in-depth study of powered flight and focus on the development of civil, commercial, and military aviation. Covers significant events and people throughout aviation history from the first powered flight through present day developments and a brief look into the future. Also examines the impact of aviation on recreation, transportation, warfare, and exploration. (F, Sp)

AVIA 2613 Aviation Safety 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing and departmental permission. This course will examine all aspects of accidents/incidents involving airline and general aviation flights. It examines those areas from the perspective of pilots, crew members, air traffic controllers and National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) findings. Each accident/incident is dissected with the goal of determining what went wrong and lessons that can be learned. (F, Sp)

AVIA 2970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. May be repeated; Maximum credit nine hours. Special topics course for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. May include library and/or laboratory research, and field projects. (Irreg.)

AVIA 3013 Career Development for Aviation Professionals 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: completed 36 or more college credit hours. This course will provide an overview of the career planning process for aviation students. Students will master the techniques of self-assessment, resume and letter writing, interviewing, researching companies, proper writing techniques, ethics and etiquette, and networking. This course is intended to help students prepare for internship interviews or entering the aviation industry as a professional. (F, Sp)

AVIA 3103 Flight Deck Environmental Issues 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: departmental permission. Human-machine interface issues in today's modern flight deck are the focus of the course. Leading to that end, the student will explore the cognitive and psychomotor domains of learning, review studies of aircrew interface problems, learn coping mechanisms used by today's best aviation trainers to overcome design-induced problems in cockpit advanced technology. (F, Sp)

AVIA 3111 Advanced Flight Maneuvers 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: 1222 or FAA private pilot certificate. Increase the student's knowledge and understanding of advanced flight maneuvers. Accelerated stalls, spins, inverted flight, and recovery from unusual altitudes. Advanced aerodynamics will be discussed and demonstrated. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 3113 Commercial Aviation 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3133 or instrument rating. Course provides the student the knowledge required to obtain a commercial pilot certificate. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 3133 Fundamentals of Instrument Flight 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2231 and private pilot license. Federal aviation regulations as pertain to instrument flight rules (IFR), weather and forecast products, interpretation of en route low altitude charts and terminal instrument approach procedures, instrument flight procedures and techniques. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 3213 Airport Traffic Procedures 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 2013. The primary focus of this course is to study visual air traffic control procedures, specifically, to learn the principles of operation and the separation methods required in the air traffic control tower environment. This course will serve as a prerequisite for IFR Air Traffic Control Procedures. (Sp)

AVIA 3313 IFR Air Traffic Procedures 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3213. Focus on the requirements and procedures used in the IFR air traffic control environment. The students will study all of the separation standards and rules used in radar and non-radar environments in the approach control and air route traffic control facilities. This course will serve as a prerequisite for Air Traffic Simulation. (F)

AVIA 3333 Survey of Aviation Law 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or junior standing. Survey of legal issues in aviation. The student will review legislation, regulatory agencies, and case studies dealing with legal issues in the medium of airspace above the ground-predominantly over the United States. The student will be able to identify and comprehend the historical events and technical terms that describe national and international legal precedents that have shaped aviation law. (F, Sp)

AVIA 3440 Mentored Research Experience 3 Credit Hours
0 to 3 hours. Prerequisites: ENGL 1113 or equivalent, and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. For the inquisitive student to apply the scholarly processes of the discipline to a research or creative project under the mentorship of a faculty member. Student and instructor should complete an Undergraduate Research & Creative Projects (URCP) Mentoring Agreement and file it with the URCP office. Not for honors credit. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 3513 Airport Operations Management 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 and junior standing. Provides the student with an in-depth analysis of airport management, operations and planning functions necessary to operate, develop, and maintain safe and efficient airport facilities as is the practice in the United States. Also introduces air traffic control (ATC) concepts. (F, Sp)

AVIA 3572 Instrument Flying 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3133 and private pilot certificate. Individual flight simulator instruction in the technique of flying solely by reference to instruments. Ground instruction in radio navigation, meteorology, instrument approach procedures, air traffic control procedures and federal aviation regulations. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 3581 Multi-Engine Flying 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: 4552 or commercial pilot certificate. A study of the design, construction and flight characteristics of multiengine aircraft. Inflight instruction in pilotage and operation of multiengine airplanes. Designed to qualify the student for certification as a multiengine pilot. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 3913 Aerospace Contract Administration 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: junior standing. Survey and study of specialized procedures used in the management and administration of aerospace (aviation) contracts, particularly associated with commercial and defense systems acquisitions. Students will use case study analysis, involving aerospace development and acquisition procedures, to enhance the learning experience and prepare them for future employment in the aerospace industry. (F)

AVIA 3923 Aerospace Operational Research 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: junior standing. Students will be introduced to the fundamental methods and techniques employed by the aviation/aerospace industry when researching and analyzing operational issues. Case studies will concentrate on procedures of data acquisition and analysis where research leading to problem solutions is commonplace. Students will be able to use specialized research methods to collect data, analyze it, and then draw logical conclusions. Knowledge, skills, and abilities learned in this course will prepare students for Senior Capstone (F).

AVIA 3960 Honors Reading 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Consists of topics designated by the instructor in keeping with the student's major program. The topics will cover materials not usually presented in the regular courses. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 3970 Honors Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Subjects covered vary. Deals with concepts not usually treated in regular courses. (Irreg.)

AVIA 3980 Honors Research 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Will provide an opportunity for the gifted Honors candidate to work at a special project in the student's field. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 3990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and junior standing. May be repeated once with change of content. Independent study may be arranged to study a subject not available through regular course offerings. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 4004 Air Traffic Control Tower Simulation 4 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: AVIA 3213 with minimum grade of C. Provides students an opportunity to apply knowledge learned in previous air traffic control courses, specifically AVIA 3213, and expand the knowledge base of terminal ATC procedures. The application and expansion of knowledge will occur in lectures and through working in a high fidelity, simulated ATC tower environment. Laboratory (F, Sp)

AVIA 4013 En-Route Radar Lab 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: AVIA 3313 with minimum grade of C and departmental permission. Lab to prepare student for on-the-job training in an FAA En-Route Air Traffic Control facility. Course will consist of dynamic simulation exercises in an ATC computer lab as well as classroom briefings. Students will run scenarios as the controller and as a pseudo pilot. Course objectives are based on federal guidelines by the Federal Aviation Administration. (Sp)

AVIA 4015 Air Traffic Simulation 5 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3313. Lab to prepare student for on-the-job training in an FAA air traffic control facility. Course will consist of dynamic simulation exercises in an ATC computer lab as well as classroom briefings. Students will run scenarios as the controller and as a pseudo pilot. (Sp)

AVIA 4023 Tracon Radar Lab 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: AVIA 3213 with minimum grade of C and departmental permission. Lab to prepare students for on-the-job training in an FAA Terminal Radar Air Traffic Control facility. Course will consist of dynamic simulation exercises in an ATC computer lab as well as classroom briefings. Students will run scenarios as the controller and as a pseudo pilot. Objectives are based on federal guidelines by the Federal Aviation Administration. (Sp)

AVIA 4113 CFI Seminar 3 Credit Hours

AVIA 4313 Turbine Transition 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3581 and 4552. Introduce the student to the procedures of flying a turbine aircraft and the concepts of crew resource management. Emphasis is placed on the basic terminology and procedures and emergency operations. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 4423 Crew Resource Management 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 and junior standing. To teach the student the principles and procedures of a two or more person cockpit. Includes: briefings, call-outs, and emergency procedures. (F, Sp)

AVIA 4552 Commercial Flying 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 3113. The final stage of the FAA Part 141 commercial pilot certification course. Designed to polish pilot skills in commercial aircraft maneuvers.(F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 4602 Flight Instructor-Airplane 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: commercial pilot certificate and instrument rating. Flight instruction in preparation for FAA flight instructor certificate. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 4613 Instrument Flight Instructor 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: commercial pilot certificate and flight instructor-airplane certificate. Consists of lecture and flight instruction in the specialized teaching techniques and procedures required of an instrument flight instructor. At the end of the course, the student will meet the requirements for certification by the FAA as an instrument flight instructor. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 4622 Multiengine Flight Instructor 2 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: commercial multiengine pilot certificate and flight instructor -- airplane certificate. Instruction in the specialized teaching techniques and procedures required of a multiengine flight instructor. At the end of the course, the student will meet the requirements to take the flight test for certification by the FAA as a multiengine flight instructor. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 4663 Survey of Aerospace Ethical Issues 3 Credit Hours
A survey of past and present ethical issues influencing the development of ethical behavior among U.S. aerospace companies and commercial and corporate aviation. Individual development of defense mechanisms to ensure ethical behavior in competitive environments.

AVIA 4713 Senior Capstone 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: senior standing, permission of department, and all major upper-division courses or concurrent enrollment. This project course builds on the accumulated knowledge from all courses to date. Lectures will cover problem identification, analysis, generation of alternatives, cost/benefit studies, interviews and presentations. Student teams will analyze and make recommendations on an actual problem for an aviation related organization, such as the FAA. (F, Sp) [V].

AVIA 4803 Aviation Mental Health: Psychological Implications for Air Transportation 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: junior standing. Students will learn about mental health issues relevant to passengers, cabin crew, and flight deck crew--that have far-reaching psychological implications for all those who travel by means of air transportation--through the experiences of flight attendants, pilots, clinicians, researchers, trainers, and professors. (Sp, Su)

AVIA 4960 Directed Readings 1-4 Credit Hours
1 to 4 hours. Prerequisite: good standing in University; permission of instructor and dean. May be repeated; maximum credit four hours. Designed for upper-division students who need opportunity to study a specific problem in greater depth than formal course content permits. (Irreg.)

AVIA 4970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Senior standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics or seminar course for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. May include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

AVIA G4983 Airline Management 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: junior or graduate standing. Study of the managerial aspects of the airline industry to include economic and organizational characteristics, marketing, operational scheduling, fleet planning, and labor relations. Students participate in management simulation as senior executives of a regional domestic carrier. (F, Sp)

AVIA 4990 Special Studies in Aviation 1-4 Credit Hours
1 to 4 hours. Prerequisite: departmental permission. Will encompass various aviation-related topics including many specialty flight programs; such as, aerobatic instruction, multiengine training, pilot refresher training, etc. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 5960 Directed Readings 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: graduate standing and permission of department. May be repeated; maximum credit twelve hours. Directed readings and/or literature reviews under the direction of a faculty member. (F, Sp, Su)

AVIA 5970 Special Topics/Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Graduate standing or permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Special topics or seminar course for content not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. May include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

AVIA 5990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: Graduate standing and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit nine hours. Contracted independent study for a topic not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. Independent study may include library and/or laboratory research and field projects. (Irreg.)

RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps is a group of college and university-based officer training programs for training commissioned officers of the United States Armed Forces. While ROTC graduate officers serve in all branches of the U.S. military, the U.S. Marine Corps and the U.S. Coast Guard do not have their own respective ROTC programs but graduates of Naval ROTC programs have the option to serve as officers in the Marine Corps contingent on meeting Marine Corps requirements.

Commissioning opportunities in the Air Force, Army, Marines, Navy at the University of Oklahoma:

- Aerospace Studies (p. 1584)
  - Aerospace Studies, Minor (p. 1585)
- Military Science (p. 1586)
  - Military Science, Minor (p. 1588)
- Naval Science (p. 1588)

General Information

For over 60 years, some of the best and brightest from the University of Oklahoma (OU) Detachment 675 have served their country as pilots, navigators, engineers, doctors, nurses, mathematicians, communications officer, acquisition managers, language specialists and a host of other occupations. Today, that tradition continues for the cadets at the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (Air Force ROTC) Detachment 675 on the Norman campus.

Air Force ROTC offers men and women the opportunity to earn a commission as an Air Force officer while they complete requirements for their first bachelor's degree. Interested students may join Air Force ROTC during any semester in their first year of college and during the Fall of their second years of college without any obligation or commitment. OU students completing the entire program will also earn a minor in Aerospace studies.

Air Force ROTC is the largest and oldest source of commissioned officers for the U.S. Air Force. Air Force ROTC's stated mission is to "develop premier leaders of character for tomorrow's Air Force." Air Force ROTC units are located on 140 college and university campuses with 1,000 additional institutions of higher learning participating in cross-town agreements that allow their students to attend Air Force ROTC classes at a nearby "host" college or university.

Anyone interested in a challenging and rewarding opportunities to study and work with some of our nation's best women and men should contact the Recruiting Officer at afrotc@ou.edu or call us at (405) 325-3211 or visit our web page.

COMMISSIONING REQUIREMENTS THROUGH AIR FORCE ROTC

All requirements must be met for a degree according to the University of Oklahoma, as well as completion of certain courses required by the Air Force.

AIR FORCE ROTC BENEFITS

Air Force ROTC can help students with the high cost of earning a college degree. The Air Force also offers a competitive benefits package as compared to other career opportunities upon completion of an undergraduate or graduate degree. In addition to these benefits, participants appreciate the team spirit that comes with being a member of Air Force ROTC, and enjoy social and extracurricular activities.

Scholarships

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS OR GRADUATES

Competitive scholarships are available to high school seniors and high school graduates not enrolled full-time in college. Although the Air Force needs engineering, mathematics, computer science, meteorology, physics, foreign language and nursing majors, many scholarships are also available to those in non-technical degree programs including foreign languages. Students must apply for scholarships online.

In-College Students

Air Force ROTC awards partial and full tuition scholarships available for qualified applicants. For more information and an on-line application visit the Air Force ROTC website. Along with tuition money, scholarship recipients receive a textbook allowance each semester and a monthly living expenses stipend during the academic year.

Foreign Language Flagship Scholarships

The Air Force is currently offering scholarships to Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) students under the Air Force Foreign Language Flagship Scholarship Program to meet the needs of the Air Force based on the Air Force Strategic Language List. The University of Oklahoma has been identified as one of only four Flagship degree granting authorities in Arabic.

Minor

OU students who complete the entire program will earn an Aerospace Studies Minor (p. 1585).

Courses

AERO 1011 Introduction to the Department of the Air Force - Heritage and Values 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in AERO 1300. This course provides an introduction to the Air and Space Forces, hopefully encouraging students to pursue an AF career. The course also lays the foundation for becoming an Air or Space professional by outlining our heritage and values. As a foundational course, AERO 1011 also provides a historical perspective with lessons on war, AF operations, and principles of airpower. (F)

AERO 1021 The Air Force Today 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: departmental permission; concurrent enrollment in 1300. A study of aerospace defense, missile defense, general purpose forces and aerospace support forces. The mission, resources and operation of tactical air forces, with special attention to limited war; and a review of Army, Navy and Marine general purpose forces. (Sp)

AERO 1300 Leadership Laboratory 0 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: concurrent enrollment in AERO 1011, 1021, 2011, 2021, 3013, 3023, 4013 or 4023 or permission. Designed to introduce the student to the customs and courtesies associated with the Air Force. Also provides a practicum for the initial development of leadership and command abilities. (F, Sp)

AERO 2011 Team and Leadership Fundamentals I 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: Corequisite: AERO 1300. This course is designed to provide a fundamental understanding of both leadership and team building. It is imperative that students are taught from the beginning that there are many layers to leadership, including listening, understanding themselves, being a good follower and problem solving efficiently. Students should demonstrate basic verbal and written communication skills. (F)

AERO 2021 Team and Leadership Fundamentals II 1 Credit Hour
Prerequisite: Corequisite: AERO 1300. This course is designed to continue providing a fundamental understanding of both leadership and team building. It is imperative that students are taught from the beginning that there are many layers to leadership, including listening, understanding themselves, being a good follower and problem solving efficiently. Students should demonstrate basic verbal and written communication skills. (Sp)

AERO 3013 Air Force Leading People and Effective Communication I 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Departmental Permission; Corequisite: AERO 1300. This course is designed to build on the leadership fundamentals taught in AERO 2021. The students will have the opportunity to utilize their skills as they begin more of a leadership role in the detachment. The goal is for students to have a more in-depth understanding of how to effectively lead people. Concurrent enrollment in AERO 1300 is required. (F)

AERO 3023 Air Force Leading People and Effective Communication 2 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: AERO 3013 or Departmental Permission; Corequisite: AERO 1300. This course is designed to build on the leadership fundamentals taught in AERO 3013. The students will have the opportunity to utilize their skills as they begin more of a leadership role in the detachment. The goal is for students to have a more in-depth understanding of how to effectively lead people. Concurrent enrollment in AERO 1300 is required. (Sp)

AERO 3440 Mentored Research Experience 3 Credit Hours
0 to 3 hours. Prerequisites: ENGL 1113 or equivalent, and permission of instructor. May be repeated; maximum credit 12 hours. For the inquisitive student to apply the scholarly processes of the discipline to a research or creative project under the mentorship of a faculty member. Aerospace Studies, Minor

Minimum Total Credit Hours: 16
Minimum Upper-Division Hours: 12

Program Code: N013

The requirements for a minor must be completed concurrently with the major degree requirements.

No minor may be added by completing courses after receiving the bachelor's degree.

Both two and four-year Air Force ROTC programs are offered.

Students who elect not to participate in the General Military Course may substitute a five-week summer field training period for this requirement.

Four-year cadets participate in a four-week training period during the summer between their sophomore and junior years.

Minors are available to all undergraduate students at OU. If the minor is officially declared, successfully completed, and noted on the graduation application, the student's transcript will so indicate at the time the bachelor's degree is posted.

General Information

The training goals of the OU Army ROTC are to develop cadets mentally, physically, and scholastically. The course focuses on developing basic soldier skills, leadership qualities, physical fitness, and officership. The intent of the program is to prepare college-age men and women to lead American Soldiers in armed conflict. Upon graduation those who complete their Military Science and degree requirements will be commissioned as second lieutenants and serve as officers in either the Active Army, Army National Guard or Army Reserve.

Since Army ROTC is a university elective course, enrollment into Army ROTC can be done online or through your OU academic advisor after being accepted into The University of Oklahoma.

Contact Army ROTC for more information concerning requirements and enrollment..

Minor in Military Science

Cadets cannot major in Military Science, but have the option of adding the Minor in Military Science (p. 1588) to their degree. To enroll in this option students should see their academic counselor.

Green to Gold

The Green to Gold program seeks talented young enlisted soldiers who have decided to leave, or are considering leaving, active duty to attend college. Quality enlisted soldiers with officer potential who have served at least two years on active duty are allowed to voluntarily request discharge from active duty, and enroll in Army ROTC to earn baccalaureate degrees and commissions as Second Lieutenants.

Critical Language Incentive Program

Cadets studying any of 70 languages designated by the Department of the Army as “critical” can receive up to $2,500 each year for receiving passing grades. Current languages eligible for the bonus pay include Arabic, Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Pashto, Persian, Portuguese, Russian and over 60 more. This program is eligible to Basic Course and Advanced Course cadets. To apply, students must submit a proposal to the Professor of Military Science at the beginning of the semester. Bonuses are paid at the end of the semester in which a successful grade was achieved.

Ranger Challenge

Ranger Challenge is the varsity sport of Army ROTC. Each year students compete for a spot on an eight-man team to compete against other colleges in a series of military events. Events include a medical assault course, grenade assault course, one rope bridge, assembly/dis-assembly of an M16 rifle, obstacle course, improvised raft course, and a 10k ruck march. Try-outs are rigorous, and the training requires a commitment of additional time and dedication. Winners of regional competitions go on to compete at the national level against ROTC departments from across the country.

Summer Training Opportunities

Each summer selected students who are enrolled in Military Science have the opportunity to attend Airborne, Air Assault, Mountain Warfare training, or Cadet Troop Leader Training. These courses are offered to cadets on a voluntary and limited basis. Unlike CIET and CLC, which are specifically for ROTC cadets, these are regular US Army courses and cadets attend right along side current Army soldiers and officers.

Simultaneous Membership Program

The Simultaneous Membership Program (SMP) allows enlisted members of the National Guard and Army Reserve to enroll in ROTC courses as a means of earning an officer’s commission. While in the SMP students continue to drill with their current unit while taking Military Science courses, but are given the rank of cadet, are placed in officer trainee positions within their units, receive E-5 drill pay, and are non-deployable for as long as they are in school. SMP cadets receive all the tuition benefits available from the National Guard or Army Reserve in addition to ROTC benefits, such as the monthly stipend and scholarship opportunities. Upon graduation SMP participants have the option of serving on Active Duty, or part-time in the National Guard or Army Reserves.

SMP Scholarship Opportunities

Students currently serving (or soon enlisting) in the Army National Guard or Army Reserves can apply for the Dedicated Reserve component scholarships for either the National Guard or US Army Reserves. With a Dedicated Scholarship Reservists and Guardsmen continue to drill with their current unit while enrolled in Military Science, and receive National Guard or Army Reserve education benefits in addition to the scholarship benefits listed above. Please speak to a scholarship and enrollment officer for full details. Upon graduation, DED scholarship winners will not be considered for Active Duty appointments, and serve their military commitment with part-time service as officers in the Army National Guard or Army Reserves.

SMP Non-Scholarship Opportunities

Eligible students, who do not wish to obligate their military career to a Reserve component, may compete to serve Active Duty upon commissioning. This opportunity will include a promotion to E-5 and a monthly ROTC stipend. Students may also be eligible for any benefits earned; Montgomery GI Bill, GI Bill Kicker, or Post 9-11 GI Bill Benefits.

Campus-Based Scholarship Program

Campus-based scholarships are available to eligible students at the University of Oklahoma and are merit based; awarded to students that are enrolled in the Army ROTC Program and apply for a scholarship. These cadets prove themselves through their moral character, college GPA, leadership potential, and PT test scores. Application can be made by contacting the Military Science Department.

High School Scholarship Program

The High School Scholarship application process is for high school students planning on attending a four-year college program. Contact your high school academic advisor or campus Military Science department for more information.

Financial Assistance

All students enrolled in Military Science are furnished with necessary military science textbooks, equipment and uniforms at no cost. All advanced course students and scholarship winners are paid a monthly stipend. The OU Army ROTC can provide tuition assistance each year based on merit and need. There are over a dozen other military scholarships and awards that students may compete for each year. Award deadlines and requirements vary and require current enrollment in Military Science classes.

Veterans

Qualified veterans may receive Basic Course credit enabling them to complete Army commissioning requirements in two years in the Advanced Course. Veterans receive the same benefits as other students in addition to their GI Bill and VA benefits. Veterans, as well as current Army Reserve and National Guard soldier/students, are also eligible to compete for scholarships.

Medical/Pre-Med Students

Army ROTC provides a pathway to becoming an Army doctor (including dentists and veterinarians) in specialties ranging from Anesthesiology and Cardiology to Radiology and Vascular Surgery. Cadets with pre-med majors receive the same training—with the same requirements—as every other cadet while they complete ROTC. Upon graduation they are commissioned as second lieutenants, but instead of immediately beginning their officer service, cadets who are accepted into a medical school may delay their military obligation until completion of the medical training, at which time they enter service as officers in the Army Medical (Dental, or Veterinarian) Corps.

After completing a bachelor's degree, opportunities for fully-funded medical training are available under two programs: the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program (HPSP), and the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences (USUHS). The HPSP scholarship can be used at any accredited medical school in the United States, and includes full tuition and a stipend of over $2000 per month. USUHS is a DOD medical school located in Bethesda, MD, and offers free tuition plus second lieutenant pay, benefits and allowances for all four years of school.
