General Information

The College of Law was established in 1909. In 1911 the College of Law joined the Association of American Law Schools. Since 1923 the College of Law has been accredited by the American Bar Association's Section on Legal Education. The College of Law is the only public law school in Oklahoma.

In 1971, the University of Oklahoma Law Center was formed. The Law Center comprises the College of Law, Law Library and the Legal Assistant Education program. The center was established to encourage and facilitate development of programs beyond the normal law school scope. The role of the Law Center is more than training lawyers. It provides a number of professional activities to serve the Bar and the citizens of the state of Oklahoma. These include continuing legal education for lawyers, training of legal assistants, publishing books on Oklahoma law, organized legal research, public service projects, and legal aid services for the needy. It is home to the Donald E. Pray Library.

The Law Center building, now named Andrew M. Coats Hall, was completely renovated in 2002, adding 80,000 square feet to the facilities. The expansion included a new law library with large reading room, high-speed modernized computer labs, private study rooms, and a 250-seat high-tech courtroom. OU Law students now are able to watch live trials and appeals hearings as state and federal courts bring the real world into the Law Center.

Programs & Facilities

Donald E. Pray Law Library

The Law Library's mission is to support the scholarly and instructional activities of the Law Center's faculty and students and to serve the research and informational needs of the University, the legal community, and the public. The Law Library strives to provide our patrons with access to a rich collection of research materials in both print and electronic formats.

OU Legal Clinic

Through the OU College of Law Civil Clinic and Criminal Defense Clinic, students represent clients from Cleveland and McClain counties who would not otherwise be able to afford counsel. Operating under the close supervision of faculty attorneys, student interns face the same situations and practice demands they will encounter as attorneys while being directly responsible for representation of clients as licensed legal interns.

Paralegal Studies Program

OU Law's ABA-approved legal assistant/paralegal education certificate prepares students to work with lawyers in public and private law practice, in the judiciary, corporations, and government.

Oklahoma Law Review

The Oklahoma Law Review is published quarterly by University of Oklahoma College of Law to serve the profession and the public with timely discussions of state and federal legal issues.

American Indian Law Review

The American Indian Law Review was launched by a group of OU Law students in 1973 to provide a scholarly forum for the study of legal issues relevant to Native Americans and indigenous peoples around the world.

Oil and Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Journal (ONE J)

ONE J: Oil and Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Journal is a peer-reviewed publication, the first of its kind in the nation. Its student editors publish domestic and international legal scholarship on oil, gas, energy, and natural resources law, for the benefit of a worldwide readership that accesses ONE J content via various online platforms.

Center for International Business and Human Rights

The International Business and Human Rights Center has a two-fold mission: (1) to provide OU Law students with academic training, networking, and practical experience in this emerging field that will equip them to be leaders in this space as well as train the greater legal community and others in IBHR issues, and (2) to provide academic think tank support on international business and human rights issues, with a particular focus on the energy/extractive sector and Information and Communications Technology (ICT) companies.

Center for Technology and Innovation in Practice

The Center for Technology and Innovation in Practice engages with academics, policymakers and industry experts to research and implement the use of technology in legal education and law practice. The OU Law Center for Technology & Innovation in Practice exists to prepare law students for practice through technology training and innovative initiatives to move the practice of law forward.

Center for the Study of American Indian Law and Policy

The Center for the Study of American Indian Law and Policy provides counsel to tribal, state and national policymakers and a forum for the interdisciplinary discussion and resolution of problems facing native communities.

Oil & Gas, Natural Resources and Energy Center

OU Law is a national and international leader in oil and gas, natural resources, and energy law – what we call ONE. Our expansive offerings are synthesized within our ONE Center, covering our academic degrees and certificates – J.D. certificates and an LL.M. in energy and natural resources, and an online M.L.S. in oil, gas, and energy law – and programming. Our ONE Center and OU Law host the annual Eugene Kuntz Conference on Natural Resources Law and Policy, the largest conference of its kind in the country, and are home to the Oil and Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Journal (ONE J), the first journal of its kind. Students can also participate in the student association, ONE S – Oil and Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Society. Thanks to our strategic partnerships throughout the industry, we are able to build upon our academic strength to provide unparalleled opportunities to our students.

Financial Aid and Scholarships

In addition to incoming student scholarships, OU Law administers a scholarship and awards program based on a scholarship application. This application is given to all students after classes begin in the fall and again in the spring. By completing the application, students are considered for all merit, field of interest, and need-based scholarships for which they qualify. Scholarships range from several hundred to several thousand dollars. The Scholarship Committee makes decisions in October and April of each year.

In addition to internal scholarships, OU Law receives notifications about outside scholarships and awards available to law students. To learn more about external scholarships, visit the College of Law website.

The College of Law also participates in the FAFSA program. Students applying for financial aid should file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Contact the Student Financial Center, 1000 Asp Avenue, 105 Buchanan Hall, Norman, OK 73019, (405) 325-9000, for more information.

Career Services

The College of Law provides career planning for students through its Career Development Office. The office is involved in a variety of activities to assist students seeking internships as well as those seeking permanent employment. These activities include career goal setting, networking and job search session, mock interviews, and hosting on-campus interviews.

Programs Offered

Doctoral Degree

The College of Law offers the Juris Doctor degree, the first professional degree in law. Areas of concentration include American Indian and Indigenous Peoples Law; Business, Commercial, and Real Estate; Litigation; Oil and Gas, Natural Resources and Energy Law; Constitutional and Public Interest Law; Criminal Law and Procedure; Estate Planning;

Family Law; General Practitioner; Health Care; Intellectual Property Law; International and Comparative Law; and Tax Law.

Dual Degrees

The OU College of Law offers flexible dual degree options for J.D. students wishing to concentrate their studies in a specific area of practice. Our dual degree program, offered in partnership with other schools and colleges across The University of Oklahoma, allows students to complete two advanced degrees in less time than if earned independently, typically in three to four years.

Dual Degrees Offered:

- Juris Doctor and Master of Business Administration (J.D./M.B.A)
- Juris Doctor and Master of Public Health (J.D./M.P.H.)
- Juris Doctor and Master of Arts in International Studies (J.D./MAIS)
- Juris Doctor and Master of Arts in Native American Studies (J.D./N.A.S.)
- Juris Doctor and Masters of Health Administration (J.D./MHA)
- Build Your Own Dual Degree: Juris Doctor and Master's Degree

Masters

Post Doctorate Degree: Master of Laws

The John. B. Turner LL.M. Program offers five Master of Laws degrees:

- Energy and Natural Resources Law – online
- Indigenous People's Law - online
- International Business Law - online
- Healthcare Law - online
- US Legal Studies (for foreign-educated lawyers) – on campus
 - U.S. Legal Studies students have the option to earn a certificate in:
 - Energy and Natural Resources or
 - Indigenous Peoples Law.

Master's Degrees: Master of Legal Studies

The Master of Legal Studies in Healthcare Law is designed for non-lawyers whose careers demand an understanding of healthcare-related legal issues. It provides graduate level education for professionals who work in the administration of healthcare facilities or systems. Students receive a grounding in laws and regulations that frame, guide, and direct the provision of healthcare services. The program offers a competitive advantage to anyone in the healthcare industry who handles compliance, advocacy, negotiates contracts, deals with the Affordable Healthcare act, manages real estate transactions, or works closely with healthcare attorneys. The curriculum requires the study of laws regulating the delivery and quality of medical services, access to public and private means of payment for such services, and transactions and liability within the healthcare industry.

The Master of Legal Studies in Indigenous Peoples Law is designed for non-lawyers whose careers demand an understanding of the complex rules of Federal Indian Law. It offers a strong foundation in Native American Law for anyone who deals with contracts, negotiations or any other issues that demand knowledge of Native American self-governance issues, policy, regulation or business practice. This program can be taken entirely online.

The Master of Legal Studies in International Business Law provides graduate level education for business professionals relating to the legal and regulatory environment of international business law. Students will receive a grounding in laws and regulations that frame, guide, and direct international finance, sales, and disputes.

The Master of Legal Studies in Energy and Natural Resources Law recognizes a need for an online graduate program to serve the professionals in the energy industry who do not wish to seek a Juris Doctor degree at this point in their career. It is specifically designed for non-lawyers whose careers demand an understanding of energy-related legal issues. The degree program offers a competitive advantage to anyone in the energy industry who negotiates oil and gas contracts, deals with mineral rights or real estate transactions, or works closely with energy attorneys. This program offers an accelerated program that can be taken primarily online.

The Master of Legal Studies in Legal Studies is an online program that provides graduate-level education with a solid grounding in the study of law while allowing additional flexibility in areas of relevant specialization.

Graduate Certificates

The OU College of Law also offers the following graduate certificates:

- The American Indian Law Graduate Certificate allows J.D. students to enrich their knowledge of American Indian Law through coursework including indigenous peoples' culture, tribal courts, federal water law, and more. This certificate also includes experiential learning opportunities including an externship and work with OU Law's journal American Indian Law Review.
- The Business and Transactional Law Graduate Certificate is suited for J.D. students who wish to enter a transactional and business counseling practice. Required and elective business law classes are the backbone of this program, which also includes training in business drafting and writing. Interdisciplinary options include business coursework from the OU Price College of Business
- The Energy and Natural Resources Law Graduate Certificate will allow on campus LL.M. students to concentrate their studies in Energy and Natural Resources Law, choosing from the broad curriculum offered by the College of Law in this area.
- The Graduate Certificate in Indigenous Peoples Law furthers on campus LL.M. students' study of Native American and other Indigenous Peoples Law, choosing from the broad curriculum offered by the College of Law in this area.
- The International Law Certificate furthers J.D. students' knowledge of key international law issues. This certificate includes international interdisciplinary as well as externship opportunities.
- The Graduate Certificate in Oil & Gas, Natural Resources, and Energy Law furthers J.D. students' knowledge of legal issues unique to the energy industry. Students learn more about oil and gas production—from well drilling to delivery systems—and also about wind and water law, conservation, mineral titles, international petroleum transactions, real estate, and more. Interdisciplinary options include energy management coursework from the OU Price College of Business or a geology class from the Mewbourne College of Earth and Energy.

Admission

Admission Process

Regular Admission

- First year students are admitted only in the fall. Applicants must have a baccalaureate degree prior to matriculation in the College of Law. Application forms may be obtained online.
- All applicants must take the Law School Admission Test (LSAT), or other graduate school admission test of suitable rigor. The LSAT is administered by the Educational Testing Service and available by writing for an application and information from: LSAT, Box 2000, Newtown, PA 18940, or via their website. Applicants must take the test no later than June of the year in which admission to the College of Law is sought and should indicate on the LSAT application form that their scores be reported to the University of Oklahoma College of Law.
- All applicants must also register with the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS).
- Each applicant must pay a non-refundable application fee.
- Applicants are considered individually by the Admissions Committee, composed of three members of the law faculty. Selections are made from the most qualified, with approximately equal weight given to the LSAT score and the undergraduate grade point average. Admission is competitive as applications far outnumber available seats in the first-year class.
- The Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education limit the number of nonresidents to 15 percent of the student body and precludes the admission of a nonresident whose qualifications are lower than those of a resident denied admission.
- LSAT scores more than five years old will not be considered. When an applicant takes the LSAT more than once, we accept the highest score. Other factors, such as undergraduate major, improvement in the undergraduate GPA during the last years of study, grade inflation, working while in undergraduate school, and/or graduate work may be considered in reviewing an applicant's academic record.
- Two letters of recommendation are required. Additionally, the Admissions Committee likes to conduct personal interviews with each applicant.
- Applicants to whom admission is offered will be required to pay a $425 ($350 for MLS) non-refundable deposit, which will be applied toward the first semester's tuition. If the applicant does not enroll in the College of Law, the deposit is forfeited. The offered admission is good only for the semester for which it was granted. A deferment may be granted under special circumstances for one year. The fact that an applicant was admitted in a previous year but did not attend is given no weight in evaluating a subsequent application.
- Applicants will be notified when their files are complete. If any information is missing, the applicant will be notified in time to submit the information before the deadline.
- The application deadline is March 15. All applicants should be notified of their admission status by May 15.

1LS Program

The 1LS program, which runs from mid-June to early August, was designed to give a select group of admitted students a first-look at law school—and the chance to work ahead. Completing a few credits early allows you to lighten your course and final exam loads for the first year.

1LS students typically take the Legal Foundations course and one other first-year class over the summer (for a total of five credit hours), and then join the rest of their first-year cohort in the fall semester.

There is no separate application form for the 1LS program. Interested applicants must apply for both 1LS and fall admission on the OU Law application.

Early Entry Program

Begin work on your Juris Doctor during your final undergraduate year at the University of Oklahoma or Oklahoma State University.

OU Law's Early Entry Program allows select OU and OSU undergraduate students to begin law school, even before graduating with their undergraduate degree.

Upon the successful completion of the first year at OU Law, the student will also qualify for the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree at their respective university.

To be considered for first-year or early admission to the OU Law Juris Doctor program, applicants must meet the following educational criteria:

- Have completed 98 hours of undergraduate credit before the first day of law school including:
 - At least 30 semester credit hours at the student's undergraduate institution.
 - At least 15 semester credit hours of upper-division major credit courses at the student's undergraduate institution.
 - At least 15 of the last 30 semester credit hours before entering the College of Law at the student's undergraduate institution.
 - All other degree requirements for the undergraduate degree except elective hours.
- Have taken the Law School Admission Test (LSAT), or other graduate school admission test of suitable rigor, before the fall semester in which they begin law school.
- Have an LSAT score, or a score from another graduate school admission test of suitable rigor, as well as an undergraduate cumulative GPA that is comparable to the median LSAT and GPA score of the most recent class admitted to the College of Law.
- Have confirmation that the baccalaureate awarding institution agrees to participate with the stipulations of this policy, if applicable, while meeting all other State Regents' policies for baccalaureate degree requirements.

Transfer with Advanced Standing

To be considered for transfer with advanced standing, an applicant must have attended an ABA accredited law school. Students must complete one full year of study before being admitted and then successfully complete 60 hours at OU Law. OU Law will accept up to 30 hours of law credit taken at an ABA approved law school, in which the student earned a grade of C or better. Admission for transfer is based upon law school GPA, class standing, and various other factors.

Admissions Checklist:

To apply for transfer admission with advanced standing, the applicant must submit an application form through the LSAC website. Application materials include:

- $50 nonrefundable application and processing fee
- Personal statement indicating your reasons for wanting to transfer to OU Law

- Resume
- Two letters of recommendation (optional)
- LSAC Credential Assembly Service Report
- Transcript and class rank from current law school (You may submit your application with fall grades and rank only, but a final decision will not be rendered until spring grades and rank are reported)
- A letter from the Associate Dean Of Academics or Registrar indicating you are in good academic standing and eligible to transfer

Transfer applicants are encouraged to apply online.

Students applying to transfer for the fall semester may submit their transfer application from March 15 to July 31st. Spring transfer applicants may process their application from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1 and are notified in December. Applicants will be notified as soon as a decision has been made.

A student cannot receive credit for work taken in another law school when enrolled at the same time in classes in the OU College of Law. When a student transfers to the College of Law from another school, grades at the other school will not be counted in determining the student's cumulative grade point average or class standing at the OU College of Law. Applicants who have been dismissed from another law school for scholarly deficiency or serious academic misconduct will not be considered for admission.

Visiting Student Admission Requirements

The law school grants a limited number of requests for admission to visiting students during the fall, spring, and summer terms. To be considered for admission as a visiting student, an applicant must:

- have completed the first-year curriculum at an ABA-accredited law school;
- be a student in good academic standing at current law school

Students who meet these requirements will be admitted as long as space is available at the law school. Visiting student applicants must submit the following:

- Completed visitor application (Contact the Registrar (rlucas@ou.edu or 405-325-4729) for the application.
- Dean's letter of good standing and permission to visit; along with any parameters under which the home school will accept the credits earned at OU Law towards their degree requirements (i.e., need to earn a C or better in each course, etc.).

Grades

The grades given in the College of Law and the numerical grade point value are as follows: A+ = 12, A = 11, A- = 10, B+ = 9, B = 8, B- = 7, C+ = 6, C = 5, C- = 4, D+ = 3, D = 2, D- = 1, F = 0. The grades of Incomplete (I), Withdrawal Passing (W), Administrative Withdrawal (AW), Satisfactory (S) and Unsatisfactory (U) have no numerical value and are not included in the calculation of a student's grade point average. Certain courses are graded on a Satisfactory (S)/Unsatisfactory (U) basis. Students do not have the option of choosing to be graded S/U.

Attendance

Regular attendance in courses is considered indispensable. Each professor must adopt and announce an attendance policy that meets the requirements of the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools. When a student is absent an excessive number of times, the professor may withdraw the student from the course, or the professor may lower the student's grade (even to failing) in the course.

The college is a full-time law school, and students are expected to devote substantially all their time to the study of law. Excessive outside work is discouraged. While the American Bar Association doesn't monitor this anymore, OU College of Law policy states that a student may not work in excess of 20 hours per week while enrolled full-time during the fall and spring semesters or at least five (5) hours during the summer semester. First year students are urged to forego any substantial outside activities until they have had ample opportunity to measure the demands of legal study upon their time and energy.

Course Load

The College of Law limits the number of hours in which a student may enroll during a semester, thus assuring each student the opportunity for sufficient concentration on each subject. First-year students may enroll only in prescribed first-year courses. Second- and third-year students should enroll in a minimum of 10 credit hours and a maximum of 18 credit hours in a regular semester and a minimum of 5 and a maximum of 10 credit hours in a summer session, to be considered full-time students. Course loads less than (i.e., not considered full-time) must be approved by the Associate Dean for Academics and Curriculum Committee. In no instance is a student allowed to enroll in more than 18 hours per the parameters set by the American Bar Association..

Class Rank

A student's class ranking is available when grades are processed each semester. Grades are available on the student's ONE account. Class rank is usually available within three days following the distribution of grades.

Code of Academic Responsibility

Conduct of law students in the law school is governed by a Code of Academic Responsibility. Each student is to abide by the Code, which represents the ethical standards of the legal profession. The complete text of the Code of Academic Responsibility is included in the first-year orientation materials, and is also available in the Student Services office.

Academic Appeals Board

The University of Oklahoma's "Joint Statement: Rights and Freedoms of Students" provides that students shall have "protection through orderly procedures against prejudiced or capricious academic evaluation." The rules of procedure governing proceedings before the Academic Appeals Board are provided in the Law Student Handbook, which can be found on the law student Courtyard.
