General Information
The Department of Sociology has two interrelated missions: to provide the highest quality education at the baccalaureate, master’s, and doctoral levels, and to foster state-of-the-art research among faculty and graduate students. Teaching and research in the department help meet the needs of the state and nation by addressing important social issues. The undergraduate program contains two degree options, one in general sociology and one in criminology. Graduate level areas of concentration are class stratification, criminology and deviance, family, gender, cross-national Sociology, race and ethnicity, religion, and social psychology. Contemporary issues within these areas are emphasized, and their historical, comparative, and global dimensions are explored. Through research, we seek to update and refine knowledge in each area to assist in formulating and evaluating social policy.

At both the undergraduate and graduate levels, coursework in Sociology provides an analytic research emphasis for studying, understanding, and explaining major issues. Research in these areas updates and refines knowledge and, further, helps formulate and evaluate social policy.

The undergraduate curriculum in sociology prepares students for jobs in a wide-variety of occupations and for admission to advanced degree programs, especially in sociology, law, and criminal justice. The graduate program provides more intensive instruction and stimulates further intellectual growth and maturity. Graduate students completing a degree in sociology typically find employment in academic settings as professors and researchers, and in the public or private sectors as statistical analysts and research coordinators. The quality of the programs in sociology can be measured by the successful placement of our graduates in agencies, corporations, graduate and professional programs, research settings, and colleges and universities.

A major strength of the department’s graduate program is its training in research methods and statistics. The department maintains its own computer lab equipped with advanced statistical package software. Core seminars in statistics and methods encourage participation in all phases of research, from research design to data collection and analysis to the presentation of findings. Strength in this area complements coursework in the department’s three substantive areas of interest, and encourages students to be independent researchers and informed teachers. The department’s graduate students regularly present research papers at professional meetings, and have been very successful in winning competitions with these papers.

Programs & Facilities
Inside-Out Prison Exchange Program
The Inside-Out Prison Exchange Program is an educational program tailored to effectively facilitate dialogue across difference. It originated as a means of bringing together campus-based college students with incarcerated students for a semester-long course held in a prison, jail or other correctional setting.

ADQUANT - Advanced Quantitative Methods Working Group
The Advanced Quantitative Methods Working Group (ADQUANT) is a collaborative forum for the discussion and dissemination of quantitative approaches to data analyses across the social sciences. We are interested in developing an understanding of advanced statistical methods and facilitating interdisciplinary approaches to data analyses throughout the OU campuses and beyond.

Sociology and Criminology Club
The purpose of the Sociology/Criminology Club (SCC) is to provide a forum for undergraduate students who are interested in criminology and sociology. The mission of the SCC is to inform its members about careers, internships, graduate study, and other opportunities available in criminology and sociology and to provide a setting in which they can meet and socialize with other students who share similar interests.

Undergraduate Study
Bachelor of Arts
The Department of Sociology at OU offers two options within the Bachelor of Arts in Sociology program: the General Sociology option and the Criminology option. The general sociology option gives students a broad education in the field of sociology, and students can select any type of upper-division sociology electives to complete the major. The criminology option focuses on criminology, a specialized area within sociology, so students on this track take upper-division electives that focus on the nature, extent, causes, and control of criminal behavior.

Students considering a major in Sociology should contact the department for assistance in selecting courses which contribute to the student’s educational and career plans. Students who intend to pursue careers in social agencies, corporations, or research settings will be advised regarding courses most appropriate to those interests. Students wishing to enroll in graduate or professional school will be advised regarding courses normally prerequisite to such work.

Minors
- General Sociology Minor
- Criminology Minor

Accelerated Bachelor’s and Master’s Degree
(BA/MA Program)
The sociology department is excited to offer an accelerated Bachelor’s and Master’s Degree in Sociology. This program is designed to be completed in 5 years, with students leaving the program with a Bachelor’s degree in Sociology or Criminology as well as a Master’s Degree in Sociology.

This track provides the same rigorous training in graduate level sociology/criminology, social scientific research methods, and producing publication quality sociological/criminological research as our terminal graduate Master’s Degree, but is designed to be completed co-currently with the final series of upper division undergraduate coursework. We believe this track provides our outstanding undergraduate students with a head start on their graduate careers as well as some of the job opportunities made available by completing an advanced social science research degree.

Graduate Study

The Master of Arts in Sociology and Doctor of Philosophy programs in sociology emphasize the learning of research methods and statistics in conjunction with chosen substantive area(s) of interest. The department offers six different courses in which graduate students develop research skills. At the doctoral level, students may choose to specialize in any two areas from the three areas of emphasis in the department.

Admission Requirements

See Department of Sociology graduate programs page for admission information.

Additional Doctoral Program Information

With few exceptions, the student seeking the Sociology Ph.D. anticipates a career in teaching and/or research. Departmental requirements emphasize professional competence in sociology as a whole, especially research methodology, and expertise in two fields within sociology. At the PhD level, the student should acquire a broad knowledge of the fundamentals of sociology and a focused specialization in two substantive areas of expertise.

A plan of study, filed formally with the Dean of the Graduate College, should develop the student's knowledge of and expertise in sociology broadly defined, as well as two substantive areas of sociological expertise. The plan of study must include the core requirements for the MA plus one additional theory course. This is especially important to highlight for students who are transferring credits from other universities or entering the doctoral program with a Master's degree in a related field. The plan of study must contain sufficient coursework to prepare a student for the general examination. The program of coursework and the committee can be amended as needed. A maximum of 44 credit hours may be transferred from other universities with the permission of a student's advisory committee and the Dean of the Graduate College.

The purpose of the graduate coursework is to prepare the student for the general examination and the dissertation. The accumulation of coursework, in and of itself, does not constitute progress toward the degree.

The general examination in sociology consists of a written component and an oral component. It usually is taken in the fall semester of the third year of the program. Once the relevant elements of the written component of the exam are considered satisfactory, then the student may proceed to the oral component of the general exam. In cases where the student's written answers were considered satisfactory but the performance on the oral component of the exam was not, they will retake the oral component of the general exam in the following semester (timing to be determined in consultation with the student's committee). A second unsatisfactory performance on the oral component of the general exam will result in dismissal from the program.

The doctoral dissertation is written and defended under the guidance of the student's doctoral committee consisting of five members of the graduate faculty, at least one of whom is from outside the Department of Sociology.

Ph.D. students, having sole responsibility for teaching a course in the Department, are also required to take Professionalization Seminar and the Teaching Seminar (SOC 5831).

</tr>
</tbody>
SOC 3523 Criminology 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or sophomore standing. A study of the nature and causes of various forms of deviant and illegal behavior, especially serious personal injury and property crimes (e.g., homicide, burglary). While some consideration is given to biological and psychological explanations, the primary focus is on sociological theories that attempt to explain crime, criminality, and victimization in modern societies. (F, Sp)

SOC 3533 The System of Criminal Justice 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor. An analysis of the sociological literature on the American system of criminal justice, viewed as a system of social control. Emphasis is on the functional significance of the system in relation to the various interests represented in the law. Attention given to special problems in each of the major components of the system: law enforcement, the administration of justice and corrections. (F, Sp)

SOC 3543 Sociology of Deviance 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor. The sociological study of deviant behaviors. Focus is on sociological theories and processes by which behaviors are defined as deviant, and how these definitions affect the individual. (F, Sp)

SOC 3553 Sociology of Law 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor. Provides a sociological understanding of the interrelationship between law and society. Covers the origins of law, types of legal systems, theories of punishment, and examines law as an independent variable (i.e., as a mechanism for social change) and as a dependent variable (i.e., how laws are created or changed by social pressure). (F, Sp)

SOC 3573 Sexuality, Media, and Crime 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ENGL 1213 or EXPO 1213. The sociological constructions of gender and sexuality will be examined through the context of several forms of American media including advertising, television, and film. Also examines stigma, hate crimes, and violence based on gender and sexuality including LGBTQ identities/experiences. (Irreg.)

SOC 3583 Federal Criminal Justice System 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 or permission of instructor; course not open to freshmen. This course provides an overview of the federal criminal justice system, including the structure and functions of the federal court system, distinctions between state and federal justice systems, federal law enforcement agencies and types of crimes prosecuted by the U.S. Department of Justice and federal punishment under the United States Sentencing Guidelines including critical issues and policies. (Irreg.)

SOC 3593 Sexual Deviance and Society 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ENGL 1213 or EXPO 1213. A critical examination of the sociology of deviant sexual behaviors. Investigations of deviance, criminology and gender through the study of sexual behavior, sex crimes, and victimology. (Irreg.)

SOC 3613 Global Social Problems 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 or Junior standing. Provides an overview of pressing global social problems with attention to developing insights into the conceptual analyses of meaningful solutions from a sociological perspective. Readings discuss the relationships among various levels of the social system, so that social roots of pressing issues are recognized and used as a tool to suggest alternative approaches to address them. (Irreg.) [III-SS].

SOC 3623 Sociology of Race and Ethnicity 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 or permission of instructor. This course explores the historical and contemporary issues surrounding the impact that race and ethnicity have on U.S. society. You will examine how racial and ethnic criteria often guide important economic, political, and social decisions that affect access to resources by various groups, usually having significant consequences for the individual. (Irreg.)

SOC 3643 Population and Society 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 or permission of instructor. Introduction to population study. Analysis of human mortality, fertility and migration. Evaluation of demographic theories with emphasis on social and cultural factors. (Irreg.)

SOC 3653 Race and Religion 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 or permission of instructor. Focuses on how race and ethnic issues influence, and are influenced by, religion within the United States. Looks at historical and theoretical examinations of religion and race/ethnic relations and empirical evidence of the ways religion can influence racial issues such as racism, discrimination and stratification. (Irreg.)

SOC 3663 Sociology of Music 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: Junior standing. The course is an historical, theoretical, and sociological exploration of music. The course addresses diverse topics such as how the current system of music developed, the distinction between high culture and popular culture, and the ways race, gender, class and other social distinctions influence the production and consumption of music. (Irreg.) [III-SS].

SOC 3683 Wealth, Power, and Prestige 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or sophomore standing or above. Examines the systems in which the central elements of class stratification—wealth, power, and prestige—are created and distributed and addresses the issue of “who gets how much and why?”. Topics include a review of the theories and evidence in current stratification studies and an assessment of the racial, ethnic, and religious correlates of inequality. (F, Sp)

SOC 3723 Sociology of Family 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or sophomore standing or above. The sociological study of the family as an institution; the origin and development of the family; the interrelationships of the family and the larger society; the environmental conditions which seem to favor the development and continuance of the major family forms; the rise of the modern democratic family; characteristic patterns of change in the contemporary family. (F, Sp)

SOC 3733 Sociology of Gender 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor. Sociological analysis of the reinforcement of gender roles by the major institutions of society. Examine the effects on gender roles of education, mass media, economics, public policy, law, religion, and society. (Irreg)

SOC 3773 Sociology of Religion 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisites: SOC 1113 or sophomore standing. Using the perspectives and methods of social science, and particularly sociology, the common social dimensions of all religions including moral definitions; micro-level processes of membership, conversion and socialization; the life-cycle of religious institutions; and religion’s relationship to health, science, and important institutions like the American family, economy, and politics will be examined. (F, Sp, Su)
SOC 3803 Inequality in A Global Perspective 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 or sophomore standing or above. Examines the causes and consequences of socioeconomic inequality in contemporary societies (including the United States) by using theories and research evidence from the vantage point of international political economy. Topics include the nature, structure, and hierarchy of the global economy; the link between international and national distributions of wealth and power; and the racial, ethnic, and religious correlates of social inequality. (Irreg.)

SOC 3813 Individual and Society 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ENGL 1213 or EXPO 1213. Introduction to social psychological theories and findings. Covers socialization, identity development, emotions, social interaction, deviant behavior, and small group behavior. (Irreg.)

SOC 3843 Sociology of Aging 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor. Comprehensive description of the dimensions of aging. The point of departure is the notion that to talk meaningfully about one aspect of aging requires consideration of its other dimensions. (Irreg.)

SOC 3890 Special Topics For Non-Majors 1-3 Credit Hours
Special Topics For Non-Majors. 1 To 3 Hours. Prerequisite: 1113 Or Permission Of Instructor. May Be Repeated With Change Of Content; Maximum Credit Six Hours. This Course Cannot Be Used To Satisfy The Major Requirements In Sociology. (F, Sp, Su)

SOC 3893 Environment, Ecology and Society 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 or permission of instructor. Examines relationships between environmental factors and human social arrangements. The class will be organized around these and a number of related topics, which will help to shape the readings, lectures, and discussions. (Irreg.)

SOC 3900 Special Topics in Sociology 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor. May be repeated with change of content; maximum credit six hours. Cover topics not currently offered in regularly scheduled courses. (Irreg.)

SOC 3903 The Sociology of Urban Street Gangs 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 and SOC 3523 and junior standing. Focusing on a sociological understanding of gangs, this course will provide an overview of research on gangs and theoretical perspectives of gang membership, while paying close attention to the interplay of social structure, gang dynamics, and the life-course of individual gang members. (Irreg.)

SOC 3913 The Death Penalty in the United States 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 and 3523. Provides an overview of capital punishment in the United States, and Oklahoma in particular, from a sociological perspective. History of capital punishment in the United States specific cases related to the death penalty, and arguments for and against the use of capital punishment. (Irreg.)

SOC 3923 Alcohol, Drugs and Society 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 and 3523. Explores sociological explanations of alcohol and drug use with a special emphasis on current issues in the United States. (Irreg.)

SOC 3933 Inside/Out: Drugs, Alcohol, and Society 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113, SOC 3523, and departmental permission; Course not open to Freshmen. This is an "inside-out" course. Taught with half enrollment of "inside students" from a correctional facility and "outside students" from OU. Explores sociological explanations of alcohol and drug use with a special emphasis on current issues in the United States. (Irreg.)

SOC 3943 Inside/Out: The Family and Crime 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor. Course examines criminal measurement of juvenile crime, theories of delinquency, legal rights of juveniles and the juvenile justice system. (Irreg.)

SOC 3953 Juvenile Justice 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor. Course examines criminal measurement of juvenile crime, theories of delinquency, legal rights of juveniles and the juvenile justice system. (Irreg.)

SOC 3960 Honors Research 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor and admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Will consist of topics designated by the instructor in keeping with the student's major program. The topics will cover materials not usually presented in the regular courses. (Irreg)

SOC 3970 Honors Seminar 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor and admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. The projects covered will vary. The content will deal with concepts not usually presented in regular coursework. (Irreg)

SOC 3973 Sociology of Violence 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 and SOC 3523. An examination of the causes, correlates and consequences of various forms of violent crime. An emphasis on the social nature of violence, social institutions related to violence and the social costs of violence. (F, Sp)

SOC 3980 Honors Research 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: 1113 or permission of instructor and admission to Honors Program. May be repeated; maximum credit six hours. Will provide an opportunity for the gifted Honors candidate to work at a special project in the student's field. (Irreg)

SOC 3983 Women, Girls and Crime 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 1113 and SOC 3523, or permission of instructor. In-depth examination of crime and the justice system as it relates to girls and women. The focus will be on girls and women as victims, girls and women as offenders, and criminal justice responses to girls and women. (F, Sp)

SOC 3990 Independent Study 1-3 Credit Hours
1 to 3 hours. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and junior standing. May be repeated once with change of content. Independent study may be arranged to study a subject not available through regular course offerings. (F, Sp, Su)

SOC 3993 Sociology of Gender and Sexuality in the Media 3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: ENGL 1213 or EXPO 1213. The sociological constructions of gender and sexuality will be examined through the context of several forms of American media including advertising, television, and film. Explores how manifestations of "normative" behaviors are reproduced and maintained through media representations of gender and sexuality. Examines advertising, television, and film as they relate to societal shifts in attitudes toward gender and sexuality. (Irreg.)

SOC 5483  Advanced Regression Analysis  3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: SOC 5283 and graduate standing in Sociology or permission of instructor. A graduate-level introduction to linear regression analysis. Focuses on theory and empirical applications including topics such as model specification, estimation, interpretation, inferences, and assumptions diagnostics. (Irreg.)

SOC 5523  Criminology  3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Sociology or permission of instructor. Examines the patterns and correlates of crime at the individual, situational, and aggregate levels. Also includes examination of the history of criminological thought as well as contemporary explanations of crime, with an emphasis on critical evaluation of these explanations. (Irreg.)

SOC 5543  Deviance and Social Control  3 Credit Hours
Prerequisite: graduate standing in Sociology or permission of instructor. A critical examination of the literature on deviance and social control with special emphasis on the scope of the field. The frame of reference for the examination will consist of one or more of the major theoretical perspectives in sociology: the functional, the conflict and the symbolic interactionist. (Irreg.)
